FLY FROM PARIS INTO ENGLAND

John Moissan, a Chicago Architect, and His Mechanician Reach the Coast.

NOW ON WAY TO LONDON.

Air Voyage to be Resumed This Morning if the Weather Permits.

STEERS BY COMPASS ALONE

Young American Has Never Been in England Before and Is a Novice in Aviation—Feat Causes Amazement.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, Aug. 18.—To an American aviator falls the honor of making the first aeroplane flight from Paris to English shores.

John B. Moissan of Chicago landed near Dover shortly before noon yesterday, having crossed the English Channel, carrying his mechanic as a passenger on his Blériot machine.

At 4:55 this morning he started again for London, having stopped over night at Deal.

Moissan had slept with his machanician on a hay rack close beside his aeroplane. Very early in the morning he found conditions so tempting that he would have made a still earlier start had he not promised the public not to leave until about 5 o'clock.

There was only a light western breeze when Moissan, with Fileux beside him, made a fine start. He was watched by more than 500 persons. The machine traveled at a good pace and was soon lost behind the trees.

Moissan up to the present has covered roughly 180 miles in three stages, carrying his passenger all the way. He left Paris at 5:45 on Tuesday evening, arrived at Amiens at 7:40 P. M., left Amiens at 5:45 yesterday morning, and reached Calais at 7:40 A. M. At 10:50 A. M. he started to cross the English Channel, and landed at Tilmanstone, six miles on the London side of Dover, just before midday, being forced to descend by a violent squall.

The Channel was crossed in rough wind and misty weather, Moissan having to rely entirely on his compass.

His feat is all the more extraordinary in that he had used an aeroplane only five times before. One of his first flights was a trip over Paris round the Eiffel Tower.

To Dover correspondents who found him in a field of oats Mr. Moissan told the story of his flight in sharp, concise fashion, with an accent which stamped him undoubtedly as more American than Spanish, which he had been generally supposed to be.

"Yes, Sir," he said, "here I am in England, and never north of Paris before in my life except once, when I went to Cherbourg by train. I found my way here by compass entirely. I set my direction by it, allowed for the wind, and here I am.

"You have heard people say the compass is no good on an aeroplane. What about my English compass, insulated with glycerine, airtight, and placed just between my feet? That's what took me straight to Amiens last night and right on to Calais this morning, and would have taken me to Dover had I not seen the ships over yonder [pointing to the Downs] and thought Walmer must be the town."

Moissan Describes the Flight.

Mr. Moissan described his flight as follows:

"About a fortnight ago I told my friends I would fly from Paris to London. They said it was impossible. I said I would make it still more impossible. I would take a passenger with me. Hubert Latham heard of this and made his preparations. What an airman he is! I consider Latham one of the best we have in France.

"At 11 o'clock yesterday I heard he had started. By 4 o'clock I got everything ready. At 5:45 P. M. I started from Issy-les-Moulineaux. It was a race. He could fly faster because I had my passenger, but if anything happened, then I might get to London first.

"We crossed Paris at first 600 feet up, but the air of the city pulled us down until, as we left, we almost scraped the tops of the houses. In two hours we were at Amiens, flying by compass direction only. I circled, looking for the aerodrome, found it, and landed all right. From Paris I was flying at 800 feet to 1,000 feet up, and used twenty litres of petrol.

"Amiens we left at 5:45 this morning, having seen Le Blanc and Aubrun off to Paris on the last stage of the 500-mile Matin race five minutes earlier. They got there, of course? Glad to hear it.

"The weather was beautiful, with fog in the valleys. After three quarters of an hour I was in trouble with the wind from the river. One gust made me turn a complete circle, and I had to go down in order not to lose velocity. Yes, you get pretty 'cute at that sort of work after a time.

"Then we went straightaway to Ca-

AUTO AND TAXICAB CRASH.

Two Women Hurt and One Saves Baby as She Falls.

A head-on collision between a taxicab and a touring car at Bedford Avenue and Montgomery Street, Brooklyn, last night resulted in the injury of two women, one of them probably fatally, and a boy, all occupants in the touring car. Harry Filberg of 622 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, the chauffeur of the taxicab, was arrested and locked up in the Grand Avenue Station charged with assault.

Samuel J. Kornblum, a produce merchant at the Wallabout Market, of 166 Pulaski Street, with his wife, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Hannah Simons, and three children, two boys and a girl baby, were coming home from Coney Island along Bedford Avenue in his touring car, which he was operating.

Kornblum says he was on a steep upgrade when he saw the taxicab coming in the opposite direction. He says the taxi was zigzagging from one side of the street to the other, and he did not know what side of the road it was going to take.

He drove his automobile to one side, thinking to keep clear, and then the taxicab swerved to his side of the road, and then both drivers tried to dodge, with the result that both machines came together with a crash in the middle of the road. The taxi, on account of coming down hill, was going at high speed, and it struck Kornblum's machine with terrific force.

Mrs. Kornblum, her sister, and the children were thrown out. She struck the pavement on her head, and her skull was fractured. Mrs. Simons grabbed the baby as she was thrown out and the child was unhurt. Mrs. Simons sustained contusions on the body and a possible fracture of the ribs. Richard, the oldest boy, received a lacerated left leg. Mr. Kornblum and his son, Jerome, escaped injury. The chauffeur of the taxicab and three men passengers escaped without injury.

A passing automobile was stopped right after the accident and took Mrs. Kornblum to the Swedish Hospital. Mrs. Simons was attended by Dr. Elebash of the Kings County Hospital and taken home, as was also the boy, Richard, after Dr. Heithas of the Swedish Hospital attended to him.

SELLS HIS SEAT BY WIRELESS

Patten Does the Business While Returning Home on the Adriatic.

James A. Patten sold his Stock Exchange seat yesterday by wireless. He is returning from abroad on the Adriatic of the White Star Line, which is due here on Friday, and conducted the negotiations for the sale of the membership which he has held on the Stock Exchange since April 2, 1908, in an exchange of wireless dispatches with W. J. Woldman of J. S. Bache & Co. The buyer's name is not disclosed, but it is known that the cotton bull received $70,000 for his seat, a price $5,000 better than the last reported sale, made a couple of weeks ago.

James A. Patten announced his retirement from active business early last Spring. At that time a corporation was organized to take over the business of Bartlett, Patten & Co. of Chicago. Mr. Patten and the other older partners in the original copartnership took the preferred stock of the corporation, of which there was $500,000 issued, and the junior partners, who are continuing the business, took the entire issue of $5,000,000 common stock. There were eight members in the firm which the corporation succeeds.

At $70,000 Mr. Patten has made a handsome profit on his seat. Early in 1908, when he bought it, seats were just beginning to recover from the decline to $51,000 after the panic. Although the price he paid is not disclosed, it is said to have been in the neighborhood of $60,000. Last year seats sold up to the record price of $95,000, established in 1906.

GIRLS CROSS ROPE OVER SEA.

Upset from Dory, They and Two Men Climb to Rescuers on Yacht.

Special to The New York Times.

RIVERSIDE, Conn., Aug. 17.—As the dory Snark was starting this afternoon in the races of the Riverside Yacht Club opposite Captain's Island a sudden gust of wind upset her. She was sailing close-hauled under short canvas with a south-easterly wind of forty miles an hour when she was thrown on her beam ends. Her sails were plunged in the water and for a moment or two even her hull was submerged.

Her crew consisted of Misses Katherine and Margaret Dauchy, Theodore Dauchy, and Stephen Tyler. They were carried overboard and were in danger of being swept away before the strong ebb tide. They managed to get back and cling to the hull, but were rapidly becoming exhausted.

Their plight was, however, perceived by the Racing Committee aboard the forty-foot steam yacht Vorant III. They weighed anchor and ran down to the aid of the dory. In the heavy sea it was by no means easy to get alongside, but at length they managed to throw a rope, which was caught by those aboard the Snark and made fast to her mainmast.

Then Capt. H. Nelsen ordered the women to come along the rope hand over hand to his vessel. It required a great deal of pluck to trust themselves to the frail cable, as it slackened and grew taut again over the high-running waves. The women got across safely, however, and as they neared the Vorant were seized and dragged aboard. Then the men followed. All were exhausted by the time they reached safety. They went to their homes in South Beach, Conn., by automobile.

YACHT RACES TO SAVE MAN.

The Idalia Takes Injured Owner of Motor Boat to Port.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 17.—W. D. Hoxie's steam yacht Idalia came up the harbor at full speed shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon and landed T. J. Preston, 73 years old, of South Orange, N. J., who was badly injured. He was taken to Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Preston with his wife are Summer residents in Eastern Point Colony, occupying one of the Champlin cottages. He started across Long Island Sound this noon in a small launch. While off Orient Point a lurch of the boat threw him into the machinery. Both of his legs were broken, and he was badly cut and bruised.

A small sloop was passing and ran alongside. The flags of both boats were set union down for distress signals. Mr. Hoxie, several miles distant, saw them through his glasses and speeded to give relief. Members of Idalia's crew extricated the injured man from the motor gears and transferred him to the Idalia's deck, where women aboard did all they could for him while the boat made the fifteen-mile run to this city.

Aboard the Idalia were a score of New London and Eastern Point Summer colonists.

UMSCHEID SLAYER SHOOTS HIMSELF

Pond, Driven Out of Swamps by Hunger, Fires Bullet Into His Head as Policeman Comes.

PISTOL KNOCKED FROM HAND

Murderer Has Probably Mortal Wound—Letters Show He Planned Months Ago Killing Friend's Wife.

Bertrand Pond, who last Monday killed Mrs. Mary Umscheid at Homestead, N. J., and then took to the swamps, was driven out last evening by hunger. He came out on the Hudson County Boulevard, and as he walked along, followed by a crowd of men, women, and children, he shot himself through the head just before a policeman could arrest him. He was hurried to the North Hudson Hospital, where it is believed that he will die.

Ever since the murder the meadows have been closely guarded by the police and Deputy Sheriffs and a volunteer force of citizens. The man came out about two miles from where the murder was committed and made his way across the tracks of the Erie and Susquehanna Railroads up the hill toward Fair View Avenue. He was weary and hungry, wet to the skin, and plastered with mud. As soon as he appeared there could be no doubt that he was the man who had been hunted, but the crowd forbore from closing with him.

He was known to be armed, as a revolver was missing, so the crowd followed him at a distance and made no attempt to seize him.

As he reached the Hudson County Boulevard, however, soon after 8 o'clock, Policeman Reiner of the North Bergen police came along on his way to Little Coney Island. He saw the crowd, and went to see what it was about. As soon as he recognized Pond he made for him. Pond saw him coming, and, lifting his revolver, shot himself behind the right ear. He was about to shoot again, either at himself or the policeman, but the latter was too quick for him, and with his nightstick knocked his revolver from his hand.

Pond fell to the ground and Reiner, stopping an auto, commanded the chauffeur to rush him to the North Hudson Hospital, where Pond was attended by Dr. Sembrick. Reiner telephoned to Capt. Leonard Marcy of the North Bergen police and he hurried to the hospital to interrogate the prisoner.

"Why did you shoot the woman?" he asked.

"Because I wanted to," was all Pond would reply.

"Did you want to kill her?"

"I wouldn't have done it if I didn't want to," said the prisoner scornfully.

When his clothes were searched a number of letters of farewell were found, one addressed to his mother, who lives at Union Hill, and another to the husband of the murdered woman. From them it appeared that Pond had planned the murder several months ago, and that he was prepared to kill himself rather than be captured.

Umschied was informed that the man who had killed his wife was at the hospital, and a guard was placed over him, lest he should go there and try to do the man harm. It has not yet been decided whether the doctors will try to get the bullet out of Pond's head, but there is little hope that he will recover.

Lieut. Joseph Kennel of the North Bergen (N. J.) police force, who lead the hunt for Pond, said yesterday that the detectives have good reason for believing that Pond had received assistance since his disappearance.

"The men we suspect," said Kennel, "are, like him, former convicts, who served time with him in the Clinton Prison and Sing Sing prison. We know of several such men in this vicinity and that Pond was in touch with them. Their movements since the commission of this crime have been suspicious, and we have had them under surveillance. Our information is not sufficiently definite to warrant arresting them just now, and we have avoided taking action in order not to excite Pond to greater care.

"One of the greatest defects of our present prison system is that it permits the development of a secret fraternity among the convicts. These convicts have their secret systems of communication, and have a general understanding to aid each other in an emergency like this as well as in criminal enterprises.

"This fellow Pond knows the Hackensack swamp. He spent a lot of time in it on hunting and fishing and crabbing expeditions. He looked it over just like the other ex-convicts in this neighborhood looked it over to make a getaway after he had a chance to make a big haul. Pond hadn't gone to work since his release, and I think was planning some profitable crime during his idle period.

Lieut. Kennel took up the work of the search directly after his return from Ossining yesterday noon. He obtained from Warden Frost of Sing Sing prison pictures of Pond and his Bertillon measurements, which will be issued in a circular by the North Bergen authorities to-day. A reward of $500 will be offered for his capture dead or alive. Capt. Marcy lodged a formal accusation of murder against Pond yesterday.

The brutal circumstances of the murder of Mrs. Umschied, the wife of the ex-convict's benefactor, in her bedroom with her six-year-old son clinging to her has aroused the whole Homestead community. Umscheid himself was again in the front ranks of the man-hunters yesterday, anxious to be revenged on the man who had repaid his kindness so basely. Hundreds of square yards of tall grass and rushes were beaten down by the hunters, who waded knee deep over the salt marsh between the boat-patroled sluiceways.

Joe Umscheid, the six-year-old son of the murdered woman, who ran from the scene of the tragedy, was a witness in the inquest before Coroner Kugelman yesterday. Little Joe repeated his story of how Pond entered his mother's bedroom, and after he had talked to her she began to "scold" him, after which he shot her. The little fellow could not repeat the conversation, he said, because it all happened so quickly after he had been aroused from sleep. Just why Pond did not kill the boy is one of the mysteries of the case.

The searchers worked with persistence, continually narrowing the area in which Pond might be hidden. Part of the posse would work for a few hours, and then others would take up their work where they left off. Once when Lieut. Kennel, his rubber boots drawn up to his thighs, was knee-deep in mud a report was brought to him that a man named Jerry Conners had seen Pond, and had been asked by him for food. Lieut. Kennel kept shoving his flat-bottomed rowboat off a shallow place and grunted:

"About twenty persons have given Pond

MISS ELKINS JOINED BY DUKE OF ABRUZZI

She and Her Mother Reach Geneva and the Duke Dines with Them There.

PARTY GO ON TO VICHY

Travel in Two Big Automobiles—Abruzzi Had Been Staying Incognito at a Geneva Hotel.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Aug. 17.—Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins and Miss Katherine Elkins arrived at the Hotel National here at 6 o'clock last evening via Basel and were joined at dinner by the Duke of the Abruzzi, who was staying at a neighboring hotel incognito.

Miss Elkins and the Duke were both recognized by American and Italian visitors.

The party left for Vichy at 5 o'clock this afternoon in two big automobiles.

The rumors of an engagement between Miss Elkins and the Duke of the Abruzzi were first circulated at Washington in the Spring of 1907, and were strengthened in the Summer of that year when the Duke came over in his yacht to the Jamestown Exhibition. From that period until March, 1908, numerous articles appeared in the American and foreign newspapers coupling the names of Miss Elkins and the Duke. The marriage was spoken of as certain to take place in the immediate future.

Apparently Senator Elkins did not take the reports of his daughter's engagement to the Duke seriously, as he denied them on every occasion, and told the reporters that the two were very good friends and that in his opinion the Duke was a very fine specimen of a naval officer.

An announcement of the engagement made in the newspapers in March, 1908, purporting to emanate from Washington was denied by the Elkins family, and the same fate attended the report in June of that year to the effect that Miss Elkins had chosen her bridesmaids and had gone to Paris to select her trousseau. In November, 1908, a cablegram from Rome, published in the New York newspapers, stated that the engagement had been broken off on account of the opposition of the Dowager Queen Margherita. It was also stated that King Victor Emmanuel did not approve of the marriage because he thought the Duke was too fickle.

Senator Elkins when asked about the alleged breaking off of the engagement said that the whole thing was absurd, as the engagement had never existed, and therefore could not have been broken off.

For the last two years the Elkins family have been kept busy denying reports emanating from newspaper correspondents in Rome regarding the much-discussed match. On one occasion the Duke of the Abruzzi, when asked by a NEW YORK TIMES reporter if there were any truth in the statement that he was engaged to marry Miss Elkins smiled and replied, "I have nothing to say."

ROUTED BY BOMB EXPLOSION.

Tenants in Harlem's Little Italy in an Early Morning Panic.

Hundreds of residents of Little Italy flocked into the streets at 1 o'clock this morning, when the report of an explosion aroused them from sleep. Those in 119th Street saw that the explosion had occurred in the entrance of the house at 313, which is owned by Oronzio Colasuonno, who occupies one of the three flats into which the old private residence has been divided.

A bomb apparently had been placed between the inner and storm doors and its explosion had blown the latter doors off the hinges, wrecked the area way, and smashed all the front windows of the house as well as those in the houses adjoining on either side.

Colasuonno is a partner of Vito Bontessa in the stone masonry business. Bontessa owns the house at 311, although he does not live there. Colasuonno said after the explosion that his partner a year ago had got about six Black Hand letters demanding $5,000 on pain of having his child kidnapped or his home blown up. The letters ceased six months ago, however, although Bontessa never paid any attention to them.

The only clue the police have got as to the identity of the men who set off the bomb they obtained from Miss Clifton, an actress, who lives in 311 and who described to the police two men whom she had seen hanging around the neighborhood at 1 o'clock the last two mornings as she was returning from work.

He said to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent: "I have not seen John D. Ryan for months."

JERSEY CITY BLOCK FIRE SWEPT; 1 DEAD

Fireman Shocked to Death by an Electric Wire—Others Caught by Falling Walls.

AID SENT FROM NEW YORK

Four Engines from This City Help to Stop Spread of Flames—Loss $500,000.

In streets lighted only by the glare of flames thousands of residents of Jersey City watched the destruction by fire last night of a huge square block of factory buildings, covering an area equal to that embraced by Broadway, Eighth Avenue, Fortieth and Thirty-eighth Streets in this city. The flames raged, uncontrolled, from 8:15 o'clock until after 10 o'clock, and it was not until 10:30 o'clock that Fire Commissioner Morris, acting as Chief in the absence on vacation of Fire Chief Conway, dared to announce that the fire was under control. Then it had done $500,000 damage, and had cost the life of one fireman and injured five others.

THE DEAD.

BABCOCK, SPENCER, Engine 8; burned and shocked by electric wire; died in Jersey City Hospital.

THE INJURED.

JAEGER, ERNEST, Engine 1; probably concussion of brain and severe scalp wound; in Jersey City Hospital.

LANE, WILLIAM, Truck 5; hands cut by glass.

LOVE, RUDICH, shoulder dislocated; in Jersey City Hospital.

WELSH, JOSEPH, Engine 6; fractured left knee cap; in Jersey City Hospital.

Almost from the time the blaze began Jersey City was thrown into darkness, except for the flickering reflection of the high-leaping flames by the obedience of the Public Service Corporation of Commissioner Morris's order that the electric light power be turned off. A network of these wires surrounded the burning buildings like a spider's web, and before the Commissioner could give the necessary order dozens of strands fell into the streets, many of them drawing a death-dealing current from live wires with which they became crossed. One fireman was burned badly from stumbling across such a wire, and he died later in the Jersey City Hospital.

From the moment it started the fire became a spectacle to the like of which Jersey City never before had been treated. Every man, woman, and child, it seemed, from crowds in the streets, hurried from their homes to view the blaze. The roof of every building which commanded any sort of a view was black with the forms of people. Streets and sidewalks were blocked, and those close by the burning buildings were filled at times with panic-stricken throngs, for a strong east wind sent glowing sparks and embers as big as a man's arm hurtling through the air and tumbling, sputtering into the streets.

Trains Through the Smoke.

The same wind sent firebrands and cinders over the embankment of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which passes just to the south of the burned section, and incoming and outgoing trains crept slowly through a pall of smoke which almost prevented the engineers from seeing signals, and down through which dropped blazing brands and sparks. Not more than 150 feet to the east of the fire lay the big train shed of the Pennsylvania terminal, filled with excited onlookers. Had the wind been from the west instead of the east firemen said that nothing could have prevented the flames from spreading to this.

Only the presence of four fire engines from this city which were sent across the river at the request of Commissioner Morris, and of other apparatus from Hoboken prevented the flames from spreading far to the westward and attacking long rows of frame tenements, in which dwell thousands of Polish laborers. For fifteen blocks westward the sparks and embers were carried on the wind, and only the continually wetting down of a row of tenements three blocks long, just across the street from the fire, prevented these from catching fire.

"The fire exhausted our firemen and all but exhausted our water supply," said Acting Chief Lovell of Jersey City at 11 o'clock. "Had it not been for the New York apparatus and men there is no telling whither the fire would have spread. Our men did their level best, but it took the larger engines from Manhattan with their superior water throwing ability to quench the flames. Without them we couldn't have stopped it till it had run over a much larger area than has been destroyed. The tenements would have gone anyway."

It was the residents of these tenements that formed the panicstricken throngs in the near-by streets. At the first alarm they had rushed from their homes, and then, moments later, they had rushed back intent on saving household goods and private belongings. Men and women staggered along under loads of furniture and bedding until a shower of red hot sparks would fall about them, when they would drop their bundles and fly screaming down the streets. Scores of them persisted, however, in their attempts to save their property, and even the police could not stop them.

New York Surgeons There, Too.

Dozens were burned slightly and were treated by the surgeons of fifteen ambulances which, at the first alarm, gathered as close to the blaze as possible and established a field hospital. An ambulance from the Hudson Street Hospital here even crossed the river against the possibility that the Jersey City force might be overtaxed and other ambulances came from Hoboken.

The fire started probably from a defective flue in the engine room of the Trucklow & Fulle Cork Works, a four-story brick building at the northwest corner of Washington and Steuben Streets. In some way the woodwork of the engine room became ignited and by the time the

MORE PAY FOR TRAINMEN.

New Schedule of Pennsylvania Railroad Highest of Any.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 17.—President W. G. Lee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen to-day announced the final terms of the Pennsylvania Railroad wage scale adjustment.

Under the agreement the daily and mileage rates have been raised to the New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio schedule wherever lower than the rate obtainable on those lines and maintained wherever higher.

"The agreement gives the Pennsylvania the highest schedule of any railroad," said Mr. Lee. "It increases the road's operating expenses a great deal, too, as it applies east and west. The trainmen's working conditions are greatly bettered."

GERARD MAY ACCEPT HONOR.

Constitution Does Not Forbid Justice Serving on Commission.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Attorney General O'Malley has cabled Supreme Court Justice James W. Gerard at Paris that in his opinion the provision in the State Constitution which says that a Justice of the Supreme Court shall hold no other office does not apply to Justice Gerard's appointment by President Taft as a member of the commission to attend the Mexican Centennial.

The commission is to start for Mexico on Aug. 31, and Justice Gerard was making preparations to join the other Commissioners when he heard that a Constitutional point had been raised. He at once cabled the Attorney General for an opinion.

WHITE HOUSE CLEANED.

Thoroughly Overhauled and Fresh Paint and Paper Put On.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Though no additions have been made to the White House this Summer the Executive Mansion has been subjected to a thorough cleaning and overhauling. The exterior and certain parts of the interior have been repainted, and wall paper has been replaced where it was necessary.

The President is expected to arrive here in time for the Cabinet meeting on Sept. 10, when the budget will be considered. He will spend ten days in the capital. The White House, which is practically ready for him now, will by then be immaculate.

A YEAR OF NEW TARIFF.

Importations Larger Than in Any Previous Period—Free List Large.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Importations into the United States during the first year of the operation of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law were larger than in any previous year, as also was the value of those entering free of duty; and the customs receipts, amounting to $327,873,672, were larger than in any previous year except 1907.

Figures prepared by the Bureau of Statistics for the year ended Aug. 1, 1910, which lacks only five days of a year of the operation of the new law, show that the total imports during the period amounted to $1,562,621,181, of which 49.15 per cent. entered free of duty. Under the McKinley law a little more than 53 per cent. came in thus.

The monthly average of customs receipts under the present law has been $27,322,806, as against $21,676,085 under the Dingley, $13,857,938 under the Wilson, and $14,571,240 under the McKinley laws.

SIX KILLED ON FERRYBOAT.

Gasoline Explosion on Newfoundland Vessel—Tourists Victims.

CURLING, N. F., Aug. 17.—Six persons were killed and four were injured to-day by an explosion on a gasoline ferryboat plying between St. Georges and Sandy Point. The boat was wrecked.

The accident happened while the ferryboat was midway between St. Georges and Sandy Point. The roar of the explosion shook the bay and pieces of iron and woodwork were scattered for several hundred feet in every direction. The upper deck was torn to pieces and several of the passengers were thrown into the water. They escaped serious injury, but of those who remained aboard only one escaped.

Among the victims were two tourists, women, who were visiting this region. Those who were injured were frightfully burned, and after being treated at St. Georges were taken to the hospital at St. John's.

The boat was a new one and had been on the route for only two months. The cause of the explosion has not yet been determined, but an investigation is in progress.

Sherman Says President Sought Harmony in New York—Cannon's Utterances to be Deplored in Statement.

Special to The New York Times.

BEVERLY, Mass., Aug. 17.—At the close of a day spent by President Taft almost entirely in conferences on the political situation—one of which was a talk of several hours with Vice President Sherman—the indications are that the pendulum, which only recently was swinging toward a re-adjustment of leadership in the Republican Party and the deposition of some of the old guard leaders, is now swinging strongly the other way, and that the campaign to be waged by the party will be of a stiff "regular" sort.

As Mr. Sherman himself put it, on leaving the President's Summer cottage: "It will be a straight-out Republican campaign on a straight-out Republican platform, without any qualifying adjective." That is almost precisely the language Speaker Cannon has employed in differentiating the regulars from the insurgents, and seems to be the official manner of throwing the insurgents out of the party and restricting the use of the term Republican to those who gather under the regular banner.

Whether President Taft is now committed to this programme does not yet appear. Mr. Sherman was careful in discussing their conversation to confine what he said to the part he had taken and not to attempt to report anything that the President had said or to describe any of the President's views.

Mr. Sherman, as is well known, is a standpat regular of the type dearest to the heart of Speaker Cannon. During his service in the House he was a member of the innermost circle of the old guard machine. In view of the fact that only yesterday he entered upon a fight with Theodore Roosevelt for supremacy in the approaching New York State Republican Convention, and with Col. Roosevelt out in the open as a progressive, it was accepted here as decidedly significant that he should come to Beverly to-day and openly express such views after an extended interview with the President.

Several other Republicans of more or less National prominence talked with President Taft this afternoon, including Representative Moorehead of North Carolina, who has just been chosen Chairman of the State Committee there, and Representative Anthony of Kansas, one of the two brands that the regulars succeeded in plucking from the burning at the recent primaries.

Mr. Anthony has been a consistent supporter of Speaker Cannon, and the insurgents came very near defeating him. A report from Kansas has said that he had announced himself as a "progressive," but after his talk with Mr. Taft this afternoon he put a decided qualification on that announcement by declaring that he had always been a progressive. He, too, discussed with the President the lines upon which the campaign is to be fought, although with special reference to Kansas, and he also said as he left the President's cottage that it would be a "straight-out Republican" fight.

All of this means, of course, that on the return swing of the pendulum the regulars are striving hard and hopefully to commit the President irretrievably to their style of battle, and that if they succeed it will be a campaign on their part not so much against the Democrats as against the insurgents. The indications now are that the President will go along with them, although, perhaps, not the whole route.

Taft to Write Campaign Letter.

At the close of the day it was learned at the Summer White House that Mr. Sherman had put in most of the time of this conference discussing the contribution the President should make to the campaign ammunition. It was practically agreed that the President should write a letter to Representative McKinley, Chairman of the Congressional Campaign Committee, indorsing the work of Congress and putting forth the arguments for the election of Republicans next November.

Mr. Sherman left with the President some tentative suggestions for material to be included in such a letter. He urged that the tariff be made a prominent issue. It is the expectation of Mr. Taft that the document will be completed within the next few days. No indication could be had, however, as to how far the President would go in making use of the material supplied by Mr. Sherman, and there is still a possibility that when the letter is made public it will not be as thoroughly satisfactory as the Sherman brand of regulars would like to have it.

It is, of course, well known that Mr. Taft was greatly pleased over the legislative accomplishments of the long session, and he will no doubt go into that subject fully. At the close of the session this record furnished ground of hope for many of the Republican leaders that they might be able to carry the Fall election on it. But in the interval since adjournment it has been permitted largely to fall into the background, while party rows and fights have come to the front. Now the President will certainly endeavor to bring the legislative record again to the front. On the subject of the tariff the President no doubt will go quite as far as Mr. Sherman wishes.

May Part with Roosevelt.

There seems to be only one interpretation which can be put upon such a series of events, and that is the Administration definitely is aligning itself for the campaign with the regulars; all hope of compromise or reconciliation is abandoned, all attempts at readjustment or reorganization are ended, and that, with general defeat recognized as staring them in the face the party authorities are seeking really to clean house and get rid of as much of the troublesome insurgent opposition as possible. Of course it is possible that the President may make a further attempt at compromise, and by going only part way with the regulars in his letter of indorsement leave the situation still uncleared, but there does not seem much probability of that outcome to-night.

It is clear that in view of the events of yesterday in New York, the Taft Administration stands to-day at the parting of the ways with Col. Roosevelt. No information was received here to-day as to what Mr. Roosevelt is now likely to do, but it was pointed out that the opening is made for him to hoist the radical banner and call for all his followers to gather under it. And if he does that the great realignment of the parties which has been hovering over the political horizon for the last few years will have started on the final stage of actual accomplishment.

It had been announced that Representative Loudenslager of New Jersey, Secretary of the Republican Congress Committee, would accompany Vice President Sherman on his visit to the President, but Mr. Sherman came alone, explaining that Mr. Loudenslager was ill in New York. He arrived just before noon and lunched with Secretary Norton at the Executive offices before going out to Burgess Point.

It was after 5 o'clock when Mr. Sherman left the President's cottage. He was asked then what the general nature of his talk with Mr. Taft had been and replied that they had discussed the Congress campaign chiefly, that having been the purpose of his visit. They had gone over the general outlook, and had talked to some extent about conditions in different States, but had not, of course, undertaken to talk over the conditions in the different districts.

Mr. Sherman said that he had set forth his views of the lines along which the fight should be waged, and then expressed his opinion that it would be a straightout "Republican" campaign. He emphasized this point, and when asked directly if that was to be taken without any qualifying adjective, replied decidedly in the affirmative. Then he was asked as to his view of the result of the election and answered:

"So far as one can judge at this time there is ground for the belief that the Republican Party will be continued in power in Congress."

Sherman Silent on Roosevelt.

Mr. Sherman seemed not quite so ready to talk about the New York State situation. He repeated, however, his announcement of last night that he would surely serve as temporary Chairman of the Republican convention. It was remarked by one of the newspaper men that the suggestion had been made that he might withdraw in the interest of harmony. To that he replied that he intended to serve in the interest of harmony.

"Did the events of yesterday tend toward harmony?" he was then asked.

"I would not say that," he returned. Then he added that he did not expect any contest over the selection of delegates to the convention.

When some one referred to the contest in the meeting of the State Committee and said that Col. Roosevelt had been turned down, Mr. Sherman smiled blandly and retorted:

"Was he turned down? I only know that another was selected for the temporary chairman."

That was the only comment he could be tempted into making on that subject. But he talked a little about the campaign to be made in the State, and repeated the phrase he had employed in speaking of the Congressional fight, saying that it would be a "straight out Republican fight on a straight out Republican platform."

To a query as to the primaries question Mr. Sherman replied that that had been settled at the special session of the Legislature.

"But was it settled to the satisfaction of one element of the party?" he was asked.

Before Mr. Sherman could reply one of his interviewers cut in with: "The element that was dissatisfied has gone on the Supreme bench." Mr. Sherman laughed heartily at that, and declared it was the best answer that could be made to the question.

Taft Tried to Avoid the Fight.

Mr. Sherman admitted that the President had urged him, when he was here several days ago, by all means to avoid a fight in New York. He would not admit that a contest was in sight or that yesterday's incident would have any serious effect on the campaign in New York.

Asked if he had urged the President to praise the tariff "on the ground that it is the best tariff bill ever enacted," he replied:

"I have never said it was the best tariff bill ever passed. Stability is the real test of a tariff act. If the Payne law stands longer than the Dingley law stood, then it will have proved itself a better law. If it doesn't stand as long, then it won't be as good a law."

President Taft would not discuss Mr. Sherman's visit to-night in any other way than to say the Vice President came to talk of the Congressional campaign. He seemed particularly anxious, however, that it should be made plain that Mr. Sherman's visit was arranged for some time ago and was not the result of yesterday's happenings at New York. The President positively declined to be drawn into a discussion of the New York situation further than to reiterate that he had tried to bring about harmony prior to the meeting of the convention and was still hopeful.

Tone of Confidence Dropped.

The tone of confidence as to the results of the Congressional elections which has marked the talk of most of the recent visitors to the Presdent was noticeably absent to-day. Mr. Sherman was decidedly conservative. Mr. Moorhead expressed the opinion that the Republicans have a chance to make some gains in North Carolina, where the Democratic conditions are not so good as elsewhere.

Mr. Anthony frankly said that there was a possibility that the Democrats might gain a couple of seats in Kansas. He insisted, however, that both factions of Republicans should stand solidly for the ticket there, no matter whether insurgent or regular was the nominee, and said that William Allen White, one of the stanchest insurgents in the Sunflower State, had offered to make speeches for Representative Campbell, one of the two regulars to pull through in the primaries. He expressed doubt as to the result in the First District, where Chairman Scott of the Committee on Agriculture, lost the nomination to an insurgent.

Mr. Anthony declared his opinion that the recent outburst from Speaker Cannon was "unfortunate," and that it would have been better if it had been left unspoken. This is in line with information which came to-day from another source to the effect that a statement has been prepared by a Republican close to the Administration which will take substantially the same line with regard to the recent utterances of the Speaker.

President Taft is going ahead with his plans to visit Panama in November. The cruisers to be used have been designated and the members of the party invited. Something may occur to upset the President's plans, but as matters now stand he proposes to make the trip.

NO CHANGE IN BALLINGER.

Emerges from the Woods and Says He Won't Resign.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—On his arrival from Klamath Falls to-day Secretary R. A. Ballinger said that he was still determined not to resign until requested to do so by President Taft. He refused to discuss the result of the California primaries.

Accompanied by Chief Law Officer Finney of the Reclamation Service Secretary Ballinger is inspecting the various Government irrigation projects in the West. On Friday he will leave for Yosemite Valley, where he will spend four days. He will go to Seattle before his return to Washington.

Among the improvements which he will advocate on his return to Washington will be better roads and increased hotel accommodations for the Yosemite Valley.

lais, circled three times round, and came down. I knew it was Calais because I had calculated beforehand that it would take me one hour and forty minutes to get there with the wind north by west. We took one hour and fifty-five minutes, and as there was no other port within seven miles, I was sure it was Calais.

"Before I started, M. Blériot told me there was a spot 1,000 feet long and 20 feet wide, which I was to look out for. 'If you can find that,' he said, 'it will be a nice landing.' I circled Calais three times and then dropped on the very spot Blériot meant—the same from which he started across the Channel last year.

"That was at 7:40 this morning. By 10:50, we were off again. I could not see England, so I laid my course by my marine compass, taking a direction north by west, almost three-quarter west on account of the wind.

"Did I think of anything coming over? Had I any sensations? No, Sir. I had all I could do to look after the aeroplane. I saw fishing smacks and small boats and nothing else till I caught sight of the coast and the shipping over yonder, and the bathing places at Walmer and Deal, which I naturally took to be Dover, not having been in your country before. It was my intention to come down twenty miles inland, but when I got over the land here I was so thrown about by the wind and met such a squall of rain that I had to come down in the best place I could find. I was 1,000 feet high when I came over the land, and then in half a minute I dropped or was sucked down to 300 feet. The rain was like hailstones, and that is how I got my eye inflamed.

"Here I am, stuck among the nicest people in the world, and I can't go on because I want twenty litres of oil, and the wind to drop. If I get a calm night and oil I shall go on toward London, make another stop to-night, and land in one of your parks beside the river to-morrow. There are several on the map. I shall be able to pick out the best. I shall not follow the railway line, but take the compass direction as before."

Mechanic a Heavy Man.

Mr. Moissan is a little man, 5 feet 3 inches tall and weighing 135 pounds, with keen brown eyes, one very much inflamed, for the reason explained in his statement. His passenger is a burly French mechanic, weighing 175 pounds, who says he feels quite at home with his employer in the air. Moissan is 35 years of age, and an architect by profession. He came to Europe on a pleasure trip, took up aviation, and built two aeroplanes. His present machine is one of the latest Blériot type, with a Gnome engine.

Before Moissan started this morning he said:

"In this part of the country I don't expect calm air. On account of the proximity of the sea there must always be a sea breeze or a land breeze. I shall steer by compass entirely."

Hubert Latham, of whom Mr. Moissan spoke so sympathetically, was the first to announce his intention to fly from Paris to London. The ill-luck which characterized his attempts to fly the English Channel at the time when Blériot accomplished that feat attended his present venture, for Latham started ahead of Moissan and arrived safely at Amiens, but there collided with a tree and smashed his machine.

HERO OF BRITISH PRESS.

Moissan's Feat Creates an Immense Sensation in London.

LONDON, Thursday, Aug. 18.—Mr. Moissan is the hero of the British press. His smiling portrait, appearing in almost every morning newspaper, will make his features as familiar to the British people as those of any public favorite.

The papers print columns of descriptive matter concerning his flight, as well as interviews, while many of them have editorials on the unique feat, which, it is held, will bring aeroplaning into practical everyday life. It is argued that if a passenger can be carried across the Channel in a strong wind, there is no reason why the air should not be utilized to carry mails and passengers in the near future.

The thing that most impresses the London morning newspapers is the fact that Moissan steered by compass.

All airmen have complained that the compass is useless in flights, on account of the strong vibration from the motor. Moissant appears, however, to have surmounted this difficulty.

LE BLANC WINS BIG RACE.

Immense Enthusiasm in Paris—Half the City Stays Up All Night.

PARIS, Aug. 17.—Half the people of Paris forsook their beds last night and remained in the streets until morning to watch the conclusion of the great cross-country aviation race, which was won by Le Blanc in a Blériot monoplane. Aubrun, also in a Blériot, took the second prize, finishing a short twenty minutes behind the winner, although his total time in completing the course was somewhat longer.

Le Blanc's flight from Amiens, some sixty miles, was made in the same superb style as the previous laps in the race. He left Amiens at 5:03 and descended at Issy, in the suburbs of Paris, one hour and twenty-eight minutes later, making the total time for the 485 miles of the entire flight 11 hours 55 minutes and 59 seconds, an average of nearly forty miles an hour as the crow flies, without makin gany allowance for the détours or for the time spent in battling with the storm in the flight from Mézières to Douai last Friday.

Aubrun, whose time from Amiens was 1 hour and 51 minutes, completed the circuit in 13 hours 27 minutes 14 seconds. None of the other competitors completed the entire course, though Legagneux, who was forced to retire in the early stages of the race, finished with Le Blanc and Aubrun.

There was a moment of tumultuous cheering as Le Blanc appeared above Issy in the early dawn, and from the height of nearly a quarter of a mile planed down toward the earth and swooped across the line like a giant hawk, alighting with the ease and grace of a big bird. The authorities, in anticipation of the excitement of the enormous crowds, had cordoned the alighting place at Issy with hundreds of police, backed by a regiment of stalwart cuirassiers, of long experience in handling the Parisian crowds on days of demonstrations. Nevertheless the spectators, in an irresistible rush, broke through the line of cuirassiers and police, and bore the victor on their shoulders to Gen. Brun, the Minister of War, who, with his staff and other high officials, had appeared at the finish at this early hour to welcome the victor.

Gen. Brun congratulated Le Blanc heartily in the name of the Government. A military band struck up the "Marseillaise," but the music could scarcely be heard above the cheering of the crowd, which was echoed from the housetops throughout the vast city.

Before the cheering for Le Blanc had begun to die down, Aubrun, in his graceful monoplane, shot into sight at the very point in the sky where Le Blanc had first been seen and following in the victor's wake crossed the line and made an equally graceful landing, giving fresh impetus to the cheering. In close succession to Le Blanc and Aubrun came Legagneux and five army officers, who had acted as escorts to the contestants in the last stage of the flight, the successful trip of eight aeroplanes across the country simultaneously and under prearranged conditions demonstrating to what an extent the conquest of the air has been carried.

A gallery of spectators such as that which gathered for the finish of the cross-country race had never before been seen in Paris, nor has the scene been duplicated at any other place. The Eiffel Tower was chosen as a point of vantage by crowds of far-sighted spectators, and the towering steel structure, like the housetops and other elevated points in the city, was black with persons watching the finish through field glasses, or with strainin eyes. On the field at Issy, where the aviators finished, 200,000 spectators had gathered, the crowd including Prince Roland Bonaparte, Gen. Dalstein, the Military Governor of Paris, and hundreds of distinguished men and women, who, when Le Blanc's monoplane was first sighted, as a black speck high above the city, were seized with a perfect delirium.

Legagneux and the military aviators were forced to make landings on the trip from Amiens, interfering with their plans to convoy the winning aeroplanes. Legagneux, in landing at Issy, broke a wing of his biplane.

All the aviators are most enthusiastic over the successful outcome of the long cross-country tour, which has demonstrated that aeroplanes can be run on scheduled time over a prearranged course, disregarding ordinary weather conditions and combating even moderate storms. Le Blanc and Aubrun agree that the chief difficulty in flying across country is furnished by the strong air currents and eddies over valleys and ravines along the course, which often suck down the aeroplanes from 200 to 300 feet, without warning, in an abrupt drop. During such experiences the aviators were able to keep their places in the machine only by clinging on all fours to the levers and framework.

They say that the Eiffel Tower this morning loomed up like a lighthouse, furnishing an absolute guide to their destination.

Issy was also the goal for the big dirigible balloon Bayard-Clément, which arrived from Creil a short time after the bevy of heavier-than-air machines had alighted. Its arrival was the signal for a further burst of cheering.

VERSAILLES, Aug. 17.—Lieut. Garos, one of the military aviators, started to-day from St. Cyr toward Issy to join the aviators in the cross-country race, but was halted in midflight by the failure of his motor.

He glided to the ground, escaping injury, though the machine was smashed in landing.

GOMPERS STANDS NEUTRAL.

Mitchell Supports President of Mine Workers Against MacDonald's Charges.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 17.—Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, appeared in the special convention of the United Mine Workers to-day and denied that he was in Indianapolis in the interest of any faction in the miners' organization. He said that the object of his visit was to meet with other members of the Executive Board of the American Federation of Labor to hear the application of President Charles Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners for admission to the Federation.

President Gompers said that it was the intention to admit the Western Federation of Miners and establish a department of mines in the American Federation of Labor. He appeared on the platform with John Mitchell, ex-President of the United Mine Workers, and William D. Huber, President of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

Mr. Mitchell to-day came to President Lewis when the delegates had refused to hear Lewis's defense against the attacks of Duncan MacDonald, Illinois Secretary, who at the end of yesterday's session made several charges against Lewis, and said that for the good of the order he should resign.

Mitchell in few words quieted the call of the Illinois delegates for Vice President Hayes to take the chair, and Lewis, who was permitted to speak, denied giving Illinois operators administrative information, and defied his opponents to file charges of misconduct against him. MacDonald made an offer to stand trial before the convention if Lewis would do the same. Lewis replied that he was "willing to stand trial on the testimony of reputable men, but not on the word of Duncan MacDonald."

Another attempt was made to-day to stampede the convention for an indorsement of the Illinois strike, but did not go through.

The afternoon session was given over to international Executive Board members to defend their stand on the Illinois compromise. The board members, with the exception of Purcell of Montana and Farrington of Illinois, said they believed the compromise would be to the best interest of the miners as a whole.

CAPT. GALVIN VERY LOW.

All Hope Doctors Had Was That He Would Live Through Last Night.

Capt. Michael Galvin of the Coney Island Precinct, it was reported last night at St. Vincent's Hospital, was slightly weaker. His condition is precarious, but the doctors expected him to live through the night. He is still unable to retain any food and only the members of his immediate family are allowed to see him.

He is suffering from a nervous breakdown and the existence of Bright's disease is feared. His illness is set down to the unremitting work to which he has subjected himself in the last two years, first in Chinatown and then in Coney Island. He has the reputation of having reduced the former to a condition of law and order such as it had not dreamed of in former years, and since he was sent to Coney Island six months ago he has worked eighteen hours a day in the endeavor to clean up the disorderly places of that resort.

TELEGRAPHER DIES DINING.

Much Excitement When Byrne Falls Off Chair in Crowded Restaurant.

While dining in a restaurant at 159 Washington Street last night James Byrne, aged 50 years, a telegraph operator of 126 Warren Street, became ill and died before the arrival of an ambulance.

The restaurant was crowded at the time, and when Byrne dropped from his chair there was much excitement. He was carried to a private room by waiters, and an ambulance was summoned from the Hudson Street Hospital.

Dr. Zimmerman, who responded, said that death probably was due to heart disease.

Dr. P. J. Byrne of 337 East 141st Street, a brother of the dead man, called at the Greenwich Street Station House later, and identified the body.

NIGHT ASCENSION FOR AEROPLANES

Machines, with Starboard and Port Lights and Auto Horns, to Fly on Saturday.

HIGH WIND HOLDS BIRD MEN

Three Wright Fliers Stand by Their Biplanes and Vainly Wait for Gale to Subside.

Special to The New York Times.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 17.—The recent statement of Weather Director Scarr of New York that flying men would find the air propitious for about three days out of every ten was seemingly verified to-day when yesterday's storm wind continued at such a rate that the birdmen, like the birds and the motor boats, kept under cover.

Three of the Wright flyers—Hoxsey, Coffyn, and Lachaelle—stood by their biplanes throughout the afternoon ready to ascend the minute the wind would let down, but the wind showed no such kindly inclination. It blew straight off the ocean at a twenty-five-mile clip, and at sunset was still whipping the flags out with apparently the full intention of continuing boisterous throughout to-morrow.

Bulletins received by Mr. Barnes of the Wright Company kept the earth-bound fliers informed of the progress of the Paris-to-London flight, and they worked up an enthusiasm over it.

Most of the Wright men seemed to take it to heart that aviatorial honors are going to other folks. "The Wrights have gone slowly," said Arch Hoxsey, "because they know what they know, and their interest is that of experiment. They are not sensationalists. But we are out now to defend the claim of the Wrights for first place. The considerations that kept them from attempting big aerial trips do not apply to us. By the season's close very important air records should be in our keeping, and we are going to lose no chance to pick them up. Enough big things have already been done by others while the Wrights were going steadily ahead in their peculiarly quiet way."

The Paris-London flight clearly stimulated the fliers, and little else was discussed through the late afternoon and the dinner hour.

To-day, if the wind goes down, Johnstone hopes to fly up a measured 10,000 feet to show just what a Wright machine is capable of doing. The official sanction from the National Council of the Aero Club was received to-day. The National Council's committee is to be on hand, according to the arrangements, through Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

The committee named to attend the meet is composed of J. C. McCoy and August Post. That Mr. Post should find a place on the committee causes some surprise, as it is held here that he has entered the flying fold of Glenn H. Curtiss and plans soon to take the field for him as a salaried flier.

The meet has been extended, on account of the wind, until Tuesday of next week. On Saturday evening there will be a moonlight ascension, in which the aeroplanes will be equipped with starboard and port lights, and a fireworks display will precede the programme of flying. Automobile horns will be attached to the machines so that they may honk each other out of the way if two of them happen to occupy the same air lanes at any given time.

The new Wright craft, without the front elevating planes and its highly flexible plane behind the rear rudder, was fully assembled this afternoon and brought out to have its picture taken. It is the craft on which the Wrights will depend in all their intercity contests this season.

The craft is expected to take the air to-morrow afternoon for a flight to Sea Girt and return or a trip after the altitude record, according to the weather.

W. WRIGHT AT BELMONT PARK.

Location for International Aviation Meet Declared Ideal.

Wilbur Wright and J. C. McCoy yesterday visited the Belmont Park race track for the purpose of inspecting the proposed course of the international aviation meet to be held at that place during the latter part of October. The two aviators made a thorough examination, not only of the park but also of the surrounding country. Several minor improvements will be recommended as a result of the visit, but the general plan of the grounds was approved.

After the examination Wilbur Wright expressed his satisfaction of the location, and said the grounds will be equal to any in this country on which aviation meets have been held. He was particularly gratified with the course laid out for the Gordon Bennett race, which he thinks is ideal. He suggested the removal of several obstacles which he thought would interfere with the flights. Mr. McCoy explained that the trees in the centre of the park, together with the fences surrounding the upper part of the track would be removed so as to afford the aviators a clean sweep for the contest.

Three courses will be laid out for the meet. The outside course, which will be reserved for the international championship competition, will be three miles in length. Owing to the limited space at Belmont Park it will be necessary to carry the course outside of the confines of the park. The start and finish, however, will be made from the front of the grand stand in sight of the spectators. The necessity of carrying the circuit outside of the grounds is occasioned by the rules of the International Aeronautic Federation, which stipulates that the course for the championship shall be three miles.

There will be two other courses, one of three kilometers and the other of two kilometers. These will be used for the competition which will go to make up the programme of events for the meeting, which will extend over nine days.

Mr. McCoy and the Contest Committee of the Aero Club are busy making up the programme of events of the international meet. Fifty thousand dollars in prizes will be offered in addition to special bonuses to all competiting aviators. The total amount to be offered to the aviators will approximate $100,000, which will include a division of the profits of the meet.

It was announced yesterday that Grahame White, the English aviator, will enter the contest. White has been making phenomenal flights in England, and will sail for this country the early part of October. Nine other foreign aviators have sent entries, and at least a dozen Americans are expected to compete.

CURTISS EXAMINES ROUTE.

Much Enthusiasm Over the Chicago-New York Flight.

Glenn H. Curtiss returned to this city last night after an automobile trip from New York to Syracuse to examine the proposed route of THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Chicago Evening Post aeroplane race from Chicago to New York. During his trip Mr. Curtiss investigated suitable fields for landing, and is enthusiastic over the possibilities of the race.

Mr. Curtiss is thoroughly acquainted with the country from New York to Buffalo and favors the route in this direction on account of the water. He thinks the towns on route will offer liberal prizes for the first aviator reaching the cities, and says there is unbounded enthusiasm over the route which he has traveled. In describing his trip Mr. Curtiss said:

"I have just finished an automobile trip from New York to Syracuse over the proposed route of THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Chicago Evening Post's Chicago to New York flight, and have decided to follow a northern course. I am well acquainted with the country from Syracuse to Buffalo, and as there is a great deal of water along this route we will equip our entry for alighting in the water as well as on land. There are suitable fields near all of the large towns for making schedule landings, and a great deal of open country en route. This together with the waterways will give the driver a ten-to-one chance of making a landing in case the motor stops or for any reason.

"Citizens of Syracuse are very much interested in the races as well as Schenectady, Albany, and Poughkeepsie. There is much enthusiasm over the race, and I am certain that many of the leading towns on the route will offer purses for the contestants. I was surprised at the general interest displayed in the coming race, which I believe will be the greatest ever held."

MARS FLIES IN STRONG WIND.

Glenn H. Curtiss Will Be at Sheepshead Bay Track To-day.

Braving a treacherous wind, which at times reached a velocity of more than twenty miles an hour, J. C. Mars, one of the aviators who will participate in the Sheepshead Bay meet to-morrow, Saturday, and Sunday, yesterday made four perilous flights at the Sheepshead Bay race track. Because of the high wind Mars made no attempt to circle the course, but limited his practice to straight away flights, covering about half a mile in each.

After his first flight Mars made several attempts to lower the short starting record, but because his engine was missing in one of the cylinders he did not succeed even in reaching his own mark. His best start was made after a run of slightly less than forty feet. He said that when his engine is tuned up in good shape he will again go after the record, and he believed that, with proper conditions, he can beat the present mark of 20 feet 9 inches.

Glenn H. Curtiss arrived in the city yesterday, with J. A. D. McCurdy, another of the aviators. They will join Mars, Ely, and Post at the race track this afternoon, and it is probable that all five will make practice flights. Willard, who flew near Hartford, Conn., yesterday, is also expected at the field to-day, though his big new biplane will not be ready for flights before to-morrow.

A partial list of the prizes to be contested for at the meet was announced by the management yesterday. Besides the prize cup for the first aviator to fly from Mineola to the Sheepshead Bay course, which was announced yesterday, there will be cups for the aviator making the highest altitude during the meet; for the flier who covers the greatest total distance in the air during the meet, and for the fastest speed and for the fastest start.

Only two of the cash prizes have been announced. One of these is a purse of $500, to go to the winner of the half-mile dash, in which five aeroplanes will participate, and will dash down the course through the air at one time. This is one of the special features planned for the meet. Formerly no more than two aeroplanes ever raced over the same course at the same time. The other cash prize is a purse of $500, which will be given to each aviator who breaks any of the world's records.

COL. ROOSEVELT WON'T FLY.

Clifford B. Harmon Denies Report ex-President Would Make Flight.

The report that Col. Roosevelt would make an aeroplane ascension with Clifford B. Harmon, President of the National Council of the Aeronautic Association, to-morrow at Mineola is denied by Mr. Harmon. Col. Roosevelt will be a guest at the informal opening of the Doubleday, Page & Co. building at Mineola to-morrow, and has been invited by Mr. Harmon to visit the aviation field at Hempstead Plains.

Mr. Harmon said yesterday that he would be on hand at the aviation field to-morrow and would be very glad to take Col. Roosevelt as a passenger, but as far as stating that he expected Col. Roosevelt to accompany him, he wished to deny the report in the most positive terms.

Mr. Harmon has just returned from Boston, where he inspected the aviation field for the Harvard-Boston aero meet, which will be held under the auspices of the Harvard Aeronautical Society. It was during his stay in Boston that the report was circulated that the ex-President was interested in aviation and had accepted an invitation to fly with Mr. Harmon.

"I have been misquoted by the Boston papers as saying that I had invited Col. Roosevelt to fly with me," said Mr. Harmon, "and that he had accepted the invitation. I have not had the pleasure yet of talking to Col. Roosevelt on this subject, but knowing that he would be at Garden City on Friday at the laying of the Doubleday-Page Company cornerstone, I had planned to ask him to go up with me, and would feel greatly honored if he should accept, and I have said this much. I have had considerable trouble with my motor of late, which kept me from making my contemplated flight across Long Island Sound, but it is now working splendidly and I do not believe the Colonel would run any risk in making the flight on Friday."

Willard Carries Passenger.

ENFIELD, Conn., Aug. 17.—Under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Enfield, Charles Willard in a Curtiss aeroplane to-day made several successful flights, and in one flight carried a passenger, the latter thereby gaining the distinction of being the first passenger to ride in a heavier-than-air flying machine in the State if not in New England. Willard started with a series of short flights, followed by a flight of two and a half miles over the surrounding country in the face of a high wind. The last flight of the day was made shortly after 6 o'clock, and at a height of about a quarter of a mile. Willard circled the surrounding country for a distance of five miles, being in the air four minutes and forty-six seconds.

a drink of water since Monday night, according to all we hear. Every time we ask them for a description they either describe a tramp or a bogey man. We'll keep on working here."

Find the Stolen Rowboat.

The parties beating the marsh made about a hundred-foot headway at a sally and then they would be compelled to rest. The work was for the most part disheartening, but the searchers kept up their enthusiasm. Once in a while they would find something to spur them to greater efforts. The first was early yesterday morning, when they found the rowboat which had been stolen from William Thompson's boathouse on Tuesday morning. This had been dragged up on a bank of a sluice way and hauled through the rushes for twenty feet.

There were marks of bare feet in the mud, leading back and forth between the deserted boat and the water's edge. From this discovery it was deduced that Pond had take to a canoe, which it was suspected Tuesday at noon he had loaded into his rowboat for use in an emergency. The bare feet marks told the posse that Pond was saving his shoes and trousers for a get-away when he should decide to leave his swamp hiding place.

A valuable bird dog belonging to Jake Keller, one of the characters of the swamp, was found dead a few yards from the bank of Cromakill Creek, about a mile and a quarter northwest of Homestead. The dog was cut about the head as if it had been clubbed. Keller mourned over the dog as if it had been a child, and was positive that it had been killed by Pond. Keller, who had kept out of the man-hunt before his dog was found dead, joined the party, armed with an eel spear.

The finding of the deserted boat and the body of the dog led the posse to form an idea of the direction of Pond's flight. It is now thought that he spent the greater part of Monday night, the evening of the crime, in one of the detached shacks of the Barnaby Fire Works Company, not an eighth of a mile from the crime, and got considerable sleep while the man-hunt was being conducted on three sides of his hiding place. The theory is that he made his way west along the sluice from the lumber yard of Gardner & Randall until he came to Thompson's boathouse before sunrise and took advantage of the rising tide to go northwest along Cromakill Creek. The mist hid the swamp for several hours after sunrise and enabled him to make a good get-away.

Lieut. Kennel attached as little importance to reports that were brought him of rifled ice boxes along the line of this supposed flight as he did to the stories of persons who asserted they had seen the murderer, but on other members of the searching party they made a great impression, and aided in keeping up the enthusiasm of the hunt.

Public Prosecutor Pierre Garven of Hudson County sent Deputy Prosecutor McDonald and two investigators from his office to the scene of the crime. McDonald and his men spent part of the day with the man-hunters, and the rest of the time taking photographs and measurements of the scene of the crime and the depositions of neighbors who saw little Joe when he ran from the house and watched Pond escaping.

A definite attempt to explode the suicide theory of Pond's disappearance will be made to-day when the sluice ways about Wessendorf's boathouse, near which a shot was heard Monday night about an hour after the murder, will be grappled with boat hooks.

Mrs. Umscheid will be buried to-day in Flower Hill Cemetery, Hudson County.

Football Star Named for Boston Post.

OLD GUARD INVITES ROOSEVELT TO HELP

Hopes He Will Work for Party Harmony Even Though Defeated for Chairman.

FRIENDS SAY HE'LL FIGHT

Republicans, Fearing Defeat, Cast About for a Progressive Who Will Run on a Regular Platform.

Republican politicians, both progressives and members of the old guard, were trying to figure out yesterday what Col. Theodore Roosevelt would do to rehabilitate himself, after the rebuke that was administered to him when the Republican State Committee on Tuesday refused to make him temporary Chairman of the State convention. There was no end of speculation on the subject, and in some quarters it took a peculiar trend.

One Republican, who has been a close observer of political fluctuations for more than a generation, but who professed to take little interest of what would come of the strained relations between Col. Roosevelt and the "organization," said:

"Now that the old guard has failed to climb on the Roosevelt band wagon, as he expected them to, I imagine a good many people will be curious to see if Col. Roosevelt does not climb on the band wagon of the old guard."

The same question in somewhat different form was asked by others, impelled possibly by the fact that Col. Roosevelt did not hesitate to meet as a guest National Committeeman William L. Ward of Westchester, one of the ringleaders in the movement to humiliate Col. Roosevelt, within an hour of the time the plans of his opponents had been carried out through the election of Vice President Sherman for the post to which the Colonel himself had aspired.

Luncheon Not a Love Feast.

As far as could be learned yesterday the Ward-Roosevelt luncheon was not a love feast, although the Colonel himself went on record as declaring that it had been "pleasant." It may be stated on good authority, however, that Col. Roosevelt did not do all the talking, either, while he sat down at luncheon with Mr. Ward, or when he met William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, another ringleader of the anti-Roosevelt coup, immediately afterward.

It was said yesterday that the two old guardsmen supplied most of the conversation and that they had neither explanations nor apologies to offer, but instead took the Colonel to task somewhat severely for running after strange political gods instead of confiding in the men who had been instrumental in boosting him politically ever since he began to cut his political wisdom teeth.

Both Mr. Ward and Mr. Barnes grew somewhat tenderly reminiscent as they recalled to the Colonel the services they had rendered him in the past at times when he needed them. Mr. Barnes told Col. Roosevelt that he personally would have had no objection to his becoming temporary Chairman of the State convention if the application had come in the "regular" way.

Ready to Welcome Him.

Both intimated strongly before they left that as far as they were concerned there were no hard feelings and that the latchstring would be out for the Colonel should he desire to promote party harmony in this State by returning to the political companionship of men who would be glad to welcome him and who knew how to play the game.

There are some Republicans who profess to see in the political history of Col. Roosevelt justification for the belief that he would be willing to enter upon some reasonable compromise with those leaders who engineered his defeat at the meeting of the Republican State Committee last Tuesday, if thereby he could become the peacemaker and bring together the widely separated factions in the Republican organization in time for the Gubernatorial campaign. Among Col. Roosevelt's friends, however, it was more than intimated yesterday that the Colonel was in a warlike frame and was preparing for fight.

It was made plain yesterday that the leaders who took actve part in the repudiation of Col. Roosevelt at the committee meeting do not for the present intend to invite by any wanton act of theirs the further wrath of Col. Roosevelt. They have virtually abandoned all hope of carrying the election this Fall, but they realize that a prolonged quarrel with the Colonel might have a bad effect throughout the State and might endanger their leadership.

Choosing the Candidates.

Col. Roosevelt in his statement after the committee meeting made it clear that he would be glad to give his active support in the campaign provided "the right kind of a man is nominated on a clear-cut progressive platform."

The old guard leaders do not apprehend any serious difficulty on the question of candidates. William Barnes, Jr., of Albany has been booming Controller Clark Williams, a man who bears the stamp of Gov. Hughes's approval. Speaker James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of the Assembly has stated time and again that he would heartily support the nomination of President Schurman of Cornell, on whom there is every reason to believe Gov. Hughes would look with favor. Both, for that reason, should be satisfactory to Col. Roosevelt, they argue.

There would be more difficulty with regard to the platform. The Republican leaders, who, through their firm grip on the State Committee, feel assured that they will dominate the State Convention, are determined that the "progressive" plank, providing for direct primary legislation next year, shall not go into the platform. For that reason they are just now looking about for a candidate who in the eyes of the voters will appear as a "Hughes man," but who will be willing to run on a platform written by the Old Guard.

Lloyd C. Griscom, President of the New York County Republican Committee, who presented the name of Col. Roosevelt to the State Committee, said yesterday that most assuredly his and the Colonel's friends would take the fight for the direct primary plank before the convention.

When asked whether the friends of Col. Roosevelt would go before the Republican State Convention and ask that gathering to upset the decision of the State Committee in rejecting Col. Roosevelt and selecting Vice President Sherman for the post of temporary Chairman, Mr. Griscom said he could not say anything on the subject at present.

"I should like to have it understood," said Mr. Griscom, "that, as far as I am concerned, this is not a question of personalities with me. I believe that Col. Roosevelt's active support in this campaign and his participation in the convention in a position to which the high place he occupies in the party entitles him would be most helpful to us this Fall. I have done what I have done simply because I want our party to win the Gubernatorial contest."

Mr. Griscom said he had received messages all day from various sections of the State, congratulating him on the stand he had taken, and in some instances recommending that the fight be carried into the State Convention. Mr. Griscom will pay a visit to Col. Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill shortly, and at that time, it is believed, the plans for the nearest future will be discussed at some length.

Roosevelt's Friends Hopeful.

Mr. Griscom said he was not in the slightest discouraged over the showing made in the State Committee on Tuesday by Col. Roosevelt's friends. He said he was fully aware when he brought in Col. Roosevelt's name that it could end only in defeat. He asserted in the most positive manner that what he did was done under the fullest authorization from Col. Roosevelt.

Mr. Griscom was much cheered by a report that an actual count of delegates to the State Convention, based on the vote in the State Committee on Tuesday, indicates that Col. Roosevelt need change less than fifty votes to control the convention.

According to the vote yesterday, the friends of Col. Roosevelt would have 442 delegates to 573 controlled by the opposition. These last figures, however, include the delegates from Nassau and Suffolk Counties, in Col. Roosevelt's home district whose vote went against him at the meeting of the committee, because the proxy was held by Col. Lafayette B. Gleason, Secretary of the Republican State Committee and ally of Chairman Woodruff.

It was regarded as a dead certainty that these counties will send a delegation to the convention friendly to the Colonel. Together the two counties will have 23 delegates. This would increase the Roosevelt delegates to 465, just 43 short of the required majority of 508.

ROOSEVELT MAY STAY OUT.

Inclined to Let the Old Guard Run the State Campaign.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt may stay out of politics in New York State during the coming campaign as a result of the action of the Republican State Committee yesterday in refusing to recommend him as Temporary Chairman of the State Convention.

The Colonel laughed to-day as he talked of yesterday's meeting, and said that the result gave him genuine pleasure. He explained his attitude by saying that he felt the committee had relieved him of all responsibility in connection with the conduct and result of the campaign.

He added that he had not decided whether he would attend the convention. He would talk things over with Representative W. W. Cocks and other political leaders of his home district, he said, before deciding, and he is inclined to the belief that it would be better to stay away and let the "old guard" carry on the fight by itself. Should the Colonel go to the convention, it is thought that he will make a more vigorous fight than ever for a platform which will meet his views.

Col. Roosevelt made it clear that under no circumstances would he allow his name to be presented to the convention as a candidate for the Governorship nomination.

Reports from the California primaries, which indicated that the progressives, under the leadership of Hiram Johnson, had won a victory, were read by Col. Roosevelt with much interest.

STOP NAGGING, SAYS CANNON.

Refers to Foes of Tariff in Speech to Old Settlers.

Special to The New York Times.

WATSEKA, Ill., Aug. 17.—Speaker Joseph G. Cannon made a speech to the settlers of Iroquois County at Cesina Park. There was scarcely anything of politics in his speech.

"My time is getting short," he said, "but when I am gone and when you old settlers are gone, may God send the country men who are honest, brave, and courageous enough to protect its industries, and who will tell the men whose names I might call, but will not, to stop their nagging.

"There are those in this country who think you have lost because of the tariff and those who believe your forefathers' acts were indefensible when you cut down the great forests of oak, walnut, and hickory in Indiana, Ohio, and Missouri. The forests had to be cut. They were the breeding places of malaria. I hear some people talking who think we ought to give up all these farms, worth $200 an acre, and move out the great cities and restore the timber. I do not join with these agonizing people.

"I was cut in Kansas the other day and picked up a Kansas newspaer which oozed calamity, which said your farmers who had automobiles are about to be victimized by wicked plutocrats and by infernal railways, and who are telling you to look out. But do you know, the men who are telling you to look out are not men who want to farm, but those who want to farm the farmers."

CHANDLER ATTACKS TRUSTS.

Says If Competition Cannot Prevail Government Must Fix Prices.

LACONIA, N. H., Aug. 17.—"There is no Government absolutely free in New Hampshire," declared ex-United States Senator William E. Chandler, in an address at a Republican rally here to-night.

"Railroad passes and railroad money," he continued, "dominate the State, and the Governor, Councilors, Senators, and Representatives are the mere agents in their offices of the two great railroads. It may be said truthfully that nearly all the lawyers in the State are retained by one or the other railroad company, either by annual passes alone or by such passes and money."

Launching into the general political situation, Mr. Chandler denounced the trusts, praised ex-President Roosevelt and President Taft, and declared that "the progressives and insurgents are true Republicans."

Referring to the United States Steel Corporation Mr. Chandler said:

"They abolished all competition, fixed their own prices for the product and for the labor, and though they have done vast good in developing the iron and steel industries they imposed burdens too great to bear upon consumers and inflicted a great curse upon the country."

As to a remedy for such conditions the speaker said:

"Let this vital principle be reiterated: If competition cannot be restored and monopoly must prevail, the Government must fix the prices."

After describing Col. Roosevelt as "one of the remarkable men of this epoch," Mr. Chandler said: "On the whole the new Administration worthily succeeds its predecessor. President Taft is a reform President."

Mr. Chandler urged party harmony and favored the nomination of Robert P. Bass as the Republican candidate for Governor of New Hampshire.

BARBER OUT AFTER DICK.

Rich Match Manufacturer Will Stump Ohio Against the Senator.

Special to The New York Times.

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 17.—O. C. Barber, central figure in the Diamond Match Company, which is known all over the country as the Match Trust, and an amateur farmer and politician as well, to-day hoisted the banner of insurgency and announced that he would take the stump this Fall to rid the Republican Party of men of the stripe of Senator Charles Dick of Ohio, Speaker Cannon of Illinois, and Senator Nelson Aldrich of Rhode Island.

"The Republican Party should not stand for the men of Dick's stripe in public office," said Barber here to-day. "The voters do not want them and they stay where they are only by their manipulations of party strength. They are a menace to honest Government."

In reply to Barber, Senator Dick will have something to say about the "Match Trust." Barber says that conditions now warrant better corporations than we have. Senator Dick retorts that Barber should make his own corporation a better one.

PHILLIPS RENOMINATED.

Foe of Gov. Hughes Again Named for the Assembly.

WELLSVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The Republicans of Allegany County to-day unanimously renominated Jesse S. Phillips, one of the chief foes of Gov. Hughes, for his eleventh term in the Assembly. Delegates to the Forty-fourth Senate Convention were instructed for Senator George H. Witter.

Resolutions were adopted indorsing both the State and National Administrations.

CALIFORNIA PARTY IS ALL INSURGENT

Johnson Carries Whole State Ticket and Control of Legislators Through Primaries.

HOUSE REGULARS BEATEN

Representative McKinlay Owes His Defeat Largely to Pinchot—Severe Blow to the Railroad Machine.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 17.—The victory of Hiram Johnson, the insurgent Republican who was nominated for Governor of California in yesterday's primaries, proves to be even greater than was at first believed. His vote carried insurgent candidates through for every office on the Republican State ticket. The Lincoln-Roosevelt League, which put up Johnson, won in every one of fifty-two counties, except San Francisco, where Curry led and Johnson came second. In Southern California Johnson got more votes than all the other candidates combined.

In Los Angeles the insurgent vote was so heavy that it carried to victory W. B. Stephens, a lawyer, who defeated Representative James McLachlan for renomination for Congress in the Seventh District. Representative Smith managed to pull out in the Eighth District, but his margin was not large. In the Second District Representative Duncan McKinlay was beaten by William Kent, a millionaire land owner, who recently gave to the State a fine park of big trees in Marin County. Kent was not known in his district as a politician, but he had able assistance from Gifford Pinchot, who delivered some speeches in his behalf.

Roosevelt League leaders declare that Johnson will get a tremendous vote at the November election, and that his entire ticket will be elected. The Democrats, who nominated Theodore Bell for Governor, believe that thousands of disgruntled Republicans will vote for Bell.

Yesterday's primary vote dealt the heaviest blow to the Southern Pacific Railroad political machine that it has received since the State adopted its new Constitution. The railroad has controlled California politics for many years. It has an effective political bureau in every county, and no legislation could be carried through against its influence.

Johnson says he will break this machine so it can never be repaired. The returns on the State legislative ticket are incomplete, but it looks as though his insurgent followers will have a good working majority in both houses. The ablest of the old railroad henchmen, Grove L. Johnson, was defeated at Sacramento for the Legislature. He is the father of Hiram Johnson, but there has been bitter feeling between them for years. Had the older man been returned to the Legislature and the younger be Governor there would have been much interest in their antagonism.

BRYAN IS REPUDIATED.

Clean Sweep of His Friends in Nebraska Primaries—Standpatters Win.

Special to The New York Times.

OMAHA, Aug. 17.—William J. Bryan's defeat at the Democratic primaries yesterday, when every one of his friends was beaten and the men against whom he had railed as unsafe and unworthy were elected, many of them with tremendous majorities, seems complete. The returns are yet not all in, but the utter repudiation of Bryan is certain. The greatest blow to Bryan was the defeat of Metcalf for United States Senator at the hands of Hitchcock by a three-to-one vote. Metcalf was Bryan's editor and close friend. Shallenberger, Democratic candidate for Governor, who had truckled to Bryan far enough to agree to sign a County Option bill, was defeated by Dahlman of Omaha, another of the Bryan "undesirables," although the vote is very close. The Democratic Congressional nominees, six in number, are divided, four against Bryan, one neutral, and one for him. The State Senatorial ticket from this district is, with the exception of one man, made up from Bryan's list of undesirables.

On the Republican side the sensation is the complete turndown of insurgency. At the head of the Republican ticket Burkett, standpatter, is nominated for the United States Senate over Whedon, his insurgent opponent, by a three-to-one vote, while Cady, standpatter, gets the Gubernatorial nomination over Aldrich, insurgent. The Republican Congressional nominees will include three standpatters, two insurgents, and one "progressive." One insurgent, Norris, had no opponent, while the other, Judge Sutton, was nominated in the Omaha district against a standpatter. William Hayward, standpatter and Secretary of the Republican National Committee, is nominated in the Lincoln district by a good majority.

MAINE DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT

Expect to Gain Two Congressmen and Perhaps the Governorship.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 17.—Maine Republicans will probably lose two Congressmen in the coming election, and will be fortunate if they do not lose the Governorship, and because this State is to hold the first general election since the Payne-Aldrich Tariff bill went into effect the result here will be regarded as of vital significance.

Whatever may be the situation in other parts of the State, in this section at least Democratic confidence is much higher than that of the Republicans. Under their breath Republicans admit that the Democratic tide began to run as far back as 1906, so far as State officials were concerned, and there are few signs that it has turned. Maine's old-time Republican plurality of 30,000 to 40,000 has dropped to a beggarly 7,000 to 8,000, and President Taft alone has recently received a vote of old-fashioned strength.

Prohibition, of course, is making part of the trouble. William M. Pennell, Democratic candidate for Congress in this district, is for local option, resubmission, and the repeal of the Sturgis seizure law, and the Democrats think they can elect him on this platform over Asher C. Hinds, who for years has been the House parliamentarian standing close at the Speaker's elbow. Pennell is turning this fact to his advantage, so far as possible, by identifying Hinds with Cannon and Cannonism, but so far this has done Hinds little or no harm. The Speaker is not unpopular in Maine.

WHALEN A CANDIDATE AGAIN.

Announces at Baby Show That He Wants State Secretaryship.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Former Secretary of State John S. Whalen is again out after the nomination for that office, according to a statement he made in Norwich last night, where he has been judge of a baby show.

Asked whom he favored as the Democratic candidate for Governor, he said: "It is too early for that yet, but you can say that I am an active candidate for the nomination for Secretary of State."

Soldiers Rewarded for Courage.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—For courage displayed at the time of the explosion of a big gun at the recent target practice at Fort Monroe, Virginia, resulting in the death of eleven men, five soldiers were to-day awarded certificates of merit by the War Department. They are Privates Charles C. Parks, Fred Faulkner, and D. C. Wigley, Corp. William Bryan, and Wilmer H. Hawk, cook, all of the Sixty-ninth Company, Coast Artillery. Most of them were painfully injured.

PRIZES FOR ESPERANTO.

Two Americans Among Winners of Awards for Literary Productions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Suggestions for the building up of a world-wide organization for the promotion of Esperanto were made and discussed before the Esperanto International Congress to-day. Although no definite plan was reached for the enlargement of the international organizations, many delegates expressed their determination to stimulate interest in the new language in their own localities in every way possible.

Prizes were awarded to-day for the best literary productions in Esperanto in both prose and poetry as follows:

Poetry, Universal Brotherhood, Joao Baptista Mello Souza of Brazil, silver medal.

Prose, Universal Brotherhood, Miss Esther Higgs of England, silver medal.

Short story, "How Bill Became an Esperantist," Herschel S. Hall, Cleveland, Ohio, first, and "Fate," Raymond T. Bye, Germantown, Penn., second, silver medal.

Essay, "The Use of Esperanto for Commerce," W. A. Vogler, Germany, prize $10.

For an essay on the Bible and for one on the similarity between Zamenhof and Lincoln, W. L. Church of Boston and James Robbie of Edinburgh, Scotland, were respectively awarded sets of Zamenhof's works.

On account of the death of President Pedro Montt of Chile invitations for a reception to-night by John Barrett, Director of the Bureau of American Republics, were recalled.

FAILS TO SAVE HER BROTHER

Child Falls from a Fire Escape Despite His Little Sister's Efforts.

Playing firemen, six-year-old Louis Wagner and his little sister romped about their home, 482 West 150th Street, yesterday afternoon until they wearied of the scene of action and decided to move it to the floor above by way of the fire escape. The boy went first, and as he jumped for the ladder he lost his footing and fell. His hands clenched the railing, and he hung there, dangling.

His sister caught his body in her arms, calling aloud for help. Their mother, Mrs. Helen Wagner, reached the window just as the boy relaxed his hold and fell to the courtyard twenty feet below.

She ran into the street, and a policeman hailed an automobile. He lifted the boy into the tonneau, and bidding the driver forget regulations raced to the Washington Heights Hospital, where the patient was hurried to the operating table. He had fractured his skull, and died at 8 o'clock.

NEW SHIP SANT ANNA HERE.

Belongs to Fabre Line and Has Completed Her Maiden Voyage.

The new Fabre liner Sant' Anna arrived here yesterday on her maiden voyage from Marseilles, via Naples, with a full complement of passengers. She is a twin screw steamship, 500 feet long, 57 feet beam, 14,000 gross tonnage, and equipped with engines of 10,000 horse power, which enable her to make an average speed of 18 knots across the Atlantic.

The first class accommodation is situated amidships, and consists of single and double outside cabins, with baths attached, for eighty passengers. There are two fine promenade decks, with the forward portion inclosed in glass for bad weather, and a Parisian café for after dinner coffee and light refreshments on the upper deck under awnings. The dining saloon on the upper deck is fitted with small tables, and a chapel is provided on the same deck for religious services.

The Fabre Line have elaborated on the refrigerating, lighting, and ventilating of its new liner. The Sant' Anna went to the new piers of the Fabre Line at the foot of Thirty-first Street, Brooklyn, which is 1,476 feet long and 150 feet wide, being the longest known steamship pier in the world.

NINE ARRESTS LIKELY FOR RAILROAD GRAFT

Illinois Central Intends to Swear Out Warrants Because of Theft of $1,500,000.

MEN UNDER SURVEILLANCE

Rumors That Graft Has Been Discovered in Other Departments, Particularly That of Construction.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Detectives employed by the Illinois Central are maintaining a constant espionage over six former high officials of the operating department of the road and at least three officers of car repairing concerns have been charged with complicity in the conspiracy by which the road is alleged to have been defrauded out of $1,500,000 in fraudulent car repair bills in three years. Complaints will be sworn to by officers of the Illinois Central within the next forty-eight hours, according to present plans. Warrants will then be issued for these men. The piling up of additional evidence daily is now causing the only delay in the institution of criminal prosecutions.

Ira G. Rawn, former Vice President at the head of the operating department of the Illinois Central and later President of the Monon, was charged with being the head of the graft conspiracy. He is dead, shot by a bullet from his own revolver on the morning of July 20. Had he lived it is said his name would have been included in the list of those to be prosecuted criminally. As it is, his estate will be sued for restitution. The remaining suspects, who were named last week as stockholders in the Memphis Car Company, all except one, are within reach of the Illinois Central detectives.

O. S. Keith, former Superintendent of transportation, is named in the railroad's civil suit, but was not shown to have been a stockholder in the Memphis Car Company. Several other former officials of the road's operating department who have resigned during the last six months may be drawn into the case later, at least as witnesses.

Most of the Chicago men concerned are out of the city, but detectives in the employ of the railroad have them under surveillance.

Settlements of the civil proceedings against the Blue Island Rolling Mill and Car Company, and the Memphis Car Company by agreement among the opposing attorneys, as well as possible prospective settlements with the other three companies involved, are to have no effect on the plans for criminal prosecution. The amount of cash returned by the settlements is small as compared with the totals of the alleged overcharge in the bills rendered against the railroad. The road also is anxious to make an example of the men.

Rumors of revelations of graft outside of the car repair department have been heard in the last few days. These, however, have been denied by the officers of the road. New branches of inquiry said to have been opened relate to the purchase of land for double tracks and switches on the Southern lines, the installation of the telephone train dispatching system, and the shipments of coal billed to the railroad to outside dealers.

Investigation of the letting of grading and construction contracts may also reveal large stealings. The total of these contracts is said to run up into the millions. In some cases it is asserted the road paid for 30 per cent. more work than was actually performed.

engineer and firemen had reached the street and sent in an alarm a brisk fire was burning. It spread then like a prairie fire.

Washington, Steuben, Warren, and Morgan Streets inclose the burned area. Washington and Warren Streets are parallel and run as do Seventh and Eighth Avenues in Manhattan. Steuben and Morgan Streets also are parallel and correspond similarly to Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Street, except that between them is as deep as between Thirty-eighth and Fortieth Streets.

The cork works were on a corner which would correspond to the northwest corner of Thirty-eighth Street and Seventh Avenue. They extended for some distance along Steuben Street, the prototype of Thirty-eighth Street, until they adjoined the Ames Rolling Mill and the Ames Spike Works, next to which again and running to the corner of Warren Street was the Independent Baking Powder Company.

On Washington Street running north to Morgan Street from the cork works corner was a row of storage houses. Behind them ran back an L-shaped extension of the cork works and the remainder of the block was taken up with the mills, spike works, and baking powder works, which ran back through the block to Morgan Street.

Everything in the Block Gone.

South of Steuben Street were the Vanderbeek lumber yards, above which and shaped like a crescent loomed the Pennsylvania Railroad embankment. On the opposite side of Warren Street is the long row of frame tenements, while across Morgan Street from the fire is the eight-story fireproof building of Butler Brothers, wholesale and retail dealers in general merchandise, and the Regal Sack Company's plant.

Everything within the boundaries of the four streets was destroyed before the fire finally was under control, and the Regal plant had lost its roof and most of its interior fittings, although its walls still stood. Within the burned block one single wall remained standing. It was the outer wall of the baking company's plant, and had it fallen it would have crashed down upon the tenement row across Warren Street.

It was falling walls as much as anything else which made the work of the firemen difficult. Line after line of hose was cut and rendered useless when a mass of bricks tumbled down upon it, and before the fire was under control the supply of hose of Jersey City's department had been taxed almost beyond its endurance.

Acting Chief Lovell responded to the alarm which the cork works engineer sent in, and he instantly turned in a second alarm, and after that a call which brought out Jersey City's entire fire-fighting force, together with Commissioner Morris.

By this time the flames had spread to the Ames works and also to the baking powder plant, while embers and sparks were dropping on the frame tenements and burning brands were flying blocks away to the westward. It was then that Commissioner Morris sent out his call for outside help. Hoboken received it and sent every engine and man she could spare. Chief Croker got it in his headquarters here.

Chief Croker Sends Aid.

Instantly he issued orders which sent Engine 7 from Duane Street, Engine 18 from West Tenth Street, and Engine 30 from Spring Street across the river. With them went about fifty men, and Battalion Chief Norton to take command. Engine 7 crossed the Cortlandt Street ferry. The others took the Pennsylvania ferry from Desbrosses Street.

The reinforcements found every building in the doomed block a mass of flames. The New Yorkers unlimbered in Warren Street and soon had three heavy streams playing into the blaze. The Jersey firemen already were ensconsed on the railroad embankment and on the roof of the Butler Brothers' plant, which is a fireproof structure. From these vantage points they were sending thousands of gallons of water into the flames.

But the heavy streams seemed to have no effect on the fire. The flames leaped 100 feet into the air, roaring and crackling under the high wind. Every now and then, too, there would be a subdued explosion, and a fresh burst of fire would pour from the baking plant's windows. The flashes were a brilliant blue, green, and yellow, as well as red, for chemicals were exploding inside and sending out gases and fumes as well as fire.

In Steuben Street there came a sudden crash some minutes after the fire started. It was the outer wall of the cork works, toppling into the street. Scores of firemen were there or upon the railroad embankment, but all of them dodged to safety. Other crashes followed this one at short intervals thereafter, until all the walls of the cork works had fallen; those of the Ames plant and the southern wall of the baking powder dropping one after the other.

The northern end of the baking powder plant's wall in Warren Street appeared strong enough to resist the fire and it was from here that much of the fire fighting was done.

Caught Under Falling Wall.

The blaze was well under control and all danger of this wall falling seemed over when, at 11:15 o'clock, there sounded a rumbling noise over the heads of the firemen gathered in the street below and man after man raised a warning shout and started to run to safety. They had hardly started, however, when the whole wall bent outward, hung hesitatingly for an instant and then crashed down into the street with a tremendous roar.

Scarcely had the last brick settled, however, when there arose another shout, this time from the men who had dodged the tumbling bricks.

"There are some men buried there. Come on, boys. Get 'em out."

A score of firemen sprang upon the bricks tearing them away from the heaps into which they had fallen with their hands. One by one Capt. William Brehm of Engine 7, Fireman Rudich Love of the same company, Fireman William Lane of Truck 5, Fireman Ernest Jaeger, Engine 1, and Fireman Joseph Walsh, Engine 6, were dragged out by their comrades. All five of the men were bruised badly and Capt. Brehm had his right leg broken. Except for a dislocated shoulder Love was all right, and Lane simply had had his hands cut by particles of glass, which apparently he had grasped as the débris fell about him. Jaeger had a possible concussion of the brain and Walsh's left knee cap was fractured.

Spencer Babcock of Engine 8 was the fireman who stumbled over a live wire. He was burned and shocked terribly, and was hurried in an ambulance to the Jersey City Hospital. He died there almost immediately after his arrival.

Police Aid at Rescues.

Several rescues were made, however, for in every one of the burned buildings there had been men at work. The clerical staff of the baking powder company was at work late on the books and the men delayed their leaving to gather together their records and ledgers. When they tried to get out then they found their way cut off by flames.

Policeman Siebel saw them at a window and managed to reach them by scaling up the wall to it. Once at the window he hung far over the sill, lowering each one of seven men at the ends of his arms until he could drop to the ground. The policeman descended as he had climbed up.

Including the apparatus from New York and Hoboken there were twenty-four engines working on the fire and nearly half that number of truck companies were present. At midnight the fire was still burning, although slowly, and with the promise of speedily dying out. Jersey City's fire force was exhausted.

"The worst fire Jersey City ever saw," was Acting Chief Lovell's comment.

FIRE CHIEF HURT BY FALL.

Charles Wasel of Rockville Centre, L. I., Trips on Subway Stairs.

Charles Wasel, Fire Chief at Rockville Centre, L. I., fell while descending the downtown stairway of the Subway station at Eighty-sixth Street last night, and was removed to the J. Hood Wright Hospital unconscious.

Wasel was with a party of friends when he tripped and fell nearly the entire flight of stairs. His companions summoned Dr. Goldberger from the J. Hood Wright Hospital. The surgeon said Wasel was suffering from concussion of the brain, a fractured nose, and a severe scalp wound. The name of the persons who were with the Fire Chief were not obtained.

NEGRO SLAYER ESCAPES MOB.

Swims and Wades Rivers with Captors Hidden Under Hayload.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Aug. 17.—Tom Wayne, the negro suspected of the assault upon and murder of Mrs. Ailiss at Quinnimont last Sunday night, was brought to this city to-night and taken to Welch.

Sheriff Wiseman of Summers County, and two deputies swam the New River and waded through Greenbrier River with their prisoner at Hinton last night to save him from the mob. They obtained a farm wagon this morning and took the negro under a load of hay to Princeton, where they lodged him in jail. The mob was reported to be following and the officers with their prisoner drove twelve miles across the mountains to this point. They had about fifteen minutes to wait for a train, and, the news spreading, some excitement resulted. A special train, bearing a detachment of troops, was en route to Princeton from Charleston when the Mercer County officers decided to fly with the prisoner.

The crime of which the negro is accused was a most fiendish one. John Ailiss was struck unconscious and brutally assaulted and his wife, a 17-year-old bride of three weeks, was assaulted and murdered.

Wayne denies any connection with the crime, but blood spots were found on his clothing, and there is other evidence incriminating him. At Hinton to-night John Ailiss said he believed Wayne was the man wanted.

ARMED POSSE SEEK NEGROES

Men and Bloodhounds in Hot Pursuit of Town Marshal's Slayers.

Special to The New York Times.

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 17.—A posse of 200 determined armed men with bloodhounds are scouring the country to the north of Bay Minette, a town thirty miles from here, for three strange negroes, who late this afternoon shot and killed J. W. Smith, Town Marshal of that place. Smith was in the act of arresting the negroes when one opened fire and the others followed. Smith received five shots, one entering the heart.

Great excitement prevails at Bay Minette, and a lynching is certain to follow if the negroes are captured. After killing the Marshal the negroes fled in a northerly direction.

The three negroes were first observed suspiciously lounging in the neighborhood of the station. Marshal Smith was called upon and went in their direction to ascertain their business in the neighborhood. There appears to have been no eye-witness. The shots attracted others to the scene. When they reached the side of Smith he was dead.

A posse was formed and at once took up the search for the negroes. A special train with officers and bloodhounds reached Bay Minette late to-night to follow the trail.

AMERICAN PEARLS SCARCE.

Low Water in Western Rivers Reduces the Supply of Mussels.

Western pearl dealers who were in Maiden Lane yesterday reported that because of low water in the Western rivers the pearl fishers are meeting with poor success this season. The pearl-bearing mussels are buried deep in the mud, and are not being found in any quantities in the shallow water. It is estimated that the yield this year will be only about 40 per cent. of normal.

The price of shells has dropped to about $10 a ton. As high as $20 has been paid. Of the fine pearls found in the Western rivers a large percentage are brought to Maiden Lane, but the prices have ranged higher this year than formerly, so there has not been a ready market.

The dealers in American pearls say that unless protected in a few years the pearls will be as scarce as Oriental pearls. There is still a plentiful supply of irregular-shaped pearls or "baroques," which because of their comparative cheapness have taken the place of finer varieties.

ELECTRIC LIGHTED

The complete electric lighting of all Burlington Route Through Trains became effective June 1. In the history of American railroading no such extensive and costly improvement of coach lighting has even been attempted up to this time.

To inaugurate this service, it has been necessary to entirely re-equip, electrically, seventy-two complete trains and practically all the reserve passenger equipment of the entire Burlington system, consisting of locomotives, baggage cars, mail cars, coaches, chair cars, dining cars, sleeping cars and observation cars.

The dynamo system of electric lighting—the most satisfactory known—is used. An electric dynamo installed in the baggage car of each train generates the current and supplies the entire train with a brilliant, steady light, not only when the train is in motion, but also when standing still. Furthermore, a skilled electrician is on duty on each of these trains for its entire run, to see that the train is properly lighted, ventilated and heated, both by day and by night. On the trains of no other railroad are exclusive train electricians carried.

These electric lighted trains operate between Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Denver, Billings, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and intermediate points.

If you are going west or northwest, on business or pleasure, let me quote you rates, send you attractive folders and tell you about these splendid electric lighted trains. It is my business to assist you, and without charge. Just drop me a postal saying where you are going.

JAPAN IS ABOUT TO ANNEX KOREA

Tokio Newspapers Publish Special Editions Announcing This Decision.

NEGOTIATIONS HAVE BEGUN

It Is Expected They Will Be Concluded in Two or Three Days—Resident General Outlines Conditions.

TOKIO, Aug. 17.—The long-awaited annexation of Korea by Japan is about to become a reality, according to special dispatches from Seoul published to-day by the Tokio press.

The dispatches announce that the final negotiations for the annexation were commenced yesterday by Lieut. Gen. Viscount Terauchi, the Japanese Resident-General in Korea. The Resident-General then outlined the conditions upon which Japan will sign the agreement for annexation.

It is believed that the negotiations with the members of the Korean Cabinet will be concluded in two or three days and that an early conclusion of the act of annexation may be expected.

The Hochi, Mainichi Dempo, and other papers are issuing extra editions with the Seoul dispatches.

Since the present Emperor, Yi-Syek, ascended the throne in 1907, being chosen by the Japanese to succeed Yi-Huei, who was deposed for his part in the anti-Japanese uprising in that year, the Korean Government has been almost completely in the hands of Japan, and the formal annexation of the "Hermit Kingdom" has been regarded merely as a matter of time.

The control of Korea by Japan is, indeed, so complete at the present time that annexation will make little difference in the administration of the country. Korea long ago ceased to have diplomatic representatives of her own, and the principal result of annexation would, it is understood, be an increased tariff on foreign goods entering the country, the Korean import tariff being at the present time considerably lower than the tariff of Japan.

Korea's independence really ended when the treaty with Japan was signed on Nov. 17, 1905. This treaty provided that Japan should control and direct the external affairs of Korea and should be represented at the Court of the Korean ruler by a Resident-General, also having the right to station residents at the several open ports and at such other places as might be deemed necessary. On July 31, 1907, a new convention was signed providing, among other things, that Korea should be placed under the administration of the Resident-General, who was to approve any measure enacted before it could become law. The appointment of all high officials was also placed under his control, and Japanese were made eligible for such appointments.

Since the revolt of 1907 the Korean efforts to throw off the Japanese yoke have principally taken the form of assassination. Durham White Stevens, the American diplomatic adviser to the Japanese Government, was murdered by a Korean at San Francisco in 1908 and Prince Ito (the first Resident-General at Seoul) was killed at Harbin a few months ago.

FORBIDS CARLIST MEETINGS.

Spanish Government Fears Rioting—Incendiary Proclamation.

MADRID, Aug. 17.—The Government to-day decided to forbid the Carlist and Republican meetings which were being arranged throughout Catalonia for Aug. 28.

The tone of the announcements of the intended demonstrations was such that disorder was feared.

BARCELONA, Aug. 17.—The Catholic Carlists of Catalonia are engaged in active preparations for a series of open-air demonstrations throughout Catalonia on Aug. 28. The proclamations issued by them summon the faithful to come to the defense of "holy religion and the Mother Church."

They refer to the "accursed Government," and adjure the people to come armed and ready to sacrifice their lives for the Pope, who has sent his blessing from Rome. The proclamations end with these words:

"Exterminate the incendiaries of convents and the violators of nuns. May God aid us to overthrow this impious Government."

ROME, Aug. 17.—The Vatican is being kept busy issuing denials of statements given out by Premier Canalejas and his supporters with reference to the controversy between the Church and the Spanish State. These denials take the form of articles printed in the Vatican organs.

The Corriere d'Italia says that the alleged facts in the various interviews and statements now being published must be verified before being accepted, as "we have the unforgettable precedent of falsification of facts made by Canalejas in communicating to the press the contents of the last note of the Holy See."

CRIPPEN READY TO SAIL.

He and Miss Leneve May Be Taken to England on the Lake Manitoba.

QUEBEC, Aug. 17.—Dr. Crippen and Miss Leneve are ready to start for England at an hour's notice. To-day Jailer Morin brought to Crippen a cheap imitation leather bag to hold the underwear and a few small articles needed on the trip. He also purchased at Crippen's request three second-hand novels which Crippen expects to read on the way over.

The property found in the cabin of the Montrose when the pair were arrested has been packed in the big valise they used in common, and the jewelry discovered on Crippen has been sealed in a large envelope. The contents of both valise and envelope will be introduced as evidence at the trial.

The jewelry is particularly important, since it is supposed to have belonged to the accused man's wife, the missing Belle Elmore. It has been valued at $300. Miss Leneve will take her few personal effects away in a paper parcel. The boy's clothes she wore aboard the Montrose are in the sealed valise, which the prisoners will not be allowed to use on the trip over.

Because Inspector Dew has expressed keen anxiety to protect his prisoners from public notice the local police believe he may take them back on the steamer Lake Manitoba, which is to sail from here to-morrow afternoon. This is a small, slow boat, carrying few passengers.

TO OPEN CANADIAN LINE.

Grand Trunk's Extension Will Handle Grain Crop of This Year.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway announced to-day that its new transcontinental line would be in readiness to move this year's grain crop early in September.

The Government section between Winnipeg and Superior Junction, 280 miles, will be opened Sept. 1. This will allow the road to be operated from Fort William through to Edmonton, about 1,100 miles.

GERMAN WARBOATS SUNK.

Two Torpedo Vessels in Collision at Kiel—Crews Saved.

KIEL, Aug. 17.—The German torpedo boat S 76, in a collision last night in Kiel Bay, rammed Torpedo Boat S 32.

Both the boats sank. The crews were saved.

MONTT'S DEATH VERY SUDDEN

President Had Spent a Busy Day—American Warship May Carry Body.

BREMEN, Aug. 17.—The death of President Montt of Chile here last night was most unexpected. He was preparing for bed when he was seized with cramps of the heart, and died almost instantly. His wife was with him. The hour was a few minutes before midnight. Almost all the members of the Presidential party were still up, engaged in conversation with Señor Besa, Secretary of the Chilean Legation at Berlin, and other attachés who had met President and Mme. Montt here on the arrival of the Wilhelm der Grosse from New York.

As soon as it was seen that Señor Montt's condition was serious a physician was summoned, but it was too late.

The President had had a tiring day. He arose at an unusually early hour in order to be ready to land at Bremerhaven at 9:30 o'clock. He disembarked at that hour and an hour later received the members of the Chilean Legation and a number of officials of the North German Lloyd Line. He conversed with animation until he took the train for Bremen, where he was welcomed by a deputation from the Senate.

He was entertained as the guest of the city at a luncheon, and responded to a toast of welcome. He was driven around Bremen in the afternoon to see the sights. It was his intention to take the 4 o'clock express for Berlin, but, perceiving that he would not have time to do this, he decided to spend the night at a hotel. Señor Montt felt so well last evening that shortly before he was ready to retire he took a brief walk through the streets in the neighborhood of his hotel.

It was the intention of the President to go to Bad Nauheim, passing through Berlin on his way. He had been invited to be the guest of Emperor William at the Autumn review of the German army.

The body of Señor Montt has been embalmed and will probably be taken to the Catholic Church of St. Johannes, where it will rest until its final disposition has been decided upon. The members of the President's suite are of opinion that the Chilean Government will send a warship here to convey the body to Chile.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—For three days the flags of all Government buildings in the District of Columbia will fly at half-mast as a mark of respect to the late President Montt. This order went to-night to the acting heads of departments by direction of President Taft.

The President also sent through the State Department the following telegram:

> His Excellency, Senor Elias Fernandez Albano, Vice President of the Republic of Chile, Santiago, Chile:
>
> My grief at the death of his Excellency, President Montt, is especially poignant, because I so recently had the good fortune to know him and the opportunity to appreciate his high qualities as statesman and patriot. I send to you and to the Government and people of Chile the deep sympathy of the Government and people of the United States and my own sincere condolences in the National loss sustained by your country.
>
> Pray yourself accept, Mr. Vice President, the expression of my personal sympathy and high regard. WM. H. TAFT.

Secretary Knox also sent an expression of his regret at the death of President Montt.

Ambassador Hill at Berlin has been directed to express the sympathy of this Government to the Chilean Legation in Germany and to place the services of the Embassy at the disposal of Mme. Montt should she be desirous of availing herself of them. The American Consul-General at Bremen has also been directed to put himself at the disposal of the Chilean party.

It is possible that if the same route is followed as was taken by Señor Montt on his journey to Europe, an American warship may convey the body of the President at least part of the way back to Chile.

CHOLERA IN ITALY.

Epidemic in Towns of Bari Province—Government Precautions.

BARI, Aug. 17.—Several of the towns and villages of this province are suffering from an epidemic of cholera.

The disease is especially severe at Trani, a seaport on the Adriatic, twenty-five miles from here, where of fifteen cases twelve have died, and at Barletta, where nine deaths have occurred in twelve cases. Other places seriously affected include Andria, Margherita di Savoia, and Trinitapoli.

The Government and the municipal authorities are displaying great energy in fighting the disease. Strict hygienic measures have been adopted, and the people have been urged to aid in preventing the spread of the disease by boiling the drinking water and eschewing certain forms of food, such as fish, fruit, and uncooked vegetables.

ROME, Aug 17.—Asiatic cholera has broken out in the Province of Bari, and measures have been taken by the Government to prevent, as far as possible, the spread of the disease. The Home Office to-day issued the following statement:

"The officials who were sent to the Province of Bari to ascertain the true nature of the suspected cases of cholera in some of the villages have established, after a bacteriological examination, the fact that cholera is existent there. Precautionary measures, which were taken when the cases first aroused suspicion, are now being rigorously carried out, and it is believed that the spread of the epidemic can be prevented.

"The Home Office, in addition to ordering that measures of a general character be taken in all the provinces of the kingdom, has issued special instructions that in the provinces adjoining the infected territory the most elaborate precautions be taken to prevent the transmission of the infection. Should any cases occur they are to be immediately isolated."

MAY BUY COLUMBUS'S HOUSE

Knights of Columbus Visit Genoa and Place Wreath on Monument.

GENOA, Aug. 17.—A party of Knights of Columbus, together with about 200 other Americans, to-day visited the monument of Columbus. Dr. John Buckley of New York, on behalf of the Knights, placed a wreath of laurel and palm at the foot of the monument.

The party also visited the house in which Columbus was born. There is a plan on foot for the purchase of the house by the Knights of Columbus and its transformation into a kind of shrine.

This is the first party of Knights to visit the birthplace of the patron of their order.

Two Chinese Councillors Dismissed.

PEKING, Aug. 17.—An imperial edict was issued to-day unexpectedly dismissing two members of the Grand Council, Chih-Sui and Wu Yu-Seng. Prince Yu-Lang, a member of the imperial family, and Hsu Shih-Chang, President of the Ministry of Posts and Communications, are appointed to the vacancies. Tang Shao-Yi, ex-Governer of the Province of Mukden, is appointed to succeed Hsu Shih-Chang as President of the Ministry of Posts and Communications.

HARMON ASKS MAYOR TO OUST POLICE HEAD

Mayor Backs Official—11 Policemen Suspended for Drunkenness or Cowardice.

LITTLE SERIOUS RIOTING

Attempts to Disarm Car Crews Make Some Trouble—Company Rejects Columbus Council's Peace Plan.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 17.—There were no serious outbreaks in connection with the strike to-day, and no persons seriously injured. The cars have been running full schedule all day, and Manager Stewart of the street railroad says they will run until midnight. Mayor Marshall to-night ordered over half the police force out in plain clothes to detect stone throwers, but not an arrest has been made.

Gov. Harmon to-day called Mayor Marshall to his office and insisted that the Mayor dismiss Chief of Police Carter at once. The Governor took this stand after being shown affidavits of several citizens to the effect that Chief Carter had last night stood by with a half dozen patrolmen and refused to disperse a small crowd that had gathered in the West End.

Gov. Harmon declared that he had been informed that the failure of the police to quell rioting was due to the fact that the Chief of Police was a lawyer rather than a policeman, that he acted as a mere clerk, and failed to go out in uniform and lead his men. The Governor told the Mayor he had better get a new chief. The Mayor replied that the chief was in every way fit for his office, adding that he, the Mayor, would take the responsibility for whatever the police did or did not do, and that, rather than allow the blame to rest upon the chief, he himself would resign. He finally consented, however, to order Carter to don a uniform and go out on regular police duty. Mr. Carter, it appears, announced before accepting the place that he would never don the blue.

The Governor said to-night that he was not considering the suspension of Mayor Marshall, whose removal has been demanded by many citizens.

Seven policemen were suspended to-night for being drunk on duty. Four more were suspended for cowardice and general inefficiency. Three special officers resigned, giving as their reason that they did not want to be killed, having been roughly treated by a crowd during the day.

Mayor Marshall's secret order to the police last night to disarm the car crews, in the face of his public order a few days ago giving the conductors and motormen permission to carry arms, created some consternation. Several crews refused to be searched during the night and to-day, and many altercations resulted. Last midnight Officer Cherrington boarded one of the last cars in and insisted on searching the crew. He was, it was said, under the influence of liquor, and the crew overpowered and held him until the car reached the company's High Street office, when he was taken in, deprived of his revolver and club, and then allowed to go. Five arrests for stone throwing were made to-day by the company's men, and the throwing of missles has kept up more or less on different lines all day.

At Linden early this morning a fusillade of shots issued from a car, and an officer with a posse of citizens attacked the car and searched the crew. The motorman had a revolver, and was arrested after being badly beaten up.

When two other officers boarded a car on Main Street to-night and searched the crew for arms the motorman, Carl Newman, from Chicago, who had two big revolvers, started to shoot at the officers, but was finally overpowered.

On the ground that there are no differences which should be submitted to Council or to anybody else, the street railway company, in a letter to the City Council to-day, rejected the proposal of Council, which was that each side submit its differences to the Council, and abide by the Council's decision to end the strike.

The Emergency Board is still in session at a late hour to-night on the matter of Gov. Harmon's request for an appropriation of $100,000 to pay the expense of the troops. There is no doubt that the Governor's request will be granted.

FRANCIS JOSEPH 80 TO-DAY.

Seventy-four Archdukes and Archduchesses at Ischl—City Decorated.

ISCHL, Aug. 17.—No fewer than seventy-four Archdukes and Archduchesses of the Austrian imperial house have arrived here to congratulate the venerable Emperor upon the occasion of his eightieth birthday to-morrow.

Telegrams and letters bearing felicitations to Europe's oldest monarch, are pouring in from all parts of the world, all of his fellow-rulers adding their congratulations to those of his family and subjects.

The city is elaborately decorated in honor of the event and the streets through which the Emperor will pass on his way to the Kurhaus, where the State banquet in honor of his birthday will be given, form a veritable triumphal way, with arches, flags, and streamers and bunting.

At the special desire of the Emperor-King there will be no costly festivities such as marked the celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of his accession to the throne two years ago. He has requested that the money be devoted to charity instead.

RICH LOOT AT BRUSSELS.

Thieves at Exposition Stole a Collection of French Gold Coins.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 17.—The extent of the loss to the French exhibit of jewels and art objects at the Brussels Exposition from the thieves who pillaged the buildings in the excitement of the fire on Sunday increases as further investigation is made.

Among the objects stolen by the looters was a complete collection of French gold coins, ancient and modern, including specimens of French coinage from the time of the Gauls.

EXPECT DECISION FOR U. S.

Americans Confident of Favorable Result of Hague Arbitration.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Chandler P. Anderson, the Agent of the United States at The Hague in connection with the arbitration of the Newfoundland fisheries question, arrived in London to-day, and will rejoin Senator Elihu Root in Paris. Both will return to The Hague to answer any questions desired by the court, which will hold a preliminary conference to-morrow.

While it is impossible to predict the result, the American Commission is confident that the court will decide in favor of the United States on the chief question in dispute—the right of Newfoundland to enforce regulations against American fishermen, which has been the most important grievance in recent years.

It is considered probable that the court will decide that the United States has the right to object to what it holds are unreasonable regulations, with the decision as to their reasonableness left to some competent authority.

As the counsel in the case have presented such elaborate arguments, it has not been possible to judge of their effect upon the court concerning the more intricate questions.

The decision of the court will, it is expected, be rendered about the middle of September.

UNFRIENDLY TO PANAMA.

Some Indians Flew Colombian Flag When President Mendoza Arrived.

COLON, Aug. 17.—Carlos Mendoza, the President of Panama, accompanied by several members of his Cabinet and other officials, returned to Colon last night after his trip along the coast of the Isthmus to Port Obaldia, the new Panama settlement near the Colombian border. The trip was made in a canal launch and lasted four days.

After landing at Nombre de Dios and Port Obaldia, where they received an enthusiastic welcome, the Presidential party made a trip to the San Blas Indian settlement region. At the San Blas village of Sasaridi they found the Colombian flag flying, the tribe in an unfriendly spirit, and their chief absent in Colombia. Members of this tribe declined the invitation to come on board the launch to meet the President.

At the other villages in the San Blas region, with which Panama hopes to open friendly commercial relations, the party received a more satisfactory welcome. The village chiefs promised to come to Panama and enter into commercial intercourse with the city. The San Blas women were delighted with the soaps, perfumes, and Panama flags presented to them by President Mendoza, their attitude influencing the new relations materially.

THE MAHARAJAH SAILS AWAY.

Lusitania Stopped in Midstream for Belated Woman Passenger.

Before sailing on the Cunarder Lusitania yesterday for Liverpool the Maharaja of Mourbhanj, who has been spending some days in this city taking in the sights, including those of Coney Island and Chinatown, said that he had enjoyed his tour through the United States from the Pacific Coast very much, and had been very much impressed with the labor-saving machinery used here in the big steel plants. He said that in India labor was cheaper than machinery, and it was necessary for the native rulers to find work of some kind for the thousands of people who depended upon them. He has the control of large steel and iron works on one of his estates, he said.

A stir was created on the Cunard pier a few minutes after 9 o'clock yesterday morning as the Lusitania went stearn first out into the stream by an excited-looking woman rushing down the pier, followed by a breathless porter carrying her grip. "Stop the ship!" she shouted. "I must get aboard!" Capt. E. J. Roberts, the marine Superintendent of the line, came up and found she was Mrs. John Plunkett of Cleveland, Ohio, hastening to her mother's bedside at Edinburgh, Scotland, who was reported to be dying. The signal was made to a tug and Capt. Charles stopped the Lusitania in midstream after he had straightened her out to take Mrs. Plunkett on board.

DOG CATCHER TOO ACTIVE.

Ambushes Her Pets as They Go to Their Daily Swim, Authoress Says.

Special to The New York Times.

GREAT NECK, L. I., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Lottie Blair Parker, author of "'Way Down East," and Mrs. Edward C. Sheathar, both of whom have handsome homes in the Summer colony along the East Shore Road, appeared yesterday before the North Hempstead Town Board to complain of the activities of Frank Cullinan, the official dog catcher of North Hempstead. Mrs. Parker said:

"This man and his assistants hide behind bushes in front of my grounds and wait for my dogs to come out so they can catch them. I own property along both sides of the Shore Road," she continued, "and to go from one side to the other my dogs run the risk of being caught. Do you expect me to build a bridge over the roadway so that my pets can cross without molestation?"

"My dogs are as gentle as children," said Mrs. Sheathar when Mrs. Parker paused for breath. "They are housed better than the children of these dog catchers."

By this time Mrs. Parker was ready for another attack.

"It is absolutely necessary for my dogs to swim every morning before breakfast," she said. "It aids their digestion. If these pound keepers are permitted to skulk in the roadway they will catch my dogs before the dear things can get to the water."

Supervisor Christ assured Mrs. Parker and her companion that the ordinance against dogs running at large would go out of force on the first of September.

"Well, that's a comfort," exclaimed the authoress and her friend with one breath as they left the courtroom.

HUGE LAWYERS' FEES PAID BY INDIANS

Statement Sent to Beverly Covering 20 Years Shows That Attorneys Got $3,893,304.

TAFT IS INTERESTED

Oklahoma Committee Is Told the Government Paid $5,000,000 to Sell Indian Land Worth $2,000,000.

SULPHUR, Okla., Aug. 17.—Attorneys' fees occupied special attention to-day at the hearing before the special committee appointed by the House of Representatives to investigate Indian affairs.

It was testified that J. F. McMurray, holder of the 10 per cent. fee contracts for the sale of $30,000,000 worth of Indian lands, had many contracts with the Indians; that at the time a $750,000 fee was paid to his firm for prosecuting the citizens; that he received $5,000 a year from two nations, and that he also had two contracts with Cherokees worth $5,000 each, besides expense allowance.

Douglas H. Johnson, Governor of the Chickasaw tribe, was on the stand most of the day. Asked why it was that so many special attorneys were employed by the Indians when they already had attorneys on regular salaries, he replied that the Indians had been convinced that a full complement of attorneys was the only method of obtaining results. When asked again how it was that he deposited $75,000 to his personal account shortly after McMurray had received the $750,000 fee, Gov. Johnson replied that he had never possessed $75,000.

He declared that the Indians had so much legal business that they had to employ lawyers by half dozens, but he was unable to state what service some of the lawyers were paid for. The lawyers were employed previous to the existence of the present contracts. It was the belief, Gov. Johnson said, that without the employment of so many attorneys the Indians would have lost millions of dollars.

Gov. Johnson testified that in the sale of Indian property in Mississippi it had cost the Government $6,000,000 to sell $2,000,000 worth of land.

In response to a request from Commissioner of Indian Affairs Valentine, the committee to-day forwarded to Beverly, Mass., a statement covering the amount of attorneys' fees paid by the Indians. The statement was said to be for the use of President Taft.

The statement covers a period of twenty years and embraces money paid out as contingent fees. It shows the total money so paid was $3,893,304.54. Among the largest fees was $789,000, paid by the Chickasaw Indians to recover $2,858,798. The New York Indians paid $240,843 to recover less than $2,000,000. The Eastern Cherokees paid a fee of $720,000. In some instances the fees paid were as high as 25 per cent. of the property involved.

The request to the committee for the figures is taken as indicating that President Taft has decided to interest himself in the present investigation, which grew out of Senator Gore's charges of attempted bribery.

In presenting the figures before the committee Representative Philip Campbell of Kansas said:

"It is rather a startling condition of affairs that such an amount of money was paid by the Indians to American lawyers when the Government itself is the guardian of the Indians."

Senator T. P. Gore told the committee that he would have no more evidence relating to his charge that J. Hamon had offered him a $25,000 bribe to promote the McMurray contracts.

MIRZA ALI KULI KHAN HERE.

Persian Diplomat Says His Country Is Making Substantial Progress.

Among the passengers arriving yesterday from Liverpool on the Cunard liner Carmania was Mirza Ali Kuli Khan, Persian Chargé d'Affaires at Washington. He was accompanied by his fifteen-year-old nephew, Mohamed Khan. Seifed Din Khan, 10 years old, and Musaffared Din Khan, 14 years old, sons of a former Persian official in this country, also came here to study agriculture.

In speaking of conditions in his country, the Chargé d'Affaires said:

"The Persian Government is proving very progressive. The young Shah is surrounded by tutors. There are so many, the palace looks like a school. The administration is very democratic. Great interest is shown in American affairs, and there is a desire on all sides to increase the friendship between Persia and the United States. Many grave problems face the Persian officials, but they are being dealt with in a manner satisfactory to the people. There is little sign of grave internal turmoil."

ALIBI FOR REVOLUTIONIST.

Attorney Hopes to Prevent Extradition of Russian on $50,000 Robbery Charge.

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—Simon O. Pollock, a New York lawyer who last Fall succeeded in preventing the extradition to Russia of Jan Pouren, the revolutionist, to-day came to Boston and visited Andreu Rullow in jail, charged with having participated in the robbery of about $50,000 from the Sub-Treasury at Tiflis, Russian Trans-Caucasia, in 1907.

Mr. Pollock later announced that he would take part in Rullow's defense. He said that he could prove that Rullow was at the University of Zurich, Switzerland, at the time of the robbery, and could explain how some of the stolen notes later came into Rullow's possession. If that were not enough to prevent his extradition Mr. Pollock said that he was confident that he could show that the offense charged was a political one, the robbery being a revolutionary act, and therefore that Rullow could not be extradited on this charge.

Yes, the farmer even buys breakfast food.

The popular idea, fostered by Denman Thompson and James A. Herne, pictures the farmer as rising while it is yet night and eating a hearty breakfast consisting of fried salt pork and boiled potatoes.

The facts show that every farmer who reads Farm and Fireside has in his house, not only one, but more than three different kinds of breakfast food.

There is nothing wonderful about this. It simply shows that the farmer is just like the rest of us—a self-respecting market for the right sort of goods. Such a farmer as reflected in the pages of Farm and Fireside is worth the consideration of every advertiser who makes anything that he could use.

RIDES INTO SURF TO RESCUE THREE

Mounted Policeman Drags Out Man, Then Saves Two Boys at Coney.

AUTO TIRE FOR LIFE BELT

Quick-Witted Chauffeur Denudes a Wheel to Aid Brave Bluecoat—Life Guard Also Saves Two.

Within fifteen minutes, late yesterday afternoon, John Creamer, a mounted policeman at Coney Island, rescued a man and two boys from drowning in the surf off the foot of Ocean Boulevard. There was a heavy sea at the time, with a strong ebb tide, and Creamer had a hard fight for his life.

Creamer's first rescue was made by riding his horse through the surf and then swimming to the drowning man. After he had brought him safely ashore he swam out again and got hold of the two boys, who were going under. A quick-witted chauffeur tore a tire from the wheel of his automobile and threw it to the struggling life saver. It made a perfect life belt, and the trio were safely pulled ashore.

Creamer on his horse in the wide parking space at the foot of Ocean Boulevard, where the road divides Coney Island from Brighton Beach, was waiting about 5 o'clock in the afternoon to be relieved. Suddenly a cry went up from the surf. Turning, Creamer saw a man struggling about 150 feet from shore.

Spurring his horse it leaped the stone wall separating the beach from the sidewalk, and he rode into the water until the waves broke over the horse's head. Then he threw himself into the water and struck out for the drowning man. He reached him without trouble, but had a hard time breasting the tide when he attempted to swim back. He finally got the man ashore and turned him over to a life-saver and several men who had run to help him.

While the attention of every one was centred upon the man who had just been rescued and who gave his name as Felix Heydrick of 2,753 West First Street, Coney Island, Henry Dalton, a chauffeur of 302 Halsey Street, Brooklyn, ran down the beach yelling that two boys were drowning almost in the same place that Heydrick had got into trouble.

Without even taking off his heavy cap, Creamer dashed again into the surf and swam to the boys. His previous fight against the tide had almost used up his strength, and after seizing both youths he found it impossible to make any headway. The best he could do was to tread water and keep the boys from sinking. At the same time he yelled for assistance.

Dalton, who had left his automobile with the hundred or more in the parking space, had just put on a new tire. Quick as a flash he tore this off and ran out on a bulkhead, which extended into the ocean and which brought him almost opposite where Creamer and the boys were floating. He threw the inflated tire to the policeman, and Creamer caught it. Then Dalton got a long rope and threw one end to Creamer. The policeman attached the rope end to the tire and half a dozen men pulled him and the boys slowly through the surf to the bulkhead and then to the beach.

Both boys were unconscious when dragged up on the sand, but vigorous action revived them. Creamer, thoroughly exhausted, required assistance also. A call had been sent to the Coney Island Hospital and Dr. Rappaport soon had the policeman and the boys out of danger.

The boys said they were John Halloran, 10 years old, of 541 West Fiftieth Street, and Thomas Malcosmon, 12, of 650 Ninth Avenue, New York. They said the strong tide had carried them out before they realized that they were beyond the danger point.

Creamer walked up to the station house and put on dry clothes. Then he went home. He is considered one of the best horsemen and all around athletes in the department. A large crowd witnessed the rescues he made, and cheered him all the way to the station.

A member of the Volunteer Life Saving Station made a thrilling rescue of a man and a girl at Seagate earlier in the day. The man was swept off a breakwater by a high wave, and was being swept out to the ocean when the life saver brought him to shore.

Fifteen minutes later Edna Hart, who lives in Henry Street, Coney Island, was swept off the same breakwater. She was being carried out by the undertow when the same life saver leaped in and rescued her.

Wider's Sentence Postponed.

Sentence of Irwin J. Wider, the cashier of the Russo-Chinese Bank, who was charged with stealing $680,000 worth of the concern's securities, was not passed to-day by Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions, postponement for one week having been secured by Acting District Attorney Frank Moss. Wider pleaded guilty to stealing $15,000 of the securities. The Grand Jury has not finished its inquiry, and for that reason Mr. Moss asked for the postponement.

Scout Casey Likes Zimmerman.

Jimmy Casey, the former third baseman of the Cubs and Brooklyn team, and later manager of the Montreals of the Eastern League, is now a scout for the Detroit club. He and Arthur Irwin, who is acting in the same capacity for the Yankees, took a good look over Joe McGinnity's players a day or two ago. Casey was particularly pleased with the work of Third Baseman Zimmerman. He inquired about the batting and fielding record of Zimmerman, and also about some of the other players. The little third baseman was at his best. Out of five times at the bat he secured a double and two singles, stole two bases, scored three runs, had three put-outs and three assists, and not the sign of an error. Irwin says he was simply taking a day's rest and not doing any business.

Francis L. Hine Charters Yacht Celt.

J. Rogers Maxwell, President of the Atlas Portland Cement Company, has chartered his steam yacht Celt for the remainder of the season to President Francis L. Hine of the First National Bank. Mr. Maxwell, who is one of the best "sailing owners" of the New York Yacht Club, did not put his famous schooner Queen into commission this year. Early in the Spring Mr. Maxwell told his yachting associates that he would content himself this season with the fifty-three-foot Avenger, which his son, H. L. Maxwell, sails. Although the Celt, a 170-foot steam yacht, is his principal yacht, Mr. Maxwell has always been an enthusiast on sailing. His Queen was built to race for the King's Cup, and although beaten the first year won the next. He is his own racing skipper. Mr. Hine is associated with Mr. Maxwell in a number of his business enterprises, notably the Liberty National Bank and the American Cotton Oil Company.

Water Sports in Manhasset Bay.

The Manhasset Bay Yacht Club at Port Washington, L. I., has planned for a big day of water sports on next Saturday. The events are open to members or their guests of any recognized yacht club. There will be swimming races of about thirty yards and one-quarter of a mile, canoe races, singles and doubles; canoe tilting, swimming race for girls and boys, under 16 years, and a duck chase. Entries can be made at the clubhouse up to 12 o'clock noon on the day of the races.

THREATENED AN EDITOR.

Man Displeased with His Paper's Sentiments—Reproved by Magistrate.

All was quiet in the office of The Jewish Daily News, 185 East Broadway, yesterday forenoon when the door suddenly was opened and a bearded man rushed at Henry Friedman, one of the editorial staff. Shaking his first in Friedman's face he shouted:

"You and your paper have robbed the poor of $2,000,000. If you don't stop your yellow journalism I kill you and burn up your plant. Beware!" And he was gone.

Without coat or hat Friedman went to Essex Market Court. He entered the courtroom panting, and after telling Magistrate Kernochan about the threat a warrant was issued.

Late in the afternoon Friedman again entered court.

"I've got him, Judge!" he exclaimed.

"Bring him up," ordered the Magistrate.

The prisoner, who said he was Solomon Lipka, a merchant at 197 Bowery, cried out:

"This Friedman is a liar. That paper is a liar. It hurts Jews and Christians alike. I don't—"

"Stop!" interrupted Magistrate Kernochan. "Because the policy of the paper offends you is no reason for you to act as you did. There are times when I am not pleased with things in the newspapers, but I don't run along Park Row and threaten to burn up every newspaper plant."

"But, Judge," said Lipka, "that paper has cost the loss of $2,000,000 to the poor."

"That'll do. You keep away from 185 East Broadway in the future. I'll discharge you this time."

PLUMBERS MAY ENTER FLAT.

Court Restrains Lawyer Tenant from Interfering with Landlord.

Supreme Court Justice Page yesterday heard argument and granted an injunction restraining Jacob Panken, a lawyer, from interfering with Jacob Tanenbaum putting plumbers into Panken's flat at 383 Grand Street and repairing a leak in the water pipes.

Otto A. Samuels, who appeared for the plaintiff, said that Tanenbaum was the owner of the house, and conducted a millinery store on the ground floor. Lawyer Panken occupied the flat over the store, and several days ago the pipes between the ceiling of the store and the floor of the lawyer's flat sprung a leak, and the owner had been trying to get plumbers into the flat to repair it, but Panken objected.

Lawyer Panken objected to the injunction being granted on the ground that the pipes could just as well be repaired through the ceiling of the store as to rip up his floor and put him to the inconvenience. He said that one evening last week when he went home he found plumbers in his bathroom tearing up the floor. When he demanded to know how they got in, the plumbers told him that Tanenbaum had pried open a window and let them in. He put them out.

Justice Page granted the application, refusing Lawyer Panken's request for two hours in which to put in a brief.

WAR TALK IN PERU ENDED.

Consul General Muelle, Just in from There, Visited Panama on the Way.

Edouardo Muelle, the Peruvian Consul General to Japan, who is on his way to Yokohama via the Suez Canal, arrived here yesterday on the Royal Mail Steam Packet Oruba from South America via the isthmus. He said that war talk in Peru had subsided, and that the Peruvians were looking forward to an era of prosperity.

He was very much impressed with the progress made by the American engineers on the Panama Canal. "I have crossed the isthmus three times," said Señor Muelle, "and have taken a personal interest in noting the conditions existing there. The first time was ten years ago, and the second visit I made five years later. The only word to express the progress made in this great undertaking during the last five years is 'marvelous.'

"People who live in great cities like New York have no conception of the magnitude of the work the United States Government is doing on the Isthmus of Panama. The officials in charge have improved all living conditions there, and have cleared Panama City of its reputation of fever." The news of the sudden death of President Montt of Chile was received by wireless on the Oruba yesterday morning. Consul General Muelle had known him in Chile, and was aware of his being in ill-health, but had no idea that he was so near his end.

LOST SPEECH AFTER A BLOW.

Lad Hit on the Head with a Stick Suffers from Aphasia.

As a result of being struck on the head with a stick by Albert Bell, 14 years old, of 217 East Seventy-third Street, Michael Gennaro, 16 years old, of 233 East Seventy-third Street, has lost his power of speech.

The boys quarreled Tuesday night in front of 137 East Seventy-third Street, and to convince his opponent Bell dealt him a heavy blow on the head, knocking him unconscious. He was removed to the Presbyterian Hospital with a hemorrhage of the brain. Bell was arraigned charged with felonious assault before Justice Hoyt in the Children's Court and remanded for further examination.

Detective Brennan, who made the arrest, produced a certificate from Dr. George Garter of the Presbyterian Hospital showing Gennaro had recovered from the blow in every particular except that he had lost his power of speech. The hospital physicians described it as partial aphasia. Gennaro was allowed to go home, but he will be kept under observation by the physicians.

TOY TROLLEY BURNS A BOY.

Three Fingers Scorched by Third Rail While Playing in His Home.

Fourteen-year-old Louis Wald of 345 East 139th Street, who devotes his spare time to experimenting with electrical devices, had his right hand severely burned to-day while operating a miniature electric railroad on the dining room table.

With eleven-year-old George Hahn of 42 Nassau Avenue, Astoria, L. I., he started the train, which ran rapidly about the circular track. Louis noticed the steel spring of a bird cage dangling from the chandelier, and as he reached up for it he placed his left hand on the power rail. When he seized the spring there was a shower of sparks and the lad fell screaming to the floor.

His mother found that three of the fingers of the left hand were badly burned, and telephoned to Lincoln Hospital for Dr. Dunlap, who dressed the burns and left the boy at home.

QUALEY, WITH CLUB, DEFENDS PROPERTY

Threatened to Throw Purchaser of the Stone Age Co. Into the Canal.

LAWYER TELLS OF FIGHT

Sale Must Be Reviewed, He Says, as Price Was Too Small—Mrs. Bull Loses Injunction Suit.

To prevent the transfer of the plant of the Stone Age Plaster Company in Newark, N. J., a subsidiary concern of the Magnesia Asbestos Company, to Clarence P. Browning of Manhattan, who purchased it at a Sheriff's sale in Newark on Tuesday, Frank M. McDermit, counsel for the concern, filed papers yesterday with the United States Circuit Court contesting the sale on the ground that the price was inadequate.

Browning with two men went to the plant in Newark yesterday and attempted to take possession of it. McDermit and John A. Qualey were inside when they appeared, and, according to McDermit's version, Qualey picked up a club and told the invaders he would "break their heads and throw them into the canal" if they didn't leave the premises. The Browning party, the lawyer said, left the place on the run.

The officers of the Stone Age Plaster Company took the stand that the sale of the plant does not in any way complete the red tape which must be gone through before it passes into the hands of Mr. Browning. They declare that the sale must be approved by Chancellor Pitney of the Chancery Court of New Jersey. The matter remains open for ten days that he may receive the Sheriff's affidavit that the price was fair and to act as he sees fit. In the meantime all sorts of intervention to prevent the transfer of the property may be brought through the courts.

The company will base its action upon the assertion that the price was inadequate. The company's officers say that although the judgment under which the factory was sold is less than $35,000 the value of the land and buildings is at least four or five times as much.

"One thing is sure," Mr. McDermit said, "we are in possession of the plant, and we are going to remain in possession until the execution of a valid deed. The work of equipping the factory for the manufacture of magnesia is going forward rapidly. We expect to make our first finished product on Saturday morning. We have engaged two detectives to protect the property."

Supreme Court Justice Goff refused yesterday to continue the preliminary injunction obtained by Mrs. Mary Nevins Bull restraining John A. Qualey and Harvey W. Corbet from disposing of the $35,000 she paid for stock in the Magnesia-Asbestos Company. Justice Goff said:

"In American Sugar Refining Company vs. Fancher it was held that the court could impound, by injunction, the proceeds of property fraudulently acquired. The court in that case expressly limited the remedy to cases in which there appeared no adequate remedy at law.

"Section 604 of the code authorizes an interlocutory injunction when it appears that the defendant is doing or about to do an act in violation of plaintiff's rights respecting the subject of the action. If there be taken from the complaint all averments made on information and belief, leaving only those made on knowledge, there remains only the representations of Qualey and Corbett, the acquisition of stock from defendants, the delivery of checks to Corbett, the deposit by him of these checks, the falsity of the representations, and that plaintiff repudiates the transaction and tenders the stock.

"Even if the court can consider an admission made by defendants' counsel when acting for Qualey and Corbett in another proceeding before this action was begun, and can consider statements made to affiant, the only additional facts are that Qualey and Corbett deposited the funds to the credit of the Magnesia-Asbestos Company and the Stone Age Plaster Company, and that thereafter checks were drawn against the fund. It does not appear that the money was deposited or drawn otherwise than in payment of a debt, and it could not be recovered from the payee without such proof.

"As to Qualey and Corbett, there is no allegation that they are continuing or have threatened to make such payments. Indeed, plaintiff's counsel says there is no evidence that either is fleeing the jurisdiction or making a fraudulent disposition of property. Motion denied, with costs."

TOO MANY REVOLVERS SOLD.

Magistrate House Says the Business in Firearms Should Be Curbed.

"There is too much selling of firearms in this city and it must be stopped. There are too many people carrying revolvers. No one but a city official ought to be permitted to do so. Permits are too freely issued."

Thus spoke Magistrate House in the Night Court early yesterday when Albert Hartshorner, a 16-year-old boy, was arraigned before him charged with carrying concealed weapons. The lad was arrested on the Bowery after purchasing a revolver and fifty cartridges.

The boy told Magistrate House he had paid $3 for the revolver and cartridges, the money having been given him by his father for that purpose. He said he was going to the country in a few days to hunt things.

The Magistrate said he believed the boy, but he was compelled to hold him for Special Sessions, because the Penal Code made it a misdemeanor for any person over sixteen years old to carry a revolver without a license.

Schmittberger Denies He Is to Retire.

Chief Inspector Max Schmittberger denied a rumor which was current yesterday morning at Police Headquarters that he was to retire. Headquarters said that the rumor emanated from City Hall, but what started it, no one could tell. The Inspector said that he is good for several years of active service, and intends to remain as long as he can.

Senator Sullivan's Son Dead.

Vincent Sullivan, the five-year-old son of Senator Christopher Sullivan, known throughout the State as "Christy" Sullivan, died at his father's home, 333 East Sixty-eighth Street last evening. The interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

WARRANT FOR BALL PITCHER.

Chambermaid and Elevator Man Accuse Walker of the Giants.

After their defeat by Pittsburg at the Polo Grounds yesterday the Giants had to hurry to Highbridge, there to catch the evening express for Cincinnati over the New York Central. Detectives from the Harlem Branch Detective Bureau were there and held up every man, to make sure that Frederick M. Walker, the young University of Chicago pitcher, whom McGraw got on his last Western trip, was not among them.

Walker was missing from the team, and the detectives allowed the other men to depart. The detectives will continue their search for Walker to-day, for yesterday a warrant was issued against him, charging him with assault.

The complainant against the young pitcher was Miss Carrie Hunter, a chambermaid in the Hotel Braddock, at 126th Street and Eighth Avenue, where Walker has lived since he came to this city. Walker is also accused of having beaten Pilgrim Rako, elevator man in the hotel, when he came to Miss Hunter's assistance.

Miss Hunter said that she ran down stairs after the man, and complaint was made to the manager of the hotel, Ernest Struck, who called Policeman McGuire. Walker had disappeared. Rako was taken to Harlem Hospital, suffering severely from his injuries.

Then Miss Hunter, accompanied by Struck, went to the Harlem Court.

ORDERS HIS OWN ARREST.

Police Chief Is Charged with "Dangerously Assaulting" Former Mayor.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 17.—After signing a warrant authorizing his own arrest, Chief of Police James R. Crowley pleaded not guilty in the District Court to a charge of "dangerous assault" on former Mayor Frederick P. Garretson and furnished bail of $100 for his appearance at a continued hearing on Aug. 23. Mr. Garretson applied at the District Court for the warrant early to-day.

Mr. Garretson has been active in raising $10,000 for the entertainment of the officers and enlisted men of the Atlantic fleet now in port. Yesterday he called the attention of the Chief of Police to the fact that on one of the streets a gambling device, consisting of a revolving wheel of the roulette pattern, with an American flag bearing numbers and serving as a "layout," was in operation. The former Mayor demanded that the Chief have the device removed, on the dual grounds that it was a desecration of the flag, and that it was also illegal, inasmuch as it was operated for gambling purposes.

Chief Crowley ordered the flag removed, but according to Mr. Garretson did not stop the operation of the wheel. Warm words were exchanged between Messrs. Crowley and Garretson, and it is alleged the Chief placed his shoulder against Mr. Garretson and pushed him out of the way. This push is said to be the ground for the charge of "dangerous assault."

THE ORIGINAL TEDDY BEAR.

First of the Kind to be Brought Here from Colombia—He Does Tricks.

The first honey bear from the forests of Colombia to arrive in this port was brought here yesterday by Purser Shairp on the Royal Mail steam packet Oruba from Cartagena. The animal was the pet of the passengers, and amused them by playing with Nibs and Tibs, two Persian kittens that were given to Capt. Langmaid of the Oruba by Sir Archibald Baker, who sent his prize Persian cat Flossie on the last voyage of the liner from Southampton for her health.

Teddy, as the little bear is called, has brown curly fur, a small, intelligent-looking head, and a long tail and tongue. He is an exact live copy of the stuffed toy bears that have been sold in thousands all over the country. The purser has devoted several hours to his training, and puts him through a drill with a stick, which Teddy shoulders like a gun.

When the reporters were looking at him on deck last night the bugles sounded the call for lowering the flags at sunset. Purser Shairp said "Salute!" and placed his hand to his cap. Teddy stood up on his hind feet, and gravely put his paw, tipped with pink claws, to his right ear in imitation of his master, and remained standing until the bugles ceased and the ensign had been lowered to the deck.

MRS. von CLAUSSEN AFTER HIM

She Gets a Summons for Her Lawyer—Spent Her $50,000, She Says.

Mrs. Ida M. von Claussen, who has been before the public frequently since United States Minister Graves incurred her displeasure when he declined to present her to the King of Sweden, applied to Magistrate Harris in the Tombs Court yesterday for a summons for Lawyer Jordan J. Rollins of 53 Cedar Street, whom she avers will not give her an accounting for nearly $50,000 which she says he has spent of money belonging to the estate of her grandfather, Matthew Byrnes, in the last ten years. The court gave her the summons and made it returnable at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. von Claussen appeared in court attired in a long lavender cloak, big picture hat, and a lace gown. She had a white Pomeranian dog concealed beneath the cloak.

MARRIED TO SAVE HIM FROM THE ARMY

Young Mrs. Checkley Says His Mother Worked on Her Feelings by Dire Tales of Philippines.

SUES FOR SEPARATION NOW

She Was Formerly Mrs. Burroughs and Had $25,000, Which, She Says, Checkley Got Away from Her.

Alleging too much mother-in-law and that her youthful husband spent all her money and threw her out of doors, Mrs. Richard S. Checkley, who before her present marriage was the widow of H. F. Borroughs, a member of the New York Produce Exchange, has begun suit for separation from her husband and alimony.

Mrs. Checkley, according to her lawyer, A. Sampson, 170 Broadway, often engaged her present mother-in-law, Mrs. Mafayette Checkley, as her seamstress when she was Mrs. Borroughs. Later when Mr. Borroughs died, leaving her possessed of from $25,000 to $30,000, Mrs. Checkley, the mother, aroused her sympathies by letters about her son, an officer in the army, who had to go to the Philippines, where he might be killed. The present young Mrs. Checkley says these tales so worked on her feelings that she finally married young Checkley to save him from his dire fate in the Philippines, after she had frequently seen him in a uniform which she took to be that of a Colonel.

She says that even before her marriage Checkley began to borrow considerable sums of money from her, or to get money from her to invest for her, but that she never got any returns from the investment. They were married, she says, on June 22, 1898. In the April previous, she declares, he got $400 from her to invest, and she never saw any of it again. Two days after the marriage, she again declares, he got $250 from her, and in November of the same year $400. The next August, she says, she parted with $250 for his use, and later turned over to him $3,000 for the organization of the Checkley Real Estate Company, a short-lived affair, with an authorized capital of $5,000,000, and chartered in South Dakota. According to young Mrs. Checkley they are just a few of the sums turned over to Checkley, and she continued to lend him money or give it to him for investment until all her $25,000 or more was gone.

She declares also that when her money had dwindled Checkley began to abuse her. He had already brought his mother to live with them, she says, and the elder Mrs. Checkley at once took charge of things as the mistress of the house, completely usurping her authority. In all matters, the wife declares, whether trivial or important, the mother and son always sided together against her, until her life was almost unbearable. She asserts also that her husband called her repeatedly "Old Devil," "Old Cat," and "Old Hag," and that he struck her several times. Last Fall, she says, just before she was turned out of the house, her husband slammed the dining room door in her face, and later hurled a chair at her, striking her, and from that time forward did not give her anything to eat but scraps.

Since leaving Checkley Mrs. Checkley has been earning her living selling shoe polish from door to door, making about $4 a week. She is now living with her employer, also a woman, at 155 West 145th Street. Checkley has entered a general denial to most of the charges. He admitted yesterday, however, that he did get various sums from his wife for investment, including the $3,000 for the real estate firm. He is employed in the hide department of the United States Leather Company, 45 John Street. He denies that he was ever a soldier or posed as a soldier, saying he is only 29 now, and too young to have been a soldier in 1898.

FAINTS AT GOOD NEWS.

Policeman's Father Collapses in Court on Learning His Son Was Innocent.

Much excitement was caused in the Tombs Court yesterday when Louis Schachne, father of Policeman Henry Schachne of the East 126th Street Station fainted on learning that Magistrate Harris had exonerated his son of the suspicion of receiving stolen goods.

B. C. Guerin of Riverdale, found in jail at Rye, a boy named Milton Bauman, who two years ago disappeared from the home of Guerin with $100 worth of property. Guerin asked him what he had done with the stuff, and the lad said he had given a razor, a camera, and a revolver to Schachne.

Guerin went to Schachne's home, 163 East Ninety-fourth Street, and was promptly given the stuff, which he said he had bought from Bauman. The matter was laid before Magistrate Harris, and Schachne was summoned to explain. When the Magistrate heard his story he promptly released him.

Talks on Teeth
BY
G. GORDON MARTIN
(INCORPORATED)

TEETH THAT LAST

A well-finished piece of dental work should have several attributes—and the lack of any one of these renders the whole job worthless to the wearer!

First — Comfort. This requires a "good fit," or, in other words, good mechanical workmanship.

Second — Appearance. This requires an artistic conception of what shape, size and color of tooth is best adapted to the patient's facial characteristics and complexion.

Third—And most important of all—the case must be constructed along mechanical lines and from high-grade materials which will insure LASTING qualities.

Martinolar work goes into the mouth—and stays there. Read the following letter from Mrs. Alice Lomax, which is to the point:

100 Halsy St., Astoria,
Long Island, N. Y.

G. Gordon Martin, Inc.:

Dear Sirs—Your letter to hand, and in replying would say that I find it most satisfactory in every detail. While I knew when I came to you that you had made big strides in dentistry in the last few years, yet I was unaware that you had brought it to such a stage of perfection. With the exception of two or three of my own you replaced for me an entire upper set of teeth by your Martinolar Method, which I consider excellent.

I have no plate or partial plate to annoy me when speaking, but can talk most distinctly. I can chew my food well and, again, they look very nice and resemble in appearance my own natural teeth as near, in my estimation of it, as it is possible to do. So, in short, I derive both benefit and pleasure from them. I would, gratitude to you, go out of my way to recommend them to any one needing similar work done, and will at any time answer any communication from any one concerning them.

Believe me, gratefully yours,
Mrs. ALICE LOMAX.

Briefly, the Martinolar Method is this: If you have two or more teeth in either jaw, we will supply all that have been lost, and they will be as beautiful and as serviceable as your natural teeth were, or should have been, at their very best.

We invite you to call at our office for a free consultation and examination of your mouth and let us explain what we can do for you.

If you cannot call at once, send for our book,

"Martinolar Dentistry."

It is sent free on request.

The reading of this book has brought us patients from everywhere.

Brains Rule This World—

Not muscle, but brains governing muscle.

The quality of brain can be changed by certain selection of food.

A food expert perfected a brain-building food by preparing certain elements in wheat and barley in a way that nature would make use of. That food is

Grape-Nuts

In it the Potassium Phosphate, obtained from nature's grains (not from the drug shop) is retained in minute particles. This has an affinity for Albumen, and these two with water make the soft gray matter in the brain and nerve centres.

MASS MEETING IN SUPPORT OF BOXING

Plan to Voice the Strong Sentiment That Favors Legitimate Organizations.

ACTING MAYOR'S ORDER

It Was Not to Stop the Fight, but to See That the Law Was Not Violated.

No change in the schedule attractions at the various boxing clubs has been caused by the action of the police in interrupting the Lang-Kaufmann bout at the Fairmont Athletic Club on Tuesday night. Last night the Sharkey Club held its usual weekly stag, to-night the Long Acre will stage bouts for its members, and the National and Lehigh Clubs have announced no change in their plans to hold bouts on Friday night. President Gibson and his assistants put in a busy day at the Fairmont Club yesterday refunding the money for seat reservations. There was a steady stream of claimants all day, and in every case the money for tickets was refunded.

In the places about the city where sporting men congregate the police interference at the Fairmont Club was generally discussed yesterday. There was some talk of a mass meeting of supporters of the boxing clubs to voice the strong sentiment that favors this form of entertainment. They hold that limited round boxing bouts in legally organized clubs which show to their members only have the support of a considerable number of responsible citizens who are entitled to consideration in the pursuit of this particular form of diversion. These men say that a public protest which would voice the sentiment of the followers of boxing bouts would do much to make the opposition to this form of entertainment realize the wide following the game has in this city. The plans for such a mass meeting seem to be in a chaotic state at present, but are very likely to assume definite proportions within a few days.

It is pointed out that Acting Mayor Mitchel directed the police not necessarily to stop the fight, but to see that no laws were violated, which placed them in a position of being the last resort in the judgment of whether there was a violation on Tuesday night or not. There is more or less criticism of the laxity of the control of the so-called membership tickets which found a way into the hands of speculators. This violation, according to the many supporters of the boxing club cause, was the only one which has come to notice, and in the conduct of the boxing itself there has been no violation which warrants such radical action as that of Tuesday night. There is still, of course, a wide diversity of opinion about whether the bouts as conducted by the clubs are legal, and opponents to this form of sport maintain that this point is one which must be definitely settled before the future of boxing in the city is finally determined.

HYLAND SHADES HURLEY.

Fast Ten-Round Bout at the Sharkey Athletic Club.

The ten-round bout at the Sharkey Athletic Club last night between Dick Hyland of San Francisco and Battling Hurley of Passaic, N. J., fully realized the expectations of the crowd. The contest was a whirlwind affair from start to finish, but at the conclusion of the contest the Pacific Coast fighter had a shade on his opponent.

Both boxers fought the same style, boring in at all times and exchanging fast blows. Each contestant at various times landed blows sufficient to dispose of his opponent, but their stamina stood them well and they fought back all the harder.

The boxers went to close quarters and pummeled away at each other until separated by the referee. Hyland had the advantage in the first, third, fourth, and ninth rounds, Hurley doing his best work in the fourth, seventh, and eighth, while in the second, third, and last both boys fought on even terms.

In the last round the spectators shouted continually during the session as each of the contestants was making a vain attempt to finish his task. The bout was one of the fastest mills seen at the club.

RICKARD HAS HAD ENOUGH.

Promoter Leaves Prizefighting Game for Coal Mining.

Tex Rickard, according to advices from San Francisco, is through with the prizefighting game. After a four weeks' sojourn in the southern part of California inspecting some coal mines in which he is interested he made the following announcement upon his return to San Francisco:

"I've pulled off my last fight. The Jeffries-Johnson show at Reno was my last appearance as a promoter. It isn't that I love the fight game less, but that I love that coal mine of ours at Coos Bay more. I'm mining coal now, you know, and that will be enough for some time."

Lang and Kaufman at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—A telegram was received in this city to-night from Harry Edwards, the fight promoter, who is in New York, stating that he had matched Al Kaufman and Bill Lang to box six rounds at the Philadelphia National League baseball grounds here on Labor Day, Sept. 5. Kaufman and Lang were to have met last night in a ten-round bout in New York, but the meeting was prevented by the police officials.

Bouts at Lehigh A. C. To-morrow.

The Lehigh Athletic Club has arranged an attractive boxing card for its arena, 1,347-1,349 Boston Road, the Bronx, to-morrow night. The feature will be a ten-round "go" between Dixie Kid and Fighting Kennedy, and the indications are that it will be a lively tilt from start to finish. Other bouts will be between Bill Brown and Jack Powell, Jimmy Carter and Young Langford, and two other meetings.

Monument for Joe Gans.

A movement has been started in Baltimore to bring some of the noted American pugilists to that city to appear in exhibition bouts, the proceeds to be used for the erection of an elaborate monument at the grave of Joe Gans, the former lightweight champion, who was buried on Saturday. It is not proposed that any part of the proceeds shall go as a benefit for the family of the once great pugilist, as it is well known that Gans made provision for his wife and family. It is simply for the memory of the man who for years defended his title against all comers in the lightweight division. Efforts will be made to have Terry McGovern and Young Corbett box a friendly bout, and it is thought that other celebrities will volunteer their services.

Munsey Tourists Reach New London.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 17.—The Munsey reliability automobile touring party, which left West Point, N. Y., this morning, arrived here late to-day, covering a distance of 167 miles for the day's run. The first pilot car arrived here at 3:15, the second pilot car following a few minutes later. The remainder of the cars followed each other slowly, and it was after 6 o'clock before all the twenty-eight cars had arrived. In the day's run good roads were encountered for the entire distance, and the trip was made without an accident. The tourists were all in bed before 8 o'clock, and will start on the run to Boston, a distance of 117 miles, at 5:30 to-morrow morning. To-day's run was a part of the trip from Philadelphia through New England, and back to Washington.

OARSMEN AS KICKERS.

Five Members of the Naval Academy Rowing Squad to Play Football.

Five members of the rowing squad will probably fill the line positions from tackle to tackle on the Naval Academy's football team next Fall, thus shattering all prejudices that have prevailed at the academy against football players engaging in other forms of athletics, especially rowing. Loftin and King, both 'Varsity crew men, are the regular tackles. Weems, also of the first boat, is slated for centre, and the most promising candidate for guards are Wright, Merring, and Douglas, all of whom have done some rowing.

The feeling against football among the naval cadets was based on the idea that it had the effect of making those who participated in it slow, and for several years the feeling was strong enough to practically prevent any midshipman, who seemed to have any football in him, from trying for the crew. This prevented many good men from coming out for the crew in the Spring, football being the big sport, and those interested in athletics in the academy being willing to subordinate everything to the success of that team.

At present it is considered a demonstrated fact that rowing strengthens a man and increases his stamina, while there is nothing to indicate that there is any diminution of speed or activity, and football men are encouraged to row or take part in other athletics during the Spring in order to keep in good condition. The policy at the academy is to encourage the midshipman to take part in sports during the whole of the academic year.

The coming football squad will contain many midshipmen who have taken part prominently in other sports besides rowing. Adderson, the left-handed pitcher, will try for a position in the line, and Erwin, who played second base, will start the season at quarter back. Loftin, Weems, and Sowell were members of the wrestling team last Winter, each being a champion in his class. Carey, crack sprinter and Captain of the track team, has a good chance of making end, while Dalton, who holds academy records in the hurdles, is regarded as the most dashing back at the institution. McCaughy, whose chances for succeeding Richardson at full back, is a weight man, and Byrd, a likely candidate for quarter back, is a fine gymnast.

MATRON FUTURITY STAKES.

Twenty-six Colts and Fillies Named for Empire Track Race.

Senator J. W. Bailey of Texas, who is President of the American Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, has notified the Trotting Horse Breeders' Club that final payments have been made for twenty-six colts and fillies to start in the fifteen-thousand-dollar Matron Futurity Stake race for three-year-olds Aug. 23, the opening day of the New York Grand Circuit meeting at the Empire City track. The race was arranged under the auspices of the breeders' organization, and Senator Bailey will come from Texas to attend the New York meeting as the guest of the association, to present a five-hundred-dollar silver trophy to the breeder of the winning colt.

Among those eligible to start are Native Belle, (2:07¾,) holder of the world's record for two-year-olds; Colorado E., a colt that trotted a public trial in 2:06¼ a few weeks ago; Emily Ellen, (2:10¼,) the unbeaten winner of the fifteen-thousand-dollar Horseman Futurity; Eva Bellini, the filly that finished second to Native Belle when she broke the world's record last year, and Eva Tanguay, a young trotter recently purchased by Robert Goelet and John H. Townsend for $10,000.

It will be the first battle between Native Belle and Colorado E., and some of the horsemen who follow the Grand Circuit expect to see the fastest race on record for three-year-olds when these two wonderful young trotters come together. All of the colts in the Matron Futurity were entered before they were born, their dams having been nominated by the members of the American Association of Trotting Horse Breeders in 1906.

'COMMY' LIKES MEN WHO TALK

Thinks Third Baseman Lord Will Strengthen Chicago White Sox.

Harry Lord, who up to last week was third baseman and captain of the Boston American League team, but was subsequently released to the Chicago White Sox, has notified President Comiskey that he may look for him to report on Thursday at Philadelphia, when the Chicagos open a three-game series with the Athletics. "Commy" is greatly pleased at securing Lord. He says:

"One of the biggest assets that Harry Lord will bring to the White Sox has been overlooked in the delving into his batting and fielding records. This asset is his aggressiveness and talkativeness. That was one reason why the old Sox outfit could win when they couldn't play baseball. Isbell always had something to say. George Davis was another who was heaping condemnation upon his enemies when he wasn't shouting encouragement to his pals. The result was the Sox were playing snappy, rapid baseball. They were outgaming their opponents and winning games by their aggressiveness.

"I like the talkative ball player. I like the fellows who are there fighting all the time. If there is one thing I hate to see it is an infield composed of men who always have their heads lowered and who never have anything to say."

CHARLEY WHITE REFEREE.

Amateurs Sure of Fair Play When They Box for the Championship.

The revival of amateur boxing for the championship of the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, which will be held at the Irish-American Athletic Club, 110 East Fifty-ninth Street, on Sept. 15 and 17, will bring into the fold of the organization an entirely new crop of boxers. It has been five years since an event of the kind has been held in this district, and the indications are there will be a large and classy entry. There will be seven classes, from bantam to heavyweight, scheduled.

Much interest is being shown in the heavyweight class as it is likely to produce one great man at least who may take up the white man's burden to fight for the pugilistic supremacy of the world.

The Championship Committee has selected men of experience to officiate at the meet, feeling that they will not only give entire satisfaction to the contestants, but to the clubs they represent. "Old Eagle Eye" Charley White, who has refereed many important battles in this country, will perform the same function for the amateurs next month, while Johnny Walsh of the Pastime Athletic Club and Maxey Moore of the New York Athletic Club will be the judges.

Haughton Likes New Rules.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 17.—In the opinion of Percy D. Haughton, head coach for the Harvard University football teams, and an alternate member of the Football Rules Committee, that committee has achieved the desired result in lessening likelihood of injury to players so far as it is possible to do so without an actual trial. Mr. Haughton would not commit himself to any expression of opinion regarding the probable effect of any one of the new rules. He did, however, state his belief that in general they will aid greatly in opening the play.

Will Race in Steeplechase's Big Pool.

The Brighton Beach Athletic Club has received a large entry for the aquatic sports which will be held to-night in the big pool at Steeplechase Park, Coney Island. Among the starters will be "Bud" Goodwin of the New York Athletic Club, the half-mile National champion. Full teams of the New York A. C., City A. C., Glenmore A. C., and New York Swimming Association have been entered in the various competitions, which include a seventy-yard swim for novices, with twenty entries; 210-yard handicap, and a canoe tilting contest.

Caledonian Games for Labor Day.

The New York Caledonian Club, the foremost organization of its kind in the United States, has prepared an unusually attractive programme of open games for Labor Day at Washington Park, Maspeth, L. I. A special feature will be a five-mile race, which is intended to be an open championship. The first man will get $125, second man $50, and third man $25. It is expected that the best distance runners in America will compete, thus assuring the keenest kind of a contest. In addition to the athletic events there will be Highland dress dancing and piping competitions.

MITCHEL DIDN'T SEE PRIZEFIGHT STOPPED

Some One Else Mistaken for the Acting Mayor Outside the Fairmont Athletic Club.

ORDERED IT DONE, THOUGH

Told the Police to Prevent the Law from Being Violated—Press Agent Explains Mistake.

It developed yesterday that Acting Mayor John Purroy Mitchel was not present on Tuesday night in the vicinity of the Fairmont Athletic Club, in the Bronx, when the police refused to let the Kaufman-Lang prizefight take place there. It was reported that the Acting Mayor, with two other men, had hired a room in a house directly opposite the club, and had not only watched the police refuse to let the fight proceed and then disperse the crowd, but had called Inspector Hussey into the room and issued instructions to him. This report of the Acting Mayor's presence in the neighborhood of the club was furnished by a news association, and upon investigation yesterday it was found to be untrue.

Mr. Mitchel was wrought up over the report when he reached his office at the City Hall yesterday morning and issued the following statement:

"About 5:30 yesterday I received word that a prizefight was to take place at the Fairmont Athletic Club last night. I immediately notified the Police Commissioner and instructed him to take such acton as he might find necessary to see that no breach of the law should take place. There was no occasion for my taking any further steps, and I knew nothing more of the matter until notified over the telephone by representatives of the press at about 11 o'clock last night that the proposed fight had been stopped by the police.

"The story which appeared in all the papers this morning to the effect that I visited the scene of the projected fight, that I went to a house opposite the club and there hired a room to observe the operation of the police, is wholly untrue and the product of some person's imagination.

Mitchel Not at the Club.

"Last night Mrs. Mitchel and I dined with my friend, Mr. Lamar Hardy, at the Iowa apartments, 135 West 104th Street, and we were there from 7 until approximately 10:30 o'clock. I was home in my own apartment, in West Ninety-seventh Street, before 11 o'clock.

"If any person represented himself as either the Acting Mayor or the agent of the Acting Mayor last night, he did so on his own motion, without any authority from me, and I would be glad to know the identity of such person, in order to take proper measures in the premises."

The identity of the three men who went into the house oppposite the athletic club and hired a room from which they watched the crowd below when the fight was called off was established later in the day through a letter which Acting Mayor Mitchel received from Mark A. Leuscher, a press agent for a vaudeville manager.

Mr. Leuscher admitted that he had gone to the club with two friends, Joseph Maxwell and Julius Mainzer, and instead of waiting in the club had hired the room in the house opposite, as Inspector Hussey had told them the police would prevent the fight. Mr. Leuscher denied, however, that he had impersonated the Acting Mayor or had misrepresented himself in any way. He apologized to Mr. Mitchel for causing him any inconvenience.

"As we reached the sidewalk," says Mr. Leuscher's letter, "some one came up to Mr Maxwell and said, 'Commissioner, what is the real reason for the interference?' and he said, 'You've got me wrong; I'm not even a Park Commissioner.' We thought some one was joking and walked away."

Hussey Sees Mitchel.

Inspector Hussey, who has temporary charge of the district in which the athletic club is located, went to the City Hall yesterday and had a talk with Mr. Mitchel. Before that he had a conference with Police Commissioner Baker. The Inspector told both of them that he did not see any one who impersonated Mr. Mitchel. Capt. Post of the Alexander Police Station also denied that he had seen or talked to the three men who did hire a room in the house opposite the club.

"Inspector Hussey was with me all evening," said Capt. Post. "We were inside the club when the fight was stopped and at no time did either of us enter the house across the street. Neither the Inspector nor myself talked to the three men who it appears hired a room in the house for a time. The name of the acting Mayor was not mentioned in my presence, and I have no idea how the report originated that he was there.

"Mrs. Smith, the occupant of the house, told me to-day that three men called at her house last night and asked to be allowed to sit near a window upstairs so they could see the police disperse the crowd. Mrs. Smith told me the men said they were theatrical people, and did not mention that one of them was the acting Mayor."

The Acting Mayor said that he had been informed that the reason preliminary bouts had been permitted to take place was because the police understood that there was to be only one prizefight or one violation of the law.

Silent on Club's Injunction.

"It was the first attempt to hold a big fight in New York since the intended Ketchell-Langford fight was stopped by order of the Governor," said Mr. Mitchel, "and I think it extremely fortunate that we were able to prevent the law being violated. My instructions to the police yesterday were to see that no violation of the law took place.

"As yet I know nothing of what did take place except in so far as I have been informed through the newspapers. After I have received a full report I may have something more to say about the matter. I understand that the police received their instructions in plenty of time to prevent the sale of tickets to the ringside."

Asked about the alleged injunction restraining the police from interfering, the Acting Mayor said he did not wish to discuss this phase of the case until he had seen the injunction. He hardly believed, he said, that any court would issue an injunction prohibiting the police from preventing a violation of the law.

Police Commissioner Baker refused to discuss the fight. He was closeted in the afternoon with Inspector McClusky, whose district comprises the Tenderloin, where a well-known athletic club is situated. Deputy Commissioner Kirby and Borough Inspector Holohan of Brooklyn also had a conference with Commissioner Baker, and it was said that prizefights were the subject under discussion.

New Ruling of National Commission.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 17.—After declaring Ernest B. Lush, formerly a player of the New York and St. Louis National League teams and of the Troy team of the New York State League, a free agent, the National Baseball Commission to-day promulgated the following ruling:

"If a player is released by a minor league club without notifying the club having an option on his services they are responsible for his salary until he gets another engagement. If they do notify the club holding the option that they are to release the player, and do not hear from that club within three days, they will be permitted to release the player outright."

Lush was released to the Troy Club by New York last May, was attacked with rheumatism, and later released by Troy. New York then claimed him, and pending a decision by the commission he signed with the St. Louis National League team.

WOMAN RANG UP CAR FARES.

But Cars Were Standing Dead in the Barn—She Was Insane.

A middle-aged woman, who said later that she was Marguerite Lucky of 12 Knapp Avenue, Poughkeepsie, walked into the car barns at 176th Street and the Boston Road last night at 9 o'clock and went along the string of cars, entertaining herself by pulling the cord that registers fares. There was a concerted rush for her. She sought refuge in an office used by an inspector.

When her pursuers found her there she was sitting on top of a high desk. She would not come down, the carmen would not presume to lay hands on her, and finally Policeman Moore of the Tremont Station was called in. He lifted her down, leading her gently out into the street, though she declared that she was slowly hypnotizing him by making passes before his face. Failing in this she attempted to arrest two young men she saw on the sidewalk. She was finally landed in the Fordham Hospital, where Dr. Hey said she was insane.

The woman wore a yellow badge sash, on which was written "Poughkeepsie," and also a yellow flag. She said that she had just got out of an insane asylum, the name of which she would not give. She also refused to name any friends or relatives.

HONEST JEWELERS' MARKS.

Driscoll Goes After Dealers Who Wrongly Stamp Gold and Silver.

Clement J. Driscoll, Commissioner of Weights and Measures, has started a crusade against dishonest markings to indicate supposed karats in gold and purity in silver. He has the backing of some of the leading men in the jewelry trade, who are anxious to rid the trade of the dishonest dealers.

The announcement was made after a conference with some representatives of the manufacturing jewelers in Commissioner Driscoll's office yesterday. Mr. Driscoll said that a number of Inspectors from his department had purchased gold "18 karat fine," which on test proved to be only from 5 to 5½ karat, and that in silver articles they had found conditions even worse.

The Commissioner said that the false markings of such articles is a misdemeanor, and that he had been promised the cooperation of the District Attorney's office in his endeavors to put an end to the abuses.

IDENTIFIES HIS ASSAILANT.

Fruit Dealer Accuses Carpenter of Beating Him in Policeman's Presence.

Acting Capt. McDermott of the West 125th Street Police Station last night arrested Thomas Bennett, a twenty-two-year-old carpenter, of 2,419 Poplar Street, the Bronx, on a warrant charging him with disorderly conduct. The real complainant against him, however, is an Italian fruit vender named Mulano, with a stand at 139th Street and Lenox Avenue, who charges that Bennett attacked him a week ago Monday night.

Most of the affair, according to witnesses, occurred in the presence of Policeman Gordon of the West 125th Street Station, who is now under charges growing out of the case. As told exclusively in THE TIMES last Friday morning, Mulano's assailant attacked him because the fruit vender gave him small change for a bill after he had demanded a bill. His assailant chased the frightened Italian into a near-by store, threatening to kill him if he didn't give up a dollar. The storekeeper gave the man a dollar from the till to pacify him.

According to witnesses, Gordon was a witness of all that transpired but failed to make an arrest, even when several citizens demanded that he do so.

Bennett was arrested in a saloon at 135th Street and Eighth Avenue. He was identified by Mulano as his assailant.

DENY BISHOP IS ILL.

Right Rev. McDonnell Only Visiting Sick Priest in Sanitarium.

The report that Bishop McDonnell of Brooklyn was ill in St. Joseph's Sanitarium, near Monticello, N. Y., the same institution where the Right Rev. Mgr. McNamara has been confined for nearly three weeks, suffering from stomach trouble, did not receive credence at the Bishop's residence, 367 Clermont Avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday. It was known that he went to see Mgr. McNamara, and has been in constant attendance on him. But the Bishop was not ill when he left Brooklyn.

The Right Rev. Bishop Mundelein, auxiliary Bishop of Brooklyn, said yesterday that he had not heard of the Bishop being ill. He was sure he would have received some information from the authorities at the sanitarium if such was the case.

INSPECT THE WATERFRONT.

Mayor's Congestion Committee Guests of Commissioner Tomkins.

Members of Mayor Gaynor's Commission on Congestion of Population inspected the harbor yesterday in the city tug Manhattan, with a view of making recommendations on the plans of the Department of Docks and Ferries for relieving congestion.

The commission expressed surprise at the crowding of manufacturing plants on the North and East River fronts while there was so many sites vacant on Newtown Creek. These were pointed out to the commission by Deputy Commissioner B. F. Crosson, Jr. Statistics gathered for the commission showed that since 1906 nearly four-fifths of the new factories in the city were located in Manhattan and the Bronx, while only one-eighth were in Brooklyn and one-thirtieth in Queens.

POLITE BURGLARS PROMISE TO RETURN

Left $1 for Children and Would Not Rob Next House Because Youngsters Were There.

TOOK NOTHING BUT CASH

And in a Pleasant Note for Each of the Victims Said They Were Much Obliged for the Little They Got.

A gang of burglars, remarkable for their industry, one of whom has a passion for letter writing, is engaging the attention of the police force of the Westchester Station and the Bronx Detective Bureau. They broke into three houses in Westchester Village yesterday morning between midnight and 6 o'clock, but were satisfied with $50 altogether, and carrying off nothing but cash.

In each case they made their entry into the houses by the same method. Nearly all the homes in this section are built with large verandas all around them, shut in by wire screens. The burglars cut their way through the screens with nippers and then forced the lock of the back door.

The first house entered was that of Christian Broscherd of 1,560 Zerega Avenue, a metal manufacturer. In the kitchen the burglars found a pocketbook belonging to Mrs. Broscherd, in which was $20 in bills. They took this but nothing else, and left in the kitchen this note

> No. 1. If it had not been for the cop on the beat we would have taken more. You have good stuff, but he might see us carrying it. Much obliged for what we have got. Will come back.

In the parlor another note was found, written like the other, in the hand of an uneducated man on such a scrap of paper as might easily be found lying about.

> No. 2. Profit by this lesson. Do unto others as we have done unto you.

Close by is Pugsley Avenue, a little street of three or four houses, which have not yet been dignified with numbers. In one of them lives Richard Kirwin, an official of the Harlem River Steamboat Company, with his wife, his mother, and three children. Every room in his house, except that of his mother, was entered.

Mr. Kirwin was sleeping so soundly that he did not know when the burglars took the clothes off his bed. They were found in the kitchen on the floor, with a large amount of cut glass packed in them. Mrs. Kirwin had placed $30 in a sugar bowl on the shelf. This had been discovered and the bills were gone. This is what the burglars had to say in the note that they left here:

> We give you credit for being clever. Where do you keep your money? Sorry, old chap, but we were hard up. Will come back for more.

It seems to have struck the burglars that it costs something to support a family and that things might go hard with the youngsters if there was no money left in the house. So this note was written on a card, which was placed prominently in the kitchen pinned to a $1 bill, and addressed to Mrs. Kirwin:

> Dear Madam: We leave you this, for the babies may be hungry in the morning.

Next door to the Kirwins lives John Mathison, an employe of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, who has a sightless wife and four children. Here the burglars did not take a single thing, but they left this explanation in one of the usual notes:

> We pity you. You have a large family to look out for. Everything is left as we found it.

None of the notes was signed, and so far the police have no clue to the burglars.

CROWD STONES MOTORMAN.

He and Conductor Lock Themselves in Car After Running Down a Boy.

In sight of the crowd at Third Avenue and 101st Street about 9 o'clock last night, seven-year-old Harry Sussman, whose mother is a janitress of an apartment house at 1,813 Third Avenue, was run over by a street car and so badly injured that he is expected to die in the Harlem Hospital. A riot followed the accident, and the reserves were called out to protect Motorman Michael O'Hare of 217 East Seventy-eighth Street and Conductor John O'Connor of 206 East Seventy-third Street.

The two men, frightened at the crowd's threats, ordered all the passengers in the car to get off and then locked themselves in. Several in the crowd threw stones through the windows, while others tried to break down the doors. The motorman of another car which arrived sent in a call for a wrecking truck. Some one also called up the East 104th Street Police Station, and Lieut. Wakefield ordered out the reserves. The policemen drew their clubs and forced the crowd back, and released the imprisoned motorman and conductor.

The wrecking wagon which had been sent for was out, and a policeman sent in a call to the nearest fire house. A truck and engine responded, and the firemen and policemen worked for half an hour before they could release the imprisoned boy. His skull was fractured, his right arm broken, and he had many internal injuries.

While hurrying to the scene, Policeman Grace of the East 104th Street Station was bitten by a bulldog. Ambulance Surgeon Balamuth dressed the wound, and Grace was sent home.

An automobile belonging to U. Keenan of 138 East Seventeenth Street, which was working its way through the crowd, knocked down Lilian Harberman, 8 years old, of 61 East 100th Street. She was attended by Ambulance Surgeon Richardson of the Harlem Hospital.

Umpires—Messrs. Rigler and Emslie.

There was a spectacular flash of superiority about the work of the Pirates at the Polo Grounds yesterday which kept them just in front of the Giants from start to finish. Not that New York didn't play rattling good ball, for they were in threatening action all the time, and never let the Pittsburgs have a moment of repose until the last man was laid peacefully away in the ninth. The world champions had to fight tooth and nail for an even break on the series, but they got it.

The score was again 2 to 1, which is the same arithmetic that has decorated the tally sheets of the other three games. It is a rather remarkable coincidence that two teams fighting for second place in the rush for the silk should show such an evenness of talent and form as to break even in four games of exactly the same score. There is little to choose between them after looking over the four closely fought nip-and-tuck skirmishes.

The Pirates struck while the iron was hot, and that was in the second inning, when they bunched three hits off young Drucke for two runs. Pinky White, on the Pirate slab, pitched just a shade better while he was at it, and in the last inning, when he walked the first man that faced him, Fred Clarke halted the game while he led White from the mound and sent the veteran Phillippi to the firing line to stall the Giants. He did it, too, by making the first three men that faced him hoist rockets into the fielders' hands.

The Pittsburg infield was watertight. Jack Murray tried as hard as man could try to drive the ball through, but it was like smashing it against a stone wall.

In the fourth Jack rammed a grounder at third with force enough to dent armor plate, but Byrne scooped it on his gloved hand and threw him out. In the seventh Murray again almost knocked Wagner over with a smash along the rug, but Honus dug it out of the earth and killed another hit. Clarke, chief of the Pirate crew, made some catches that glittered with brilliancy, and Campbell made various rifle ball pegs from the out garden platewards. The Pirate team of yesterday was dangerous. Look out, Chicago!

Miller threw Devore out to Flynn in the first. Doyle propelled a single to right. Snodgrass hit into the sky over Wilson. Nothing to that. Murray put an abundance of power behind his jolt to right, and it rolled gayly through his pedals to the fence. Doyle raced home and Murray kept on a wild tear over the trail toward home. Miller threw the ball to Gibson just about in time to get Murray at the plate.

Wagner sent a grounder on the way to left field in the second, but Devlin's remarkable stop stayed its two-sack destination. Snodgrass got Miller's fly. Flynn shot the ball to right and Honus went to third. Wilson's single to centre scored Wagner and put Flynn at the third station, whence he scored on a sacrifice fly by Gibson. Drucke was wabbly, and walked White, but the inning ended when Byrne grounded to Merkle.

A promising Giant second inning was nipped by a brilliant throw by Campbell. Bridwell singled and Devlin flied to Clarke. Merkle walked. Schlei hit a long fly to Campbell and Bridwell tried to stretch to third after the catch. A powerful heave by the right fielder to Wagner at third cut him down. In the fifth again a deadly peg by Campbell from right after Drucke's single nailed Schlei at the plate as he was about to record a run. With two down in the seventh, two hits, and a base on balls filled the bases with Giants. Becker's grounder went to Miller, who tossed to Wagner, forcing a runner at second. Snodgrass poked a long hit to left for two bases in the eighth with two out, but Murray flied to Clarke. McGraw sent in pinch-hitters to break up the game, but it was of no avail. It would have taken a Gatling gun to break through the Pirates' defense yesterday.

Cubs Break Even in Brooklyn.

Brooklyn beat Chicago 7 to 5 in the first game of yesterday's double header at Washington Park and was shut out in the second, 2 to 0. The home team batted Overall out of the box in the third inning of the first game, two passes, Davidson's double, and Daubert's triple scoring three runs. McIntyre relieved him at this point and was hit hard. In the second contest Chicago's sensational fielding cut off hits and runs. Cole would have had a no-hit game but for Tinker falling while chasing Rucker's fly in short left. Rucker struck out the side in the first inning and Cole duplicated the feat in the seventh. The scores:

RADICAL CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

Four Periods of Fifteen Minutes Each, Flying Tackle Eliminated—Other Features.

After an extended period lasting nearly six months, the Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee yesterday announced in Spalding's Official Football Guide the rules which will govern the conduct of the game during the Fall season. Many of the changes are revolutionary in character and calculated to minimize greatly the danger of fatal accidents existing under the old rules.

The time of play is divided into four periods of fifteen minutes' duration instead of the traditional two halves of thirty-five minutes each. The usual intermission of fifteen minutes is maintained between the second and third period, but an intermission of three minutes only is allowed between the first and second and third and fourth periods. During this short intermission no player will be allowed to leave the field, nor will any one be permitted to come on the field save only the individual who looks after the physical condition of the players.

At the beginning of the second and fourth periods the teams change goals, but the down, the relative spot of the down, the possession of the ball and the distance to be gained remain as they were at the conclusion of the preceding period of play.

Another radical change is that governing the flying tackle. This has been entirely eliminated by a new ruling, which provides that a player must have one foot at least on the ground when tackling an opponent. The new legislation governing the forward pass, which a number of the experts were inclined to abolish altogether, will materially alter the play and aspect of the game.

This year's rules provide that a player is only qualified to receive a forward pass who is at least one yard back of his own line of scrimmage or occupies the position on the end of said line. No man may make a forward pass or kick the ball unless he is five yards back of the line of scrimmage.

The territory forward of the line of scrimmage, and consequently in the enemy's camp, is adjudged neutral for a distance of 20 yards pending the completion of a forward pass or kick. A forward pass is not legal if the ball crosses a line 20 yards in advance of the spot where it was put in play before touching the ground or a player.

In the case of a kick the players on the defense within the 20-yard zone must not interfere with the ends or other players in any way until these opponents have advanced 20 yards beyond the line of scrimmage.

Interlocked interference—that is, players of the side having the ball taking hold of each other, or using their hands or arms to grasp their teammates in any way—is forbidden, and it is also forbidden for any man on the side having possession of the ball to push or pull in any way the man running with the ball.

Another innovation is to be noted in regard to substitution of players during a game. A rule has been passed which provides that a player who has been removed for any cause except disqualification or suspension may be returned to the game once at the beginning of any subsequent period.

The longitudinal lines formerly marking the field are done away with, as the quarter back may now cross the line of scrimmage at any point.

The new rules have already been adopted by all the large colleges, nearly all of them being represented on the Rules Committee, which consists of L. M. Dennis, Cornell; E. K. Hall, Dartmouth; James A. Babbitt, Haverford; John C. Bell, University of Pennsylvania; Crawford Blagden, Harvard; Walter Camp, Yale; Paul J. Dashiell, Annapolis; W. L. Dudley, Vanderbilt; Parke H. Davis, Princeton; Lieut. H. H. Hackett, West Point; Dr. W. A. Lambeth, University of Virginia; C. W. Savage, Oberlin; A. A. Stagg, University of Chicago, and H. L. Williams, University of Minnesota.

Detroit Takes a Long Game.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Washington and Detroit played in the rain again to-day, the victory going to the latter in the thirteenth inning, 4 to 2. The fielding was remarkable under the conditions, many sensational plays being made by McBride, Cobb, and Bush. Cobb spiked Elberfeld in the ninth inning, and the latter had to retire from the game. Moriarty was put out of the game and off the field for continued objections to Umpire Kerin's decisions. The game was started an hour earlier to let Detroit catch a train for Boston, but the umpires refused to stop the battle under recent orders of President Johnson. The score:

THE HARVESTER'S RECORDS.

World's Figures Made by Cresceus Smashed at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Aug. 17.—World's records were made to-day at the Fort Erie track when The Harvester, driven by Ed Geers, covered a mile in 2:02 over a track said to be fully a second slow. The record time was made in the last heat of the 2:07 trot, distance being waived by the other starters. Geers sent the brown stallion away to a good start. The half was made in 1:01. The Harvester was faltering after the turn into the stretch, but Geers applied the whip and the sturdy son of Walnut Hall flashed under the wire with a champion's record. He had clipped a quarter of a second off the world's record of Cresceus, made nine years ago; established a new third heat record for stallions, mares, or geldings, and also made a world's record for a five-year-old trotter.

Dudie Archdale, heretofore unbeaten, and winner of the $10,000 M. and M. stake and several other rich prizes, was beaten by Hailworthy in the $5,000 King George V. stake for 2:15 trotters. Joan won the first, but Hailworthy took the last three. The summaries:

MOTOR BOATS HELD UP.

Rough Water Stops Elimination Trials for the Harmsworth Trophy.

The elimination trials for the purpose of selecting a team of three motor boats to defend the Harmsworth international trophy at Larchmont on Saturday, when the three British hydroplanes will try to wrest the cup from the Motor Boat Club of America, had to be postponed yesterday until this afternoon. The water was so rough in Huntington Harbor, where the trials are being held, that no high speed work would have been possible, and then there was not a boat ready for the starting gun.

The Restless, the only racer that showed up on Monday for the first trial, was hauled high and dry out of the water at the yards of her builders in Huntington, in order to repair a small leak that had opened after her hard run in rough water on Monday. The hydroplane Question lay at her moorings all of yesterday, no attempt being made to run her over the course. The Nameless has not made her appearance in the harbor, and it is reported that she has not left the yards of her builders.

Although Dixie II. has not appeared as yet, she is almost sure to be on hand before Saturday. It is not really necessary to have her go through the process of elimination; it is generally conceded that she is probably the fastest boat in this country, and furthermore is always reliable and can be relied upon to reel off nearly forty miles an hour.

While the situation is somewhat discouraging, still there is no doubt that America will be represented by at least two good boats against the Britons at Larchmont, for Restless and Dixie II. are both practically ready now for the race.

There is much speculation as to the whereabouts of Hurry, Skimmer, R. E. C., and Nameless. It looks as if it would be impossible to get any of these boats tuned up to racing pitch in the short time left, and it is to be hoped that the race Saturday will not be postponed on account of unpreparedness of the American boats, as the British enthusiasts have gone to great trouble and expense to bring their three boats over here.

It is doubtful if the race will be postponed for any reason except rough water, so that it is probable that the three British boats, namely, the Pioneer, owned by the Duke of Westminster; the Zigorella, owned by Mr. Daniel Hanbury, and the Maple Leaf III., owned by Mackay Edgar, will face only the Dixie II. and the Restless, when the starting gun is fired at 3 o'clock on Saturday in Larchmont Harbor, just off the house of the Larchmont yacht club.

OUTCLASS SPANISH YACHTS

American Boats Ahead in First International Sonder Race.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 17.—Leaving the Spanish yachts hopelessly astern the three American boats to-day turned the first international sonder yacht contest into an intensely exciting race of their own, with the Harpoon finishing 12 seconds ahead of the Beaver, but losing because of a foul. Two seconds after the Beaver came the Cima, but the committee had to wait 8 minutes for the Chonta, the first of the foreigners, 13 minutes for the Papoose, and 18 minutes for the Mosquito II.

The American skippers were ready when the signal was given for the start over a twelve-mile triangular course of two miles to a side, sailed twice around. The steam was still blowing away to leeward when the Harpoon dashed over on the starboard tack, with the Beaver on her weather quarter and the Cima right astern of the Beaver. The Spaniards took it more leisurely, the Chonta crossing 30 seconds after the whistle, with the Papoose and the Mosquito II. further behind.

It was at once seen that the struggle was between the three American yachts, and particularly between the Harpoon and the Beaver. It was give and take between the two boats all the way.

Carrying her balloon jib to windward the Chonta seemed to hold the Yankees fairly well and gained decidedly on her two Spanish rivals.

On the second beat to windward the Beaver and the Harpoon passed the Cima, but all three were less than a minute apart at the turn. Again the Cima drew up in the reaches, and when the second mark was turned the Beaver led the Harpoon by 5 seconds and the Cima by 12 seconds.

The three boats came for the line side by side, and the Harpoon, swinging close to the committee tug, received the first whistle. The yachts will race again to-morrow over a windward and leeward course of three miles to a leg, twice around. The elapsed time of the race follows:

Harboon, C. F. Adams, 2d, (American).2:03:34
Beaver, C. H. W. Foster, (American)..2:03:46
Cima, Guy Lowell, (American)........2:03:48

Big Fleet for Stamford's Regatta.

Racing yachts, big and little, have entered for the annual regatta of the Stamford Yacht Club of Stamford, Conn., which will be held on Saturday, and it only remains for the weather and water conditions to be favorable to make the event one of the most interesting in the history of that progressive yachting organization. By the time the yachts are ready to start it is expected that the fleet will be made up of many of the fastest boats of their class in the East.

Sheppard Going for Half-Mile Record.

The athletic games of the Eccentric Firemen, Local Union 66, which will be held at Celtic Park on Sunday afternoon, will include many star features. A special 880-yard race has been arranged for Melville W. Sheppard in order that he may try for the world's record at the distance, 1:53 2-5, made by Charley Kilpatrick in 1895. The full track team of the New York A. C., Irish-American A. C., Pastime, and Mohawk A. C. will compete, and they include nearly every runner of note in the metropolitan district. In the field events will be such giants as Martin Sheridan, John Flanagan, Matt McGrath, and "Babe" McDonald. Then to appease the appetite of the lovers of Gaelic sports a game of football between Kerry and Cork will be played.

NOVELTY EASILY DEFEATS TEXTILE

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 17.—S. C. Hildreth's good colt Novelty was a very easy winner over Thomas Monahan's Textile to-day in the added feature of a seven-race programme offered by the Saratoga Association. The weather and track conditions were well-nigh perfect for the running, and one of the largest midweek crowds of the season was in attendance. While Novelty beat Textile very easily, the race was not a truly run one, for the reason that he stole an advantage of several lengths at the break. Shilling had Novelty in motion when the barrier was sprung, and though Textile had the inside position, the Hildreth colt dashed to the front with such an advantage that he was able to cross over and take that position from Textile before the Monahan colt was in motion. Notter gave chase with Textile, and for an instant it seemed as though he might catch Novelty, but Shilling always had something in reserve, and when Notter made his move he drew away again, to win at the finish with ridiculous ease.

The Grand Union Hotel Stakes was the regular feature of the card, and it went to James R. Keene's Ironmask. The race was worth $8,090 net to the winner, and is one of the big fixtures for the two-year-olds. The running of the race demonstrated that the bad condition of the track in his other races had all to do with the defeat of Ironmask—at least his defeat by Novelty in the Special Saturday. He simply breezed in front of his company from end to end, to win, easing up in 1:12 4-5 for the six furlongs. Footprint had to take up 130 pounds, and his second to the Keene colt was an impressive race, while Watervale acquitted himself creditably to run third, though neither one at any time threatened the winner. Absconder from the Keene Stable and Colston from the Stable of F. A. Forsythe were added starters, but Absconder was practically left at the post, and Colston did not cut any figure in the running.

A surprise came out of the mile handicap when Racquet stepped the best mile of the meeting and won easily in 1:38 2-5 from Danoscara and August Belmont's two-year-old Sandhill. It was the first appearance of a two-year-old among older horses at such a distance, and Sandhill gave an excellent account of himself to take third. The summaries:

Stargowan, 99, (Estep,) 60 to 1, 20 to 1, and 10 to 1, won; Cohort, 108, (Shilling,) 5 to 2, 3 to 2, and 1 to 5, second; Big Stick, 105, (Garner,) 7 to 1, 5 to 2, and even, third. Time—1:25 3-5. Horses Here for Grand Circuit Races.

Grand Circuit harness racers are rapidly concentrating at the Empire City Park for the big meeting which opens there on next Tuesday with the $15,000 Matron Futurity, for three-year-old trotters. Alonzo McDonald, who won the $50,000 handicap at Boston with Allen Winter, 2:06¾, arrived yesterday from the Cleveland meeting with twelve fast ones, among them the unbeaten Futurity candidate, Emily Ellen, 2:10¼, winner of the $10,000 Horseman Stake at Detroit. Another Futurity candidate, Colorado E., arrived with Gus Macey's string.

A. P. McDonald, who drove Major Delmar in 1:59¾ over the Empire track seven years ago, is at the park with four fast steppers that have not started this year. Robert Proctor, who brought out Uhlan, 1:58¾, is also there with W. C. Brown's horses, and John Dickerson has as his Futurity candidate Eva Bellini.

BRITISH POLOISTS WIN.

Ranelagh Defeats New Haven in Point Judith Club Tourney.

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 17.—Two rounds for the Point Judith Country Club Challenge Cup were placed to-day at Wildfield Farm before a large crowd of cottagers and members of the Summer colony at the Pier.

The first event was the second round for the Point Judith Cup, Ranelagh and New Haven being the rival teams. The match was won after a spirited contest by Ranelagh, the first score standing 9 to 8½. It was the first match won by the English players, and they were highly elated over their initial triumph on an American field. Some of the betting was in favor of the New Haven team, but the English players put up an exhibition of gilt-edged polo, and their aggressiveness and fine team work gave them the game.

Lord Hugh Grosvenor and the Earl of Rocksavage were in fine fettle, and played with dash and zest throughout the match. The playing of R. Grenfell was also a feature.

The second event was between Bryn Mawr and Cooperstown, and was the first round of the Point Judith Cup series. Bryn Mawr won by a score of 13 to 8¾.

J. B. Thomas, who is prominently identified with the new Point Judith Polo Club, has offered a cup as a trophy in a young people's tournament, and the first match was played to-day between the Naragansetts and the Cottagers. The Narragansetts won by the close score of 4 to 3½. The dashing riding of Miss Emily Randolph was a feature of the day. The line-up:

Fast Cars in 24-Hour Race.

The Motor Racing Association will present a field of starters in the twenty-four-hour race Friday night that has never been equaled for high-class cars that have won fame in all the events they have been entered in. Among the starters will be a Fiat, driven by Ralph De Palma and E. R. Parker. Charles Basle will be at the wheel of the Matheson, Bill Endicott with the Cole, Stanley Martin with the Houpt, Louis Disbrow and Harry Cobe behind the National, and Bill Taylor with the Midland. The Marion, Stearns, and Allen-Kingston have not nominated their drivers. Although it is understood that the organization will have twelve starters, three have not conformed with the rules, and Mr. Cordner, who is Chairman, declined to give out their names.

Reo Car Breaking Record.

L. L. Whitman, the transcontinental motorist, who is trying in a 1911 Reo "4-30" to break his own world's cross-continent record of 15 days 2 hours and 12 minutes, telegraphed R. M. Owen & Co. last night that he left Montello, Nev., Monday, Aug. 15, at 1:30 P. M. Whitman left New York at 12:01 A. M. Monday, Aug. 8, under an eleven-day schedule, which is over four days better than his previous world's record. At Montello he was twelve and a half hours ahead of his eleven-day schedule. The distance from New York to Montello is 2,825 miles, which was covered by him in the Reo in 181½ hours. A later dispatch reports that he was sighted near Battle Mountain, Nev., Tuesday morning.

Commissioner Smith for Reciprocity.

State Motor Vehicle Commissioner J. B. R. Smith of New Jersey was the principal speaker last night at a mass meeting of the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club at Newark, N. J. The subject of Commissioner Smith's address was "Inter-State Travel," in which he covered the same ground as last week at the Automobile Club of America. He laid particular stress on reciprocal relations with other States.

MR. ROOSEVELT AND HIS PARTY.

The position of Mr. ROOSEVELT with regard to his party in the Nation cannot be called satisfactory. In some respects it is undefined, in some of the respects in which it is fairly defined it is not consistent, and in some ways it is, to say the least, undignified.

It was, perhaps, inevitable, with Mr. ROOSEVELT's temperament, that he should not pass, on returning to the country, after his remarkable experiences abroad, to the quiet life of a private citizen such as other ex-Presidents have adopted. But surely it was unnecessary that he should so conduct himself that the various factions of his disturbed and divided party should watch feverishly to see on which side he would finally come out; that his country home or city office should be the resort of so large a number of fighting leaders, and that the land should be surfeited with speculation as to his personal plans and ambitions. Undoubtedly much of the talk about him has been idle gossip, or has originated in the hopes or fears of men anxious to enlist the aid of his great popularity in their own behalf. But also undoubtedly he could have prevented most of such talk had he been seriously so inclined.

As the case stands with the National Administration, it seems clear that much of the bitterness that has been injected into the discussion of his relations and attitude is due to a personal element that really ought not to be permitted to exist. Mr. ROOSEVELT is conspicuously intimate with two opponents of Mr. TAFT, one of whom retired from the Cabinet and the other was dismissed from office. Both these gentlemen are deeply concerned in the question of "conservation," and it is around that question that the most acrid disputes have arisen. Now, conservation is not properly a political question at all; there is room for honest difference of opinion regarding it; it ought not to be allowed to cause dissension in the party in power, and especially dissension between the President and the ex-President. Their professed aims are the same, and their differences as to methods are of importance only to men who persuade themselves that all differences on the subject involve moral turpitude.

If we turn to what is the only solid basis of opposition to Mr. TAFT among the progressive Republicans, the tariff, we are confronted by the familiar fact that Mr. ROOSEVELT has not in all the years of his activity in National affairs shown the faintest real interest in the tariff. There is something approaching the ludicrous in the notion of his leading or joining the insurgent movement on that issue. In other words, it may be said with moderation that, so far as the public is concerned, there is nothing in the insurgent movement, as opposed to the policy of President TAFT, that requires that Mr. ROOSEVELT should put a straw in the way of the President, or should not use his influence quietly to secure harmony in the party under Mr. TAFT's leadership. It cannot safely be inferred that that is his attitude, and the fact, from a party point of view, from the point of view from which he has himself been accustomed to argue when he was the titular leader of his party, is to be regretted.

The situation in New York State is very different. Here Mr. ROOSEVELT has undertaken first to control the managers of the party, with no great success, and then in some matters to oppose them, again unsuccessfully. The issue he has chosen in this matter is not as important as it might be, but his immediate aim—to rescue the party from the demoralizing domination of the selfish and narrow and unscrupulous combination represented by Messrs. BARNES and WOODRUFF—is thoroughly sound. So far as he is prepared to carry that fight he deserves the hearty support of all decent men, and he will get it if he carries the fight far enough. The people of New York, we think, are not greatly excited about the degree of radicalism in the various schemes for direct nominations, but they are deeply interested in honesty in politics, especially since the manifestations of gross dishonesty that were exposed last Winter. They are very tired of rottenness and of the apologists and beneficiaries of rottenness who now run the Republican Party. When Mr. ROOSEVELT is ready to take arms against these he may rely on the solid, steady, strong backing of the great mass of the party. The recent action of the Old Guard appears to constitute a challenge which we profoundly hope that he will accept. It would take him into a field with which he is intimately acquainted, it would give him the chance to do sound and lasting work for a cause with which he is closely connected in the memory of his fellow-citizens, it would add to his honorable record in his home State, and it would strengthen honesty the country over.

WHEN NERO FIDDLED.

We could accept the legend that NERO fiddled while Rome burned with less hesitation if we were quite sure that NERO had a violin and knew how to play it. But we should decline to accept the meaning some sensational historians have imputed to that ill-authenticated incident in any circumstances. NERO may have whistled to keep up his courage. We have never believed that he was as bad a Roman as SUETONIUS says. He was Imperator and his revenues depended largely on the prosperity of Rome. He could not take joy in the wholesale destruction of property. Music does not always express elation of spirits. There be violinists that we have heard, and "heard others praise, and that highly," who have seemed always to bear their hearts in grief.

Sensational historians of the French Revolution have been fond of attributing the Terror directly to the toy Swiss farm of Versailles and the expensive private theatricals of le petit Trianon. Nonsense. The seeds of revolution were sown years before MARIE ANTOINETTE was born. Spain is now in the throes of political agitation. The King's Ministers are confronting a dispute with the Vatican, which day by day strengthens the hopes of a royal pretender, and keeps the radicals and Anarchists in a state of expectancy. But he would be a foolish commentator on grave events who could therefore pretend to find any significance in the spectacle of the King of Spain gaily trying on a woman's picture hat in a Cowes millinery shop.

Probably ALFONSO is not an impressive figure in a picture hat, for though CARLO QUINTO's headgear was somewhat of that order, he was careful to wear other garments to match it. ALFONSO is as serious a monarch as any now in Europe. He is young, and youth without gayety is abnormal. If in an idle moment he tried on a picture hat, to gratify a whim of his Queen, he is not to be charged with lack of comprehension of the situation in his kingdom. Perhaps he did not try on the hat at all. Eyewitnesses are not always to be trusted. Prince MAURICE of Battenberg, his brother-in-law, was with him, and both young men are slender and clean shaven. The Prince may have tried on the hat. He is naturally in a cheerful mood, as he has lately obtained a lucrative job in the tea business. To the censorious mind it seems less culpable for a young man in the tea trade to try on a picture hat than for the ruler of an afflicted kingdom. But the incident has no deep significance.

THE IMPROVING BOND MARKET.

Last week New York City bonds sold at their minimum, but this week there has been such a rebound upward as to attract attention. Yesterday it was announced that New York State Canal bonds were subscribed seven times over, although in July they were unsalable to the public and were bid in for sinking fund purposes. It is even more encouraging that the price at which the bonds were taken was a trifle more than one point above that at which they were thrown back upon the hands of the State.

It is not altogether agreeable that State and city bonds should sell so close to a 4 per cent. yield, but the fact that they are taken at all is worth noting. It is true that they are taken by bankers, and are not sold to final owners, as was the case with Philadelphia's over-the-counter sale at the end of last month. But bankers are traders, not holders, and there is thus the support of skilled and interested judgment for the idea that the bond market is improving.

It is not singular. Those who have seen their principal shrink to the extent of several years' interest in the vicissitudes of the share market are likely to have fresh appreciation of the sweet simplicity of a perfectly assured income with peace of mind o' nights. This feeling is the best sign that fuel will be lacking for speculative excess in either finance or industry, and that new money will be accessible for legitimate uses. Bonds are not issued to put the proceeds in safe deposit. The money is borrowed to be spent in the purchase of labor and supplies. If it cannot be borrowed it cannot be spent, with undesirable results in the slowing down of all processes of production and distribution. There is nothing showy about this sort of finance, but it carries encouragement of a more substantial sort than the daily fluctuations of the Stock Exchange.

THE LADY WITH THE DAGGER.

According to the foreign telegrams two Irish factions had an argument with fists and sticks at Bantry this week, and this is thought to be rather an extreme example of the extent to which politics inflame masculine tempers. But telegrams describing the sessions of the International Charity Congress at Copenhagen supply an example of even more extreme action by one of the theoretically gentler sex. Mme. KLAKOWSKA rushed at the President with a dagger, but missed her stroke and only succeeded in wounding the delegates who seized and disarmed her.

Even the militant suffragettes in London did not assert themselves so energetically, and yet it was alleged by some males that the forwardness and frowardness of their political manners indicated an undesirable tendency associated with the entrance of women into politics. The Copenhagen incident seems to strengthen this view, and yet it must be considered what the lady's provocation was. The Chairman refused to allow her to talk. It will be admitted that he invited his fate. Suffrage is a mere political privilege. Not all males possess it, and women are accustomed to deprivation of it. But the right to the last word, and to as many as wanted, is an inalienable and immemorial natural right. Of course the lady tried to stab the President.

But there is a certain difficulty about the agreeable duty of thus defending the champion of her sweet and gentle sex. It may be admitted that other topics are less exciting, and that ladies in politics, like gentlemen, might be satisfied as a rule to conduct their arguments with the feminine equivalents of brickbats and shillelahs, let us say with hatpins and hair pulling. But no means of conducting politics without conversation is known in the present state of the art, and, as we have seen, there are considerations in connection with conversation which causes dagger play, whether or not it justifies it. Under such conditions there will be men just mean enough to contend that ladies ought not to be exposed to the temptations to get overexcited, which are inseparable incidents of politics.

PUBLIC INTEREST IN THE AIRMEN.

Paris stayed up all night to see the finish of the military aeroplane race from Amiens to Issy, and hundreds of thousands of spectators cheered the victor, LE BLANC, as he descended at dawn yesterday. It is said that the crowds exceeded any ever assembled in the French capital. The interest in the feats of the airmen is unbounded. Nothing now stirs the pulses of all mankind so greatly as the experimental flights of man through the air. The birdman is the man of the hour.

MOISSAN, the young American, yesterday placed himself in the foremost rank of aviators by completing the first stage of his flight from Paris to London, landing at Deal without accident. The manifestation of public interest in this achievement is enormous on both sides of the Channel. None of these airmen, however, has yet accomplished what some of the foreigners and the leading aviators of this country are preparing to attempt, a flight by aeroplane over 1,000 miles of diversified country in the Chicago-New York race of THE NEW YORK TIMES and Chicago Evening Post. We may gain from the accounts of the great public demonstrations aroused by the recent aviation feats abroad an idea of the public excitement that will be caused here by that race through the air and the mighty tribute of enthusiasm the winner will inspire.

WHAT IS "CONSERVATION"?

We are indebted to Dr. GEORGE OTIS SMITH of the United States Geological Survey for an editorial reprint from the Journal of Geology for August, wherein its editor, Dr. T. C. CHAMBERLIN, distinguishes between "conservation" that is political in character and scientific conservation. "It is," Dr. SMITH says, "one of the most virile utterances on the subject that has yet appeared." Dr. CHAMBERLIN's distinction is this:

> The problems of conservation and the problems of possession are distinct questions, each to be solved in its own way and on its own basis. They centre in separate fields. The conservation of natural resources centres in the scientific and the technical; the right of ownership and the most desirable distribution of ownership centre in the political and the sociological. * * * To divide Alaska into 90,000,000 moieties and give each of us one would not settle the problem of the highest utilization of the Alaskan resources. To form an absolute monopoly with 90,000,000 stockholders—call it "Government" or otherwise, as you please—would still leave the problem of conservation untouched. To permit fewer individuals and more corporations to pay the price and divide the ownership, in accordance with our present practice, however proportioned, would equally leave the problem of conservation to be worked out on its own grounds.
> * * * It can only be a careless lapse into confusion of thought, or else a willful perversion of what is legitimate in the arts of persuasion, for an advocate of political or sociological measures to glide without a note of warning from a conservational premise which commands universal assent to a political conclusion respecting ownership or distribution of values which has no logical relation to conservation, and may even be incompatible with its highest realization.

The scientific fitness of Mr. GIFFORD PINCHOT for the work of conserving the forests of this country is unquestioned. But who is more responsible than he for the popular confusion of mind to which Dr. CHAMBERLIN alludes? He started from a conservational premise. But he has reached political conclusions with amazing rapidity.

IDENTIFICATION CARDS.

The identification cards to be issued to persons of good character by the newly created Identification Bureau will, presumably, be useful not only to owners of motor cars charged by policemen with violating the speed laws. Any citizen of good character is reasonably liable of accusation of violating some city ordinance, or other law, in circumstances that would ordinarily cause his arrest. The policemen, after Sept. 1, will carry blank forms for summonses, one of which, when a holder of a card is accused of violating traffic rules or of any other minor offense, will be filled out and given to him. He must obey the summons or be subject to a fine or imprisonment.

Applications for cards have thus far been comparatively few. It will take some time for ordinarily law-abiding citizens to reconcile the idea of carrying an identification card with a photograph attached to save themselves from arrest. People do not go abroad burdened with the fear of arrest. The cards will doubtless be distributed largely among motor car owners who do their own driving and know too well that the police estimate of speed frequently differs from that of the automobilist. Perhaps in time all of us will appreciate the usefulness of the cards. One is likely to have an altercation with an officer of the law at any time. "Move on," uttered by a bluecoat, is often resented by a citizen who feels himself a freeman and acting within his rights, yet defiance of that order may take any man to the bar of a Magistrate's court.

The possible usefulness of a well-attested identification card, so easily obtainable, when one has business at a bank where he is not known by sight will occur to every business man. Holders of accident insurance cards carry identification cards, but they are not available in banks. Perhaps a paying teller might find a Police Department identification card, bearing the holder's photograph, insufficient. The cards are certainly not issued to enable their holders to get money. They are easily obtainable, however, requiring only the trouble of getting an application blank, filling it out, and procuring two circular likenesses of one's self, two inches in diameter, and the cost will be only ten cents. The price recommends them and one can never tell when his card will be handy.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Beating the Birds with Aeroplanes. The race which LE BLANC won with his aeroplane this week against the carrier pigeons might have been won easily by WILBUR WRIGHT in 1904, by ORVILLE WRIGHT in 1908, and by DELAGRANGE, BLERIOT, PAULHAN, SOMMER, CURTISS, LEGAGNEUX, or by any one of half a dozen more of the airmen who have approximated fifty miles an hour on artificial wings. The carrier pigeon's homing flight averages considerably less than a mile a minute.

There are birds that fly swifter than the carrier pigeon—the woodcock, for example, which, by the suddenness and irregularity of its movements after "flushing," often cheats the sportsman's eye. But its characteristic flight along the "cockroads" during the mating season is made steadily and at great speed, the "roading" being upon precise triangular courses from which the bird never deviates. If LE BLANC should dart down upon such a course and catch a woodcock on the wing he might plume himself upon the accomplishment.

Protecting the Farmers. Ready money above the daily needs and overtrustfulness, and not that variety of dishonesty which manifests itself in a willingness to enter get-rich-quick schemes where something for nothing is expected, seem, broadly speaking, to be the reason why so many farmers throughout the country are loaded yearly with all maner of cheap stocks and other worthless paper. When the farmer turns an eager ear to the smooth-tongued promoter who assures him that mine or oil stock, the latter far less oily than himself, will be worth in a few months many times the price at which the farmer is adroitly importuned to buy, he is chiefly a dupe. He needs no help in a horse trade or in the sale or purchase of farm land, but in this stock-trading business he is a babe in the woods. The various granges and other farmers' organizations of the country owe it to him and to themselves to protect him.

> While our farmers have not bought all the gold bricks sold in Maine, still they have more in stock than they are talking about. Bogus mines, fake oil wells, snide quarries, and worthless bonds have been unloaded on our farmers in amounts that would appall us if the facts were known.
>
> The promoter has found our State a profitable field. The results of his labor are seen in the bankruptcy of nearly every person of means in one of our most prosperous villages, and the pauperizing of hundreds of our business men, mechanics, farmers, widows, and orphans.
> These omnivorous sharks spare no one. Trust funds are taken, and the confiding are despoiled. Our mails are flooded with the advertising of so-called industrial schemes which are exploited for the single purpose of selling stock.

The agricultural papers are also joining in the campaign of education and exposure, and the work should be pushed by every possible agency until the swindlers are ousted from their nests, richly feathered by honest and hard-working if overcredulous men, to work for a living or starve. Neither alternative would be altogether displeasing.

Moving Picture Misinformation. Now and then a bit of misinformation about newspaper work is put forward which is thoroughly disgusting to active newspaper workers. The latest attempt to capitalize the glamour with which the popular imagination has surrounded newsgathering and the publication of daily events takes the form of a series of moving pictures announced for early exhibition. They are supposed to depict a typical scene in the city editor's room of a New York newspaper. A story "breaks" and the city editor calls a reporter. The reporter has dined and wined well but unwisely, and is immediately discharged. The next day he overhears two men talking about the financial condition of a bank. One drops a paper and the reporter picks it up. He trails the men to Wall Street.

A succeeding scene shows the Directors of the institution in consultation. The reporter gains admission by returning the paper, and by a trick on the telephone hears the Bank Examiner declare that the bank must close its doors. The reporter notifies the newspaper office and the presses are stopped until he appears and dictates his story to a typist.

Not one essential incident here related would be likely to happen in newspaper life in a hundred years. Reporters do not get news by eavesdropping, and rarely, if ever, by accidentally overhearing conversation. The fact is, a reporter never bothers about conversation between strangers. He goes out on a definite assignment as a rule, and doesn't look around for news like a man seeking something lost, not so much as knowing what it is he seeks. Again, if a reporter picked up a paper he had seen fall he would, as would any one else, promptly return it to the man who dropped it. It is never necessary for a reporter connected with a decent newspaper to resort to a trick to see the officers of a bank or other institution on a matter of business. And no reputable or typical newspaper would be likely to publish a story affecting the standing of a bank without first giving the President or other representative officer of the institution an opportunity for a statement. Certainly none would publish such a story on a statement supposed to have been made by a Bank Examiner and overheard on a telephone by a reporter discharged for drunkenness.

THE PLEA OF INSANITY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

That no man, himself of rational mind, should so sacrifice his sense of justice to popular fervor as to advocate barring the defense of insanity on the question of "Punishing Assaults on Officials" must be conceded. That safeguard must stand as wisely provided. But the shortcoming, or ordering, of our present procedure lies in the method of determining what constitutes insanity. The medical experts have so differentiated forms of "dementia" that with the aid of a well-recognized authority, and astute counsel, almost any one can conveniently be "proved" insane.

We all know that in the extremity of passion we possess insane impulses, and that we are prone to commit acts that we would not think of in our "right minds."

What should be barred, therefore, or judicially confined within proper limits, is the mode of conducting the defense of insanity. The practice of determining insanity merely by the weight of expert theory—not testimony, justly considered—should not be allowed to continue.

The test of rationality should be applied rationally, on the basis of what in general human conception constitutes saneness and insaneness. To that end the accused should be examined as to his antecedents, his previous acts, and his known tendencies—all questions of fact within the province of the jury.

The juror should not be hampered by the necessity of determining which of two well-paid opposing forces of scientific hypothesis seems the weightier.

A man intoxicated is for the time demented, and yet the law, as we are instructed, holds him accountable for his acts at that time, on the ground that he was previously possessed of sane judgment. Therein is illustration of what must be determined by the jury on testimony adduced, not on what two sets of doctors would have the jurors think they think. EXPERIENCED JUROR.

CENTRAL PARK REVISITED.

Returns to the Mall After Six Years—The Changes He Found.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

"The Decay of Central Park." No more fitting term could describe it. In my younger days there was scarcely a greater delight for me than to sit in the Mall and notice from year to year the rows of grand elm tree tops closing in more and more overhead, and I often wondered if I would live to see them meet. In the nineties I made my home in the South, and after an absence of about ten years I returned to this city on a visit, and one of my first acts was to visit the Mall. I was delighted to see that the rows of tree tops had more than closed, and the sight presented was indeed a fascinating one. I found the Park as a whole in prime condition.

After a six years' absence, about two weeks ago I again paid a visit to the Mall and came away with feelings of sadness and indignation that this beautiful spot should have been so neglected, so great was the change I found.

No longer uniform rows of stately trees, but large open gaps and spaces where large trees had been removed and replaced by saplings, while many of the remaining trees had been so mutilated as to take away the grace for which the elm tree is so justly noted. I found the walks everywhere in bad condition, and in a general way deterioration was evident in all parts of the Park—making due allowance for the effects of the long drought.

And the acts of vandalism that the stone terrace carvings presented! I came away with the feeling that the city had more park area than its officials could care for, and that perhaps some other of the outlying parks had been receiving attention at the expense of Central Park.

Certainly, now that the city has some beautiful suburban parks easy of access, the lawns of Central Park should be preserved as objects of beauty to refresh the sight of those who come to visit it. The pleasure of walking and sitting on the lawns in such a well-patronized park is at the best a short one, for as soon as the grass is worn off these privileges cease to be a pleasure, and the ruined appearance of the once beautiful lawn becomes an eyesore besides, and the general disappointment then far exceeds the short pleasure derived from trampling down the beautiful swards. The wealth of this city and the money spent by her to keep her parks in good condition certainly warrant her people to expect that they shall be kept so. B.

Has Found a New and Bully Word.

In two editorial articles of your issue of to-day I note with delight and some enlightenment the use of a very uncommon word. You report in your leading article that the receiver of the Metropolitan Street Railway "plumply says what Receiver Whitridge insinuated," by which I am led to surmise that the latter is not built for "plumply" saying anything, and so must be content with mere insinuation. In the adjoining column I read that in some "pungent document" the citizens of Manitoba "plumply declared" themselves in relation to the Canadian protected interests.

Now, really, this is a bully word, as I appreciate after a hurried and curious reference to my dictionary. I have carefully stored this little gem of speech in my vocabulary box, where I can readily pull it out to surprise and confuse my friends in casual conversation. R. L. S.

For an Up-Town Boat Line.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It seems to me that a boat line from Fort Washington Point to the Battery is not only practical, but would get enough encouragement from riders of the over-crowded Subway to make it pay. With permission from the proper authorities a landing place could be made just south of the point. If this is agitated a little it may serve the end many are looking for. J. W. WINANT.

The Hotter Subway.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Referring to your editorial article of to-day, "A Hotter Subway," I would state that it is entirely feasible to construct one fireproof partition between the two up and down tracks of the Subway, which would practically give the same result of four separate tubes, as the trains in each would travel in the same direction. CARNEGIE'S TESTIMONY.

Considers It an Answer to Senator Lodge's Report on Prices.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Does the tariff imports raise prices both on imported and domestic articles? Senator Lodge, with his Senate Committee on the Cost of Living, says that it does not. Let us see.

Before the Payne tariff bill went through the House of Representatives a series of hearings was held before the Ways and Means Committee, presided over by Mr. Payne. The star witness was Andrew Carnegie. Here is an extract from his testimony. (Hearings, P. 1,816):

> Mr. Bonynge—If we put steel products on the free list, the present price to the consumer would be maintained, in your judgment?
>
> Mr. Carnegie—No, I think that the tendency of combination is to raise prices and to exact from the consumer what they safely can.
>
> Mr. Bonynge—But as to steel rails, I understood you to say, in answer to Mr. Cockran, that you believed the price of $28 would be maintained; if steel rails were put on the free list that the price would be maintained?
>
> Mr. Carnegie—Excuse me; I did not say that the price would be maintained, but I do say that the present arrangement is a fair one, in my judgment, between the consumer and producer. Let me show you the difference. If there is no tariff, the combination comes together and fixes a price, and it will fix a price lower than if there is a tariff. I think you will agree with me that the tendency of human nature is to get a good profit.
>
> Mr. Bonynge—Certainly.
> Mr. Carnegie—And that the tariff would enable them to raise the price to the extent of the duty.

Here is the plain truth of the operation of the tariff tax. If the tariff rate is not so high as to prevent importation of the article taxed, then, upon importation, the amount of the tariff tax is added to the price of the imported article, and an equal, or nearly equal, amount is added to the price of the domestic article of the same kind, the first tax going into the United States Treasury, the second into the pockets of the domestic manufacturer. That's what he calls "protection"—the extra amount extracted from his fellow-citizens in the price of the domestic article, as a result of the tariff on the imported article.

But if the tariff rate is so high that the article cannot be imported, then the increased price, to the extent of the tariff, goes only on the domestic article of the same kind. All this surplus of price goes to the protected manufacturer and not a cent to the Treasury. This is the "perfect flower" of protection, as illustrated substantially in many of the prohibitive schedules of the Payne bill.

Yet Senator Lodge says (just before the Congressional elections) that the tariff does not increase the cost of living.

FORCED ALIMONY.

The Law Provides Protection for a Husband in Poverty.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

My attention has just been drawn to a letter signed "Lawyer," which recently appeared in your columns. The writer cited several decisions of the Supreme Court, with the intention of proving that the law of this State is so kindly to women as to forget to be just to men. The decisions in question, however, prove nothing of the kind. It is indeed true that our Judges have uniformly held that poverty is no defense to a motion to punish for contempt of court a man who has failed to pay the alimony previously ordered. The reason is simple enough. One Judge will not presume to overrule and set aside the decisions of another Judge of equal jurisdiction. Were it otherwise litigation would become interminable and our courts would present an example of utter chaos.

Alimony is not assigned as a matter of course, nor on an ex parte application. It is granted only after suit for divorce, separation, or annulment of marriage has actually been brought. To obtain an order for alimony the wife must have a formal motion brought, and must prove affirmatively by affidavits that she has a good prima facie case, whether as plaintiff or as defendant. She must also show that her husband has an income sufficient to pay the alimony asked for. The husband has full opportunity to present counter proof and to make the utmost of the plea of poverty. If an unreasonably large allowance is made he has the right to appeal from the decision of the Judge to a higher tribunal. If his circumstances change for the worse after the granting of the order he may at any time move for a reduction of the amount of alimony, on making proof of the facts, and has again the privilege of appealing from an adverse decision.

While the courts may err in individual cases, it must be presumed that their general intention is to be fair, and that a man is seldom ordered to pay alimony beyond what is warranted by his income. At least, he has had full opportunity to be heard, and the regularity of judicial procedure makes it necessary to assume that he has suffered no injustice by the order made. If he disobeys it he is cited and punished for contempt, just as he would be for disobedience of any other court order, since the court must protect the validity of its own mandates. It is naturally then too late to plead poverty. JAMES F. MORTON, Jr.

VACATION CALENDARS.

HIS.

I mind me it was Monday when we met.
The mem'ry of those gray eyes haunts me yet.

On Tuesday we were partners in the dance.
My pulse thrilled at your most indifferent glance!

What time we crossed the lake, on Wednesday eve,
Your round arm touched my most prosaic sleeve.

Moonlighted was the porch, on Thursday night.
I felt the glamour of those tresses bright.

On Friday, as through meadows we did stroll,
Your lightest word brought rapture to my soul.

Dost thou remember, Sweet, 'twas Saturday,
Those red lips stole my willing heart away?

While church bells echoed Sunday through the glen,
One whisper made me happiest of men!

HERS.

I knew that an impression I had made
On Monday, with that gown, a turquois shade!

His glances told his story, Tuesday night.
A picture I, in robe and snood of white!

In sailor suit, on Wednesday, by the lake,
I felt that he'd leave home for my dear sake!

Came Thursday, no man could forbear to flirt!
A dream was I, in new pink hobble skirt.

And when on Friday I donned a pale green frock,
My smartness gave all bystanders a shock!

On Saturday, in garb like soft gray mist,
No man my fascinations could resist.

On Sunday, foxy girl, I wore pale rose,
Inevitable, that he should propose!

DUO.

Delightful days we've passed by wood and fen.
Perhaps next Summer we may meet again!

ROCKAWAY CAMPERS MUST FLIT AWAY

Magistrate Gilroy Tells Them to be Gone by To-night or Trouble Will Come to Them.

REALTY CO. CLEARS TITLE

And Tenters Squatting on the Beach Can't Raise an Issue in Court as They Did Once.

Final notice was served yesterday afternoon on the tenters beyond Rockaway Beach on the property of the Neponsit Realty Company that they must clear out bag and baggage by to-night, or that the law would deal severely with them. Representatives of the company applied yesterday afternoon to Magistrate Eugene C. Gilroy in the Far Rockaway Court for a dozen warrants against the men in camp.

As their names were not known the warrants were made out to John, Richard, James, and various other Does, and two courts officers were sent after them. They discovered about forty tents with plenty of women and children, but only one old man and three youths. They left the old man and the women and children unmolested, but brought the three young men to court. There they gave their names as Henry Berghauser of 508 Ralph Street, Brooklyn; Cornelius Shephard of 120 Court Street, Brooklyn, and Ariel Gilean of Fulton and Lefferts Streets, Richmond Hill.

They explained to Magistrate Gilroy that they understood that the title to the property was in doubt, and that the encampment would be allowed this year by the Neponsit Realty Company on much the same terms as last year, when a compromise was eached with the tenters by which they were required to pay $1.50 a week rent. The young men referred to the proceedings which had taken place before Magistrate Gilroy last month, at which he had dismissed the complaints against the tenters.

On that occasion the campers-out were represented by Oliver P. Carpenter, a lawyer, with offices in the Tribune Building, who brought forward evidence to show that the Federal Government had some claim to the property on the ground that it had acquired a site there for a blockhouse during the War of 1812 and had later occupied the same site for a life-saving station.

The company, on the other hand, produced deeds which it asserted established its title to the tract. Magistrate Gilroy declared that there was here a conflict of evidence, which it was impossible for him to decide. It was necessary, he declared, for the company if it wished a conviction to make its title to the land absolutely clear, and as they had not done so, in his opinion he gave the defendants the benefit of the doubt and dismissed them.

When the defendants in yesterday's case referred to this decision Magistrate Gilroy asked them if they had not been informed that since then the Neponsit Realty Company and the Federal authorities had come to an agreement, and that Judge Thomas L. Chatfield of the United States Circuit Court, Brooklyn, had signed a decree on Aug. 10 validating it. By it the title of the Neponsit Realty Company to all the tract was cleared of any rights the Federal Government might have over the land, with the exception of fifteen acres at the extreme point, which the Government retained for its own uses.

The defendants denied all knowledge of this and asserted that they had been acting in good faith. Representatives of the Realty Company who were in court declared that it had no desire to press the case against these three individuals as long as the tenters departed, and the court officers who had been to the beach stated that already preparations for the flitting of the campers were in progress.

In these circumstances Magistrate Gilroy paroled the defendants till Friday morning. He bade them tell their fellow-tenters that they must all get away before to-night or he would punish severely any of them brought before him.

The decision of the United States Circuit Court of Brooklyn has not only given a clear title to the Neponsit Realty Company of the undeveloped tract, but has also established the titles of a number of small investors whose titles had been guaranteed by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company.

WIN THOMSON SCHOLARSHIPS

G. F. Wolfe and M. R. Strong Receive Penn. R. R. Educational Benefits.

George F. Wolfe of Youngwood, Penn., and M. Roy Strong of Cleveland, Ohio, were announced yesterday as the successful candidates for the Frank Thomson Scholarships. With the addition of these two young men, there will be eight holders of these scholarships, which amount to $600 annually, and which are awarded upon a competitive examination, to sons of employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad System.

Young Wolfe is a son of George B. Wolfe, a locomotive engineer, on the Southwest Branch of the Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He is 17 years old and has just graduated from the high school in Greensburg, Penn. He expects to enter the Civil Engineering Department of Lehigh University.

M. Roy Strong is a son of Arthur W. Strong, telegraph operator, on the Cleveland & Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania lines. He has been attending the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio. He is 21 years of age, and expects to continue at the Case School. Strong is at present a member of the engineer corps on the Cleveland & Pittsburg division.

The Thomson Scholarships were established by Anne Thomson, Frank Graham Thomson, and Clark Thomson, children of the late President Frank Thomson of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The grantors of this trust fund of $120,000 declared it was their desire to afford to the sons of living and dead employes of the Pennsylvania System an opportunity for a technical education.

TERMINAL RATE 5 CENTS.

This Will Be Added to Fares to Long Island City.

It was announced at the office of the Public Service Commission yesterday that the Long Island Railroad Company has filed a schedule showing the rate to be charged to the Pennsylvania Terminal in Manhattan. The actual use of this terminal will be begun on Sept. 8, when trains will be run under the East River.

The rate to the terminal will be 5 cents in addition to the fare to Long Island City. This is 2 cents excess over the fare to Thirty-fourth Street, Manhattan. For instance, the fare from Jamaica will be 25 cents to Long Island City, 28 cents to Thirty-fourth Street, and 30 cents to the Pennsylvania Terminal, and commutation rates $6, $7.05, and $8 respectively.

With popular subscriptions in New Orleans this will give the promoters of the exposition considerably more than the $7,500,000 recommended by Congress.

Webster defines an echo as a sound reflected from an opposing surface and repeated to the ear of a listener, and by the same token there is going to be a lot of repercussion of the word "success" to describe the effect of the very delightful entertainment at the Globe Theatre last night. For, as the German comedian might put it, the echo listens good. It is, in fact, just what the programme calls it—a singing and dancing frolic.

The first act moves with such swiftness and such a series of charming novelties and surprises, that it is impossible to keep up the pace in the second, but the general net result is one of the brightest, neatest, cleanest, and most entertaining musical shows that Broadway has seen in many a long day.

There is not a trace of vulgarity in it, horseplay is eliminated, and success is due to the individual cleverness of the principals, aided and abetted by a very youthful and attractive chorus, all extremely well generaled by Mr. Frederick G. Latham, who has evolved some most attractive evolutions for the ponies and their grownup sisters.

"Like "The Old Town," which preceded it at this theatre, "The Echo" is essentially a dancing show, with about every variety of terpsichorean display imaginable, from old-fashioned clogging to the latest Russian craze, with Miss Bessie McCoy's unusual style to add a delightfully individual touch. Here Miss McCoy's nimble toes are allowed to touch the firmament, so to speak, for "The Echo" raises her to stardom. But the mistake has not been made of giving her more prominence than she can easily and gracefully justify.

In the tenuous musical comedy plot she is a hotel waitress—and a very fetching one, though not in the approved style—with a charming costume of blue and white to set off her blonde beauty, which proves the undoing of Reggie Brewster, who ought to be "the life of the party," according to the programme, but really isn't, as, indeed, what man would be who is head over heels in love, and with a proud mamma disapproving?

As for the rest of the plot it concerns principally nothing if you omit the made-to-order echo which gives its name to the mountain hotel into which a wealthy soap manufacturer, Rudolph W. Sylvester, wanders for no particular reason that can be seen except to give Mr. John E. Hazzard a chance to exercise his very amusing broken English and various other neat talents.

In the hotel as manager Douglas Stevenson breaks very pleasantly into song on various occasions, and J. J. Scannell, as bellboy, succeeding "Johnny" Ford on very short notice, proves that a conscientious understudy can be a very amusing substitute. Eva Fallon, the Dolly Sisters, Georgia Drew Mendum, and that perennial ingenue Mrs. Annie Yeamans, to whom the house rose with enthusiasm, are others who help to keep the musical comedy pot a-boiling during a large part of the time. Mrs. Yeamans is as young and frisky as ever, and if she enjoyed her reception half as much as the audience enjoyed her. She must have had a happy night.

Two youngsters, George White and Ben Ryan, with their clogging, cut a good deal of a figure in their one brief specialty, and a surprise of the night was a troupe of swarthy-skinned musicians and dancers, one of whom played a guitar with marvelous effect, getting tones of almost incredible sweetness from the instrument.

Then, by way of continuing the all-nations carnival of dancing, the newly imported trio of Russians appeared. Some cheerful individual had sprinkled the stage just prior to their entrance, so they labored under a severe handicap, but despite some unexpected skidding it was apparent that they are fine dancers, and the audience, both appreciative and sympathetic, rewarded them with much applause.

Mlle. Lopokova is a dainty and graceful little woman, and M. Volinine, her partner in the pas de duex, appeared to be a man of exceptional charm and ease, but neither their dancing nor that of M. Lopokov, somewhat more acrobatic, could be fairly judged on the slippery stage.

Miss McCoy's songs and dances included a very pleasing one, "The French Fandango," a hobble skirt dance, really something of a stunt, and a Soldier Boy entrance, with the ponies accompanying her much as did the Yama Yamas in her famous old number. It is scarcely so effective as the latter, but pretty enough to please and it was heartily encored. Another dainty tune, "I'm Waiting Here for Kate," introduced the chorus and the principals in a charming ensemble, as did "Heigh-Ho," which, presumably, according to the shreds of the plot that were audible now and then was what led Rudolph Sylvester to leave his happy soap-factory home.

Rudolph (that is to say, Mr. Hazzard) has a session at a blackboard in which he gives the girls a lesson in reading that is decidedly funny, and there is much fun in a scene in which he is interviewed by Laura Short, a newspaper correspondent, played very nicely by Georgie Drew Mendum.

The dressing is charmingly simple and in excellent taste as to lines and color cominations, and as book and music, by Le Baron and Taylor, provide good opportunities for all the clever people in the cast, "The Echo" promises to make itself heard for a good many weeks to come.

MAYOR'S BEST DAY IN SPITE OF ALARMS

NO OPERATION FOR A WEEK

His Throat Is Swollen, but He Partakes of Solid Food with Relish —Still Some Danger.

From in and about St. Mary's Hospital in Hoboken, where Mayor Gaynor has been confined since he was shot nine days ago, alarms took rise yesterday, and spread into rumors of such disquieting proportions that the physicians, after full consultation last night, gave out the strongest reassurance to be carried back to New York.

Here is their bulletin, which was issued at 9:15 P. M.:

> To-day has been the best day the Mayor has passed since receiving his injury, and this evening he is stronger than at any previous time.
>
> There is no foundation for the alarming rumors that have been in circulation. If conditions continue satisfactory, as they now are, only two daily bulletins will hereafter be issued.
>
> WILLIAM J. ARLITZ, M. D.
> GEORGE E. BREWER, M. D.
> GEORGE D. STEWART, M. D.
> CHARLES N. DOWD, M. D.
> JOHN W. PARRISH, M. D.

Robert Adamson, the Mayor's secretary, added that the patient's temperature at 6 o'clock was 99.2, in itself a reassuring statement.

Scepticism of the bulletins, which have been confined to generalities, has been increasing among the watchers in Hoboken, and when none at all was given out yesterday noon, alarm took firm hold.

Alarm Spreads to City Hall.

It spread to City Hall and was soon all over the city. The rumors were obviously wildcat.

Helen Gaynor and her sister Gertrude, who saw their father on Tuesday, returned to St. James to stay there until he is ready to leave the hospital. Thomas Gaynor, coming from Baltimore, went to his brother's bedside yesterday to see things with his own eyes before returning to Springfield, Ill., where he is a candidate for Sheriff. He told Mrs. Gaynor that he was delighted with the Mayor's progress, and many were reassured when they heard that he had started for home last night.

The reports that the bulletins had been too optimistic from the start, and in fact inaccurate, were made known by a TIMES reporter to one of the well-known surgeons who is attending the Mayor.

"These stories are not true," said the surgeon, "and I do not believe that any one connected with the Mayor is responsible for the circulation of such reports. The bulletins have been as accurate as physicians could make them from the beginning up to the present time, accurate in every detail, including pulse, temperature, and respiration. And the Mayor has improved steadily from the start."

Another story, coming from a source near the Mayor, was to the effect that the physicians were growing alarmed over the condition of his throat, where the glands, it was said, were so swollen that there was danger of a secondary hemorrhage, due to a slightly displaced muscle pressing on an artery abraded by the entering bullet. Secretary Adamson and Dr. Arlitz admitted that the Mayor's throat is swollen, but that it is no worse than it was the day before, and that it is causing them no alarm. "The Mayor is stronger every day," Mr. Adamson said last night.

The alarm was given a slight impetus by the fact that a number of the Mayor's official family went to Hoboken at once, as though they had been suddenly summoned.

Family Not Alarmed.

It was pointed out that there are certain of the Mayor's family and certain of his official friends who are in constant touch with the physicians, and these last night assured the reporters that they felt none of the alarm.

When Dr. Stewart arrived last night with his grip some one whispered "instruments," and agitation was revived for the space of a breath. It was dispelled when he explained that the bag contained pajamas and shaving materials. He was prepared for his night watch.

The Mayor took his first really solid food yesterday in the form of three pieces of toast softened in milk. He relished it. He had slept well the night before and the doctors so reported at daybreak. At 8 o'clock they issued this bulletin:

> The Mayor has passed a very good night. He has slept well. He has enjoyed his breakfast and is gaining in strength. His temperature is 99 1-5, his pulse 70, and his respiration 16.
> CHARLES N. DOWD, M. D.

It was explained that there will be no operation for a week at least, unless there develops some reason not now apparent among his symptoms. The operation for the bullet might easily be delayed for months, one doctor said. It will be a simple one, requiring no local anaesthetics; just a single cut in the membrane, the application of forceps, and the thing will be done.

Among the callers at the hospital were Acting Mayor Mitchel, Borough President McAneny, Police Commissioner Baker, Executive Secretary Meloney, Fire Commissioner Waldo, and Health Commissioner Lederle. None of them was taken to the sick room, but they returned to City Hall with reports that sounded much like the official bulletins, optimistic and general.

A dispatch from Utica informed New York yesterday that when the Mayor is moved he will be taken to Litchfield Park, a reserve in the big woods owned by a close friend. A former member of the Utica police force, it is said, is Superintendent of the park, and will be held responsible for the Mayor's safety. At the hospital last night it was said that no definite arrangement has yet been made. The Mayor himself had been sounded on the subject.

"I rather think I'd like to try St. James," he said very meekly.

The Grand Lodge of the New York State Odd Fellows, in annual session at Binghamton, sent resolutions yesterday deploring the murderous attack on the Mayor. Resolutions of good-will and sympathy were also received from the New York Lodge, No. 1, B. P. O. Elks, and from the Executive Committee of the Board of Education.

A Midnight Rumor.

Observations of the lights in the hospital near the Mayor's room shortly before last midnight gave rise to rumors that either an operation had been performed on the Mayor or that a special examination of his throat had been undertaken. Dr. Arlitz absolutely denied that anything of the sort had taken place.

Watchers outside the hospital noticed that the lights in the operating room, which is just across the passage from the Mayor's room, were burning brightly. Two men were seen in it and then a man, who it was thought was Dr. Arlitz dressed in white, went into the Mayor's room. The observers declared that they saw Dr. Arlitz and another come out from the Mayor's room, walking together, but apart, as though they had something between them, and as they went the Mayor's lights were turned down.

For twenty-five minutes they continued low while the operating room was brightly illuminated. Then again the Mayor's room was lit up for a few minutes while the operating room grew dark. From all this was deduced that the Mayor had been taken for some special purpose across the hall to the operating chamber. When Dr. Arlitz was asked if this was not so he replied:

"The Mayor has never left his room at all. No operation would be performed at night except in case of great emergency on account of the light. There is something going on in the operating room all the time, and probably what was seen had to do with an entirely different case."

Dr. Arlitz also stated that the Mayor had been sleeping, but was awake when he saw him a little before midnight. He was quite comfortable, he said.

DUKE BEHIND THE SCENES.

Franz Josef of Bavaria Meets and Praises Chorus Girls.

Duke Franz Josef of Bavaria, who arrived in New York Tuesday for a tour of the United States, had his first sample of American musical comedy last night when he attended the performance of "Up and Down Broadway" at the Casino Theatre. The Duke, with a party of men friends, occupied one of the lower stage boxes, and appeared to enjoy the performance. He understands English well enough to appreciate much of the dialogue, and those jokes that were made up of American slang were translated by one of his companions.

After the first act the Duke and several of his party went behind the scenes and were introduced to several of the principals of the company. His Highness said the American chorus girls surpassed his expectations for beauty and intelligence, although he had been told much about them.

The Duke's companions included Capt. von Lossow of the German Army and Count Wendell of the German Embassy at Washington. Lee Shubert and A. Toxen Worm acted as guides behind the scenes.

MISS CLARK FOR "BABY MINE"

Grace George Not to Appear in New Comedy—Performance Postponed.

Another announcement about the cast for the opening of "Baby Mine" came out last night, and this one is said to be the final word in the changing and rechanging of plans regarding the New York opening of the comedy.

This time Mr. Brady says that the play will be presented at Daly's Theatre next Tuesday night, instead of to-night, and that the principal rôles will be played by Marguerite Clark and Walter Jones instead of by Grace George and Frank Worthing. When the first announcement of the opening was made it was stated that Miss George would play the young wife and that Mr. Worthing, hastening from England on a fast steamer, would have the part of the friend of the family.

Then it developed that Miss George's appearance in the play was by no means certain, which development was followed by an announcement that she would positively appear. Tuesday it was reported that she wouldn't and that Miss Clark would cut short a Western stock engagement and take the part in the play, she having originated the rôle in the Chicago production last Spring. That report was not confirmed, however, until last night, when the postponement of the opening date and the positive appearance of Miss Clark was announced. The postponement of the first performance from Thursday to Tuesday was said to be due to Miss Clark's desire for more rehearsals.

Besides Miss Clark and Mr. Jones, other members of the company will be Ernest Glendinning, John E. Mackin, E. D. Cromwell, Harry H. Hart, Ivy Troutman, Sara Biala, and Ruth Findlay.

KITTY GORDON ARRIVES.

English Actress Obliged to Unpack Her Trunks on the Pier.

Among the arrivals on the Carmania of the Cunard Line yesterday was Kitty Gordon, the English actress who is to appear under Joe Weber's management in "Alma, Where Do You Live?" and she inadvertently gave the customs officials a two hours' entertainment before she left the pier.

Although Miss Gordon has been in this country before, she forgot the customs regulations, and packed her theatrical wardrobe in the same trunks with her personal belongings. To separate the articles to be bonded from those she was permitted to enter free it was necessary to unpack all of her trunks and two large hat cases and strew the pier with wearing apparel.

AMATEUR CIRCUS A BIG EVENT

Given at Larchmont and Seats Sold as High as $25.

The amateur circus given by the society set of Larchmont for the benefit of the Larchmont Fire Department proved a big attraction for the residents and the yachtsmen along the Sound last night. The performance was held in a large tent at the corner of Park Road and Beach Avenue and fully a thousand persons were present. Many society folk occupied the sixty boxes and paid as high as $25 each for seats.

The members of the ambulance corps acted as ushers, among them being Wesley M. Oler, President of the American Ice Company; S. P. Hodgmann, the rubber manufacturer; Capt. John McClintock, a retired army officer, and Drs. W. E. Bullard and John C. Fordyce. There were twenty-three acts and the talent was supplied principally by New York vaudeville houses. Local talent was represented by Miss Maude Daniels, daughter of Frank Daniels, who drove a team of ponies tandem fashion, and Miss L. Thompson of Rye, who performed some hurdling feats.

CLOAK STRIKE RIOTS KEEP COURTS BUSY

WORKERS ARE THREATENED

Employers Open Shops in Nearby Towns and Are Getting Out Fall Orders—Cutters Ready to Surrender.

Although more than a dozen striking cloak and suit makers were arraigned in the Essex Market and Jefferson Market Courts yesterday charged with attacking workers in cloak and suit factories, and one was sent to the Workhouse, their fellows continued their assaults yesterday upon the men employed in their places.

Two men were arrested in Sixth Avenue, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth Streets, for beating Samuel Stein, a tailor, of 1,730 Madison Avenue, and three more were arrested in the same neighborhood after a crowd of fifty set upon Charles Martin, a tailor, of 440 West Twenty-second Street.

The prisoners were locked up in the New West Twentieth Street Police Station on charges of assault. Stein was hurt so seriously an ambulance was called from the New York Hospital.

Six strikers were arraigned in Jefferson Market Court. Four were fined $10 each and one held for trial for felonious assault. Harry Shulkin of 220 Cherry Street was sent to the Workhouse. Charles Rendig of the firm of Silver & Co., 6 East Thirty-fourth Street, charged that Shulkin had come upon him in Fifth Avenue, near Thirty-second Street, yesterday morning, and struck him in the face. Rendig chased the man for several blocks, caught him, and then had him arrested.

Magistrate Corrigan held Isadore Katz of 723 Sixth Street for the Grand Jury on the charge of Policeman Mononey that Katz had thrown a brick at him. Moroney dodged the brick, which went through the window of a department store.

In Essex Market Court Harry Groer of 379 Elton Avenue, the Bronx, and Herman Dorman of 60 Gouverneur Street were held on complaint of Simon Harris of 271 East Broadway that they had broken into his shop Tuesday afternoon and wrecked it. Twenty-one other strikers were arraigned in the same court. Seventeen were charged with malicious mischief by Jacob Shechter of 29 East Broadway, whose place a mob stormed and wrecked on Tuesday night. All were held for trial.

Testimony that the strikers still are employing intimidating tactics to prevent workmen from returning to their jobs was received by a member of the Manufacturers' Association, who said that a letter had been received from the wife of an operative who said that four or five times a day she was visited by strikers who demanded to know where her husband was and who, the letter stated, "made all sorts of threats, saying they would kill my husband on sight."

"I am sorry it is impossible for me to come to work, because it is dangerous to go home, and I cannot sleep down there," ran another letter, while a third stated: "I took the chance of coming down to work, but I was held up by a gang, and had it not been for some of our old tailors I would have been badly injured. If it were possible I would come to work, because I need to support my family."

The effect of the six weeks' strike is beginning to make itself felt among employers and strikers alike. Many of the larger manufacturers already have opened shops in New Jersey and Connecticut, and are turning out goods for the Fall trade there.

A committee of Italian operatives visited the Hoffman House yesterday to tell the manufacturers they were ready to return to work as soon as they could get their jobs back. The foremen cutters and contractors also notified the employers that they had determined to return to work in a body on Friday. Already the strikers affected have lost $9,000,000 in wages, as the weekly wage roll of the trade approximated $1,500,000.

Several of the smaller employers who had signed with the union sent their men away yesterday rather than submit, as they reported to the employers' association, to the dictation of the shop delegates which the union placed in their signed shops.

TO RESPECT ULTIMATUM.

Ten of Thirteen Bricklayers' Unions Will Let Men Continue Work.

It was estimated yesterday by the striking bricklyers that ten of the thirteen unions will vote to respect the ultimatum of the Mason Builders' Association and give men to finish the contracts of F. B. Nesbit & Co., and that three will refuse to call off the strike. Two locals already have voted against calling off the strike.

A meeting of the Board of Governors of the Building Trades Employers' Association was held yesterday afternoon, but it did not take up the strike situation. It was stated that the employers will take no action until to-morrow, when the ultimatum goes into effect. If a lockout is necessary, it will be called by the Board of Governors.

One of the unions which has decided to disregard the ultimatum also resolved not to return to work unless they get 75 cents an hour, an advance of 5 cents.

A KNOWN FACT

Economy on a building operation depends especially upon three things:
Cost of Construction.
Quality of Work.
Time of Erection.

Now it is apparent that the Contractor who does most of the actual building direct saves Sub-Contractors' profits, ensures proper quality, and is in the best possible position to facilitate speed.

And it is a known fact that we are that Contractor.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks, More Active, Continue Advance—Call Money Rates, 1½@1¾ Per Cent.

GRAIN LOWER; COTTON HIGHER

Steel Trade Continues Very Dull—Further Advance in Sterling Exchange Rates.

Trading on the Stock Exchange yesterday presented a record both of increased activity and of further advances in a considerable majority of the active issues, but there were a sufficient number of exceptions to the general upward movement to give the market an appearance of some irregularity. The metal shares were among those which showed net losses for the day, being influenced by denials of renewed reports regarding the successful conclusion of a curtailment programme by some of the world's leading producers of copper. It was in this group of stocks that the most noteworthy exceptions to the day's upward movement were noted, but there were declines in some other quarters of the list as well, but none of these were important enough to more than moderately offset the marked strength displayed by the great majority of other issues. The extent of the advance which was added yesterday to the market's previous improvement is indicated by such net gains as 1 in United States Steel, 1⅝ in Union Pacific and Reading, 1 in Atchison, and numerous other advances, some of them in the less active issues amounting to upward of 2 points.

The grain markets receded further yesterday to the accompaniment of reports of a favorable character regarding weather conditions, particularly in the corn territory, which further strengthened the belief that conditions since the first of the month have gone far toward offsetting the impairment to corn which was threatened by the severe heat of the latter part of July and which was reflected in the Government's latest crop report. Cotton on the other hand was higher yesterday, the several options showing advances of from 13 to 19 points. Continued dullness in the iron trade was noted in the weekly review of The Iron Age, which recorded among other indications of reduced production the closing down of two additional furnaces of the United States Steel Corporation since the opening of this month. This organ of the steel trade, however, notes that the new orders now coming to hand are as deceptive a measure of consumption as were the very heavy orders which were being received during the Fall of 1909. Another advance in foreign exchange rates carried demand sterling 20 points higher, to well above $4.86, further removing this market from the chances of an early resumption of the gold import movement.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—A drop of about a point in Lehigh Valley was the chief factor of interest on the local Exchange during the early trading. Comparatively little stock was offered, however, and the price scored a partial recovery with apparent ease. United States Steel was the only other issue which developed any signs of life, and this was at the cost of a moderate fraction in its quotation. Elsewhere things were so quiet as to be scarcely worthy of record, barring a bulge of a point in the Asphalts in the afternoon. Tonopah Belmont appeared to be for sale in some quantities and lost a fraction.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Irregular Price Movements During Session of Light Trading on the Curb.

CONSPICUOUS EXCEPTIONS

Chino Copper and Intercontinental Rubber Make Sharp Advances—Subway Less Active, but Strong.

The movements of Curb prices were somewhat irregular yesterday, and trading except in a few issues was in small volume, such stocks as Miami and Nipissing not appearing at all in the reported sales. Chino continued its activity, rising from 14½ to 15⅛, closing at 14¾ after transactions of 7,600 shares. Many of the other coppers made declines of small fractions. Chicago Subway continued around the high levels recently established, although trading was in diminished volume. In the industrial list interest was attracted to Intercontinental Rubber, which reported transactions of 2,200 shares, the price moving up from 24⅝ to 25½.

⁂

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Wednesday.

Opposition to the advance continued to be displayed by the professional traders on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. They offered stocks freely all day. At the top of the rise, in the late afternoon, the leading shares in most cases were obtainable at a fraction under the New York Stock Exchange ruling high figures. Commission houses continued to report a considerable enlargement in the volume of buying orders for odd lots. The trading list for the day was a broad one, including sixty-two different stocks, with the transactions totaling 80,070 shares.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Rumored Railroad Deals.

Encouraged by the strength which the market has lately been displaying a variety of reports are coming into circulation regarding new railroad deals, most of which are based on various assumptions regarding the final outcome of the recent purchases of large blocks of Rock Island and other stocks. The Rock Island stocks, particularly the preferred, within the last few days, have risen sharply on light transactions, and one of the reports which found most frequent repetition yesterday was that already a lodging place had been found for the Rock Island recently purchased by the bankers who came to the relief of the overextended syndicate which held the largest single block of the stock. As the story ran, the Rock Island was to be turned over to the Southern Pacific, and this system made an integral part of the Harriman lines. No reference was made in these reports to the bearing which the still pending Government suit against the Harriman lines might have on any suggestion looking to the absorption of the Rock Island by the Southern Pacific, but the spirit in which the Street discussed the report yesterday did not carry the discussion to a point at which consideration would have to be given to this feature of the matter.

Copper Merger Still in Future.

A spokesman for a copper-producing interest which would necessarily have to be included in any effective agreement for a curtailment of the world's coppper production, in denying the accuracy of reports current in London that a curtailment plan had been outlined and agreed to by the leading copper producers of the world, said that such an agreement was impracticable, and that the only efficient curtailment of the market production was one which would be brought about by an actual consolidation of the principal producers of this country. There is good reason to believe that hope has not been abandoned by the leading copper interests of this country to effect an important consolidation of copper-producing companies, but the chances seem to be all against any active effort being made in this direction, at least until the Supreme Court, by its decision in the so-called "anti-trust" cases now pending before that tribunal, affords an opportunity to form a more intelligent decision regarding the lines upon which a copper merger could be brought about with [illegible] able expectation of its being able to stand the test of the courts.

Stock Market Recovery.

The vigor with which the market, with few interruptions, has advanced during the last ten days or more began yesterday to call out comparisons by market observers of the prices prevailing in the day's session with the figures to which the leading active stocks declined during the active period of precipitous selling which culminated during the last week of July. How far this recovery has gone in some of the stocks which have been most conspicuous in the recent trading is indicated by this comparison of the low prices of July 26 last with the closing prices of yesterday:

	Low July 26.	Close Yes'day.	Total Adv.
Amalgamated	55⅛	67⅛	12
American Smelting	61⅝	69	7⅜
Atchison	90⅛	101⅝	11½

Southern Pacific	103¼	117⅞	14⅝

United States Steel	61⅛	73½	12⅜

The Rail Order for Mexico.

The sale announced yesterday of 10,000 tons of 75-pound rails to the National Railways of Mexico "after close competition" aroused interest yesterday because of the stories promptly denied of shading of the standard price of $28 a ton for this class of steel product. Rails have been maintained at $28 a ton for standard weights for eight years, and the established price has survived three periods of price cutting in other classes of steel. While the denials of the steel producers of cuts in rails for domestic consumption are not in question, there is a great deal of unsatisfied curiosity as to the price at which railmakers have been recently seeking foreign business. That there is no longer an "international pool" among the railmakers seems to be established by the competition which is now current. Only a short time ago the Mexican railroad was looking favorably on a bid for its business from Belgian makers, and it was said that the Belgian price was such as to make it certain that the order would go abroad.

Visible Copper Abroad.

The semi-monthly figures of the visible supply of copper abroad, as published in London yesterday, put the stock at 96,770 tons, (216,764,800 pounds,) compared with 99,250 tons on Aug 1, and 103,970 tons on July 1. Foreign visible stocks were at their maximum Feb. 15, when there were 255,584,000 pounds reported abroad, and the decline since that date has aggregated 38,819,200 pounds. In this country the stocks reported by the Copper Producers' Association have increased 72,177,339 pounds, which leaves a net increase in the world's visible supply of 33,358,129 pounds. How closely the foreign figures represent actual surplus copper is the cause of much difference of opinion in the trade.

Oppose Triple Holiday.

There have been several National holidays on Monday this year, and on the Saturday preceding each the Stock Exchange has been closed by the pretty nearly unanimous desire of the active members. The proposal to close on the Saturday before Labor Day is meeting with some opposition. The Governing Committee has adjourned for the Summer, but a special meeting to pass on the holiday question would be called in the natural course of events. Those who are circulating the petition for closing the Exchange on Saturday, Sept. 3, are not likely to bring the matter up before the Governors without an overwhelming showing of signatures.

Col. Thomas L. Livermore Retires.

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—Col. Thomas L. Livermore, First Vice President of the Calumet and Hecla Mining Company, severed his official connection of twenty-one years with the company at its annual meeting in this city to-day. Only half a dozen stockholders were present, in addition to the Board of Directors. The old Directorate was re-elected. Resolutions on the death of Alexander Agassiz, late President of the company, were unanimously adopted, and the vacancy caused by Col. Livermore's retirement was filled by the advancement of Rodolphe L. Agassiz, the Second Vice President of the company. Mr. Agassiz's place was not filled at today's meeting.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—After a rather quiet opening the undertone quickly became strong, and prices in the Boston market continued to advance throughout the session. Among issues prominent in the day's trading were Amalgamated, Indiana, Lake, and North Butte. The close was steady at about the best prices of the day.

CRAIG & JENKS DENY WHAT TANNER SAYS

STATEMENT FROM BALDWIN

Cotton Firm's Attorney Says He Knew Nothing of Government Action Until After It Was Begun.

Explicit denials were made both by Craig & Jenks and by Ernest E. Baldwin, their counsel, yesterday, of the statements contained in the affidavit of W. B. Tanner, Treasurer of the Montgomery Cotton Mills of Montgomery, Ala., purporting to reveal the origin of the Federal action against the leaders of the bull campaign in cotton of the past season. Ever since the prosecution of the cotton bulls under the Sherman law they have been open in their assertions that the Federal action was instigated by their enemies in the market, the speculative bears and the dealers in spot cotton. No attempt was made to directly connect any one of the bear leaders with the prosecution until the circulation within the past few days of the Tanner affidavit, extracts from which were published in THE TIMES yesterday.

Tanner alleged that he had sent a copy of the agreement between the cotton bulls and the Southern mill interests, which was made the basis of the Federal action, to Craig & Jenks and in confidence; that they had shown it or copies of it to the McFadden interests and to David H. Miller. He also alleged that Attorney Baldwin had tried to influence him to turn State's evidence.

Ernest E. Baldwin made it clear yesterday that he had no part in the matter until after the Federal proceedings had been started and the brokers subpoenaed. He declined to discuss the Tanner affidavit in detail at this time, but said:

"I was not consulted by Craig & Jenks or any other client in the matter, nor had I heard anything of the Federal investigation until the same day or perhaps the day after the subpoenas were served. I have every reason to believe that no person connected with Craig & Jenks had any part in instigating the investigation, directly or indirectly, or had anything to do with it. As far as I know, the Federal action was as much of a surprise to them as it was to me."

As to Tanner's sworn statement that Baldwin made an effort to induce him to turn State's evidence, Mr. Baldwin denied that he had advised him one way or the other, but had specifically declined to give him advice when he asked for it. "Mr. Craig," he added, "when appealed to by Tanner for light as to what would be the proper course, told him to take his gruel and stand by his friends."

Members of the firm of Craig & Jenks, when apprised of the contents of the Tanner affidavit by a TIMES reporter on Tuesday night, declined to discuss it. After the publication of the Tanner allegations yesterday they sent this letter to THE TIMES:

> To the Editor of The New York Times:
>
> We would thank you to publish in your paper in answer to your column in this morning's edition, entitled "Cotton Bears Back of Federal Inquiry":
>
> That neither our firm, nor any member thereof, had anything to do with the instigation of this investigation by the Government, either directly or indirectly; nor did we in any way violate any confidences between ourselves and Mr. Tanner, or any other person, concerning the same, nor did our firm, or any person connected with our firm, advise Mr. Tanner to turn State's evidence for the purpose of receiving immunity.
>
> We did, however, long prior to any overt investigation by the Government, advise our customers who had solicited our opinion in the matter, against entering into the agreement referred to, and still strongly advise against entering into a combination which we consider illegal and uncommercial.
>
> Very respectfully yours,
> CRAIG & JENKS.
> New York, Aug. 17, 1910.

No campaign on the Cotton Exchange has ever aroused as much bitter feeling as the bull movement engineered by the Patten-Hayne pool. As an outcome of the Federal action against the bull leaders, for which the indicted men have been endeavoring to hold their market enemies responsible, brokers expect a market war which may last for years.

BANKRUPTS ARRESTED.

Receiver Accuses Skirtmakers of Preparing to Leave the City.

On a writ issued yesterday by Judge Hough of the United States District Court, Federal Deputy Marshal Beatty arrested William Steinberg and Charles Cohan, partners in the Bon Ton Skirt Company, doing business at 65 East Twelfth Street, who went into bankruptcy on Aug. 9, with liabilities of $15,000 and no assets.

The writ was issued on the application of Harry Osterman, the receiver in bankruptcy, who stated that Steinberg and Cohan had assigned their accounts, given a chattel mortgage on their place of business to one Frank Mandel, and he feared they were about to leave the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court. He stated also that he considered the partners to be important witnesses in the proceedings, and in addition alleges this against them:

"The bankrupts were in the city and went to one of the discount companies and there boasted that they had removed every single dollar that they ever had, and had done such a clean job that even the fixtures were mortgaged, and that the creditors would not get one cent."

Judge Hough fixed bail at $10,000 each, and directed that the bankrupts be brought before United States Commissioner Alexander for examination as to their business affairs. Unable to obtain bondsmen, Steinberg and Cohan were committed to Ludlow Street Jail.

CONDEMN JERSEY AUTO LAW.

Motorists There Want Outside Licenses Recognized Without a Fee.

At a mass meeting of New Jersey autoists held in Newark last night at the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club resolutions were passed advocating such a change in the New Jersey law as will permit non-resident motorists properly registered in their home States to tour in New Jersey for a limited period each year without any license formality whatever.

J. B. R. Smith, State Commissioner of motor vehicles, made an address in which he advocated a convention of State delegates to agree upon a uniform law. The meeting rejected this plan as requiring too long a time to produce results. Senator Frelinghuysen, last year's leader of the State Senate and father of the present New Jersey statute, was roundly berated.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Happenings of a Day in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Money and discount rates were firm, but unchanged to-day.

The stock market continued dull, with public dealings limited. Consols and other gilt-edged securities were favored by a little investment buying, but this did not affect prices in other directions. Home rails were dull and Kaffirs uncertain. Diamond shares were in better demand, principally for the Continent.

American securities opened above parity, but the support was soon withdrawn, and the market declined under the lead of Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé and Union Pacific. After Wall Street opened selling from that quarter caused further losses. Trading diminished in the last hour, and the market closed steady.

Bar silver steady; 24⅛d. per ounce.

Money, 1¼@1½ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2⅝@2½ per cent.; for three months' bills, 2⅝@2 11-16 per cent.

Gold premiums are quoted as follows: At Madrid, 7.80; at Lisbon, 6.50.

PARIS, Aug. 17.—A firm tone prevailed on the Bourse to-day.

IRON AND STEEL NOTES.

Finished Materials Steadier and Better Conditions Looked for in Fall.

Commenting on the general trade situation, The Iron Age says:

> The stagnation in iron and steel markets continues to contrast sharply with the large tonnage that is moving from blast furnaces and rolling mills to distributers and consumers. New orders are as deceptive as a measure of consumption, now that buying is for immediate needs, as they were in the Fall of 1909, when on a rising market contracts were being made running months ahead.
>
> That prices have not yielded under continued dullness is due to months of profitable business and to the fact that as a rule buyers are still taking full shipments under their contracts. There is no indication of any survival-of-the-fittest campaign for orders at cut prices.
>
> The principal rail order reported is for 10,000 tons for the National Railways of Mexico, taken by the Lackawanna Steel Company in close competition. These lines are expected to make further purchases this year. The Illinois Steel Company has taken a domestic order for 9,000 tons of Bessemer rails.
>
> Pig iron buying has become even more contracted. A few large melters have made offers under the lowest prices actually done, but furnaces have promptly refused them. The situation will bear close watching. If it should force much further cutting down of production the withdrawal of present prices might be rather abrupt.

The Iron Trade Review says:

> Prices of finished materials show increasing steadiness and sentiment that better conditions will prevail in the Fall is growing stronger. The United States Steel Corporation is now operating about 70 per cent. of its blast furnace capacity.
>
> The pig iron market in the Central West is extremely quiet and in the South reports from Birmingham indicate some increase in firmness in prices, but Southern iron can still be bought for $11 at the furnace for No. 2. In plates and shapes quotations of 1.40c. Pittsburg, are being well maintained. Sheet prices continue unsteady and a Chicago broker caused some excitement during the past few days by sending out a circular offering black sheets at $1 per ton below any prices heretofore quoted. Makers of special sheets used by automobile companies are feeling severely the depression in the automobile trade.

MONEY STRINGENCY UNLIKELY

Treasury Officials Think Crops Can Be Moved Without One.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Reports from the West and the Middle West now seem to indicate that there will be no heavy drain on the Eastern banks to pay for the crop movement, which will begin within the next few weeks. Since the possibilities of a stringency were first recognized early in the year the liquidation in the stock market, the checking of farm loans by the banks of the Middle West by increased rates of interest and a general clearing of the financial atmosphere have eased the tension.

Some time ago it was predicted that the Western banks, because of heavy loans, would have to draw more heavily than usual on their Eastern connections. Fears were expressed that because of the large amounts of money which had been diverted to the development projects and investments in unimproved lands in the West, the movement of money from East to West would be greater than usual.

Treasury observers now think the crop movement situation is entirely normal.

THE COMMODITIES MARKETS.

The wheat market was irregular and very nervous all the session, closing at a general decline for the day in the American markets. The Winnipeg market closed at an advance of ⅝ to ¾ of a cent. The cables had considerable influence on the market. Both the English and French markets were disappointing, and there were reports of better weather in France. Later the Liverpool market rallied, accompanied by reports of bad weather in France, and this, with reports of about fifty loads of wheat for export besides 100,000 bushels from the Pacific Coast for France, led to a quick rally in the market. The upward movement was also influenced by a number of dispatches asserting frost in the Canadian Northwest, while the strength of the Canadian market had a good deal of effect. Near the close the denial of the bad weather in France and reports that the French demand was temporarily satisfied caused a little local speculative selling. The Western movement was heavy, although not so large as the last week, but still continued very decidedly in excess of a year ago, while shipments from the interior are much less than a year ago. Yield reports in the Northwest are still encouraging for a larger crop than expected on the Government estimate. The condition of the flour trade is very unsatisfactory, and the flour output in the Northwest is less than last year. The situation seems to depend on the persistency of the French demand.

Cash wheat quoted: No. 2 red Winter, $1.07¾, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight; No. 2 red, spot, nominal, new, $1.09, free on board afloat, for export; No. 1 Northern Spring wheat, $1.23¾, nominal; No. 2 hard Winter, new, $1.10⅛, and No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.16⅛. Sales include 4,000 bushels red Winter, $1.08⅛; 1,000 bushels steamer No. 2 red Winter, $1.07⅝, elevated, domestic. Export sales, 8,000 bushels red Winter, New York; 200,000 bushels, Manitoba, via Montreal; 132,000 bushels red Winter, from Philadelphia; 28,000 bushels Manitoba, via Boston; 40,000 bushels hard Winter, Chicago to France.

Corn was lower and final prices were at a net decline of about ⅜c. The decline was due to weather conditions. There were further rains in Kansas, Nebraska, and Iowa, and with the rains in the Lake Region and Ohio Valley there has been general relief. Last week the rains extended all through the Missouri Valley and Southwest, excepting Texas, but there was no rain in the Ohio Valley. This week there has been some rain in the Ohio Valley, but not general. Cash corn quoted: No. 2, 71⅝c, nominal, elevated, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight, domestic basis, and steamer, nominal, elevated, export basis.

Oats were moderately active and also lower, closing at ¼@⅜c decline. The receipts were heavy, and the demand for cash stuff of rather limited proportions. In three days receipts have increased 3,000,000 bushels over the enormous receipts of last week, and 4,300,000 bushels over a year ago, while shipments from the interior are no larger than a year ago. Cash oats quoted: Standards, 41½c; No. 2 white, 42@42½c; No. 3 white, 41½@42c; No. 4 white, 41@41½c, all regular track.

Provisions were dull and without particular feature. Prices showed some little irregularity, and pork sold off in the afternoon. The market developed but little speculative interest from day to day.

COTTON.

The cotton market was strong and there was a large trade. The opening was in advance, and with general commission houses buying and covering by shorts prices continued to work up and were very firm in the afternoon. The advance seemed to be due to a feeling of apprehension regarding the crop, brought about by the crop reports issued early which showed greater deterioration in Texas than looked for, and less improvement elsewhere. The Giles report made the condition of cotton 73.2, against 76.4 in July and 80.5 last month. The condition was 3.2 above last year, but 10.5 less than two years ago. A report credited to the Mercantile Crop Reporting Bureau claimed promise for less than 11,000,000 bales. The Giles report made the decline in Texas 12 points, although it stated that the prospects in Texas were for about 3,350,000 bales, which compares with 2,400,000 bales last year, and is much more than the recent minimum estimate. It also placed the Oklahoma promise at 1,000,000 bales, against 552,000 bales last year. The popular estimates on the crop range from 11,000,000 to 12,000,000 bales. Receipts of new cotton were again large, and the cotton is being moved to New York in considerable volume. There was further decrease in local stock of cotton to-day, and the aggregate is now down to 129,000 bales. The bulls have moved out, it is claimed, about 101,000 bales since Aug. 1, while the bears have moved in only about 15,000 bales. The receipts the next few weeks, however, are expected to be important.

Southern spot markets unchanged to 1/16c decline.

New York spot cotton quiet, 20 points advance; middling uplands, 15.90; middling Gulf, 16.15.

COFFEE.

Coffee was quiet, steady, unchanged, to 2 points advance and later gained strength. There was a better demand for September. Sentiment was affected by firmness in Europe, the strength in Brazil, and the advance of 1-16 in Brazilian exchange. At the close prices were steady at a net advance of 3@10 points, with sales of 46,000 bags. Havre, after showing changes both ways, closed at a net advance of ½f, while Hamburg was ¼@½ pfennig higher. In Brazil the Rio market was unchanged and Santos was unchanged for 4s and 50 reis higher for 7s. The visible supply of Brazilian coffee in and afloat for the United States was 3,196,859 bags, against 3,667,980 last year and 3,815,506 two years ago.

HOLD TENNIS TITLE IN DOUBLES PLAY

Hackett and Alexander Defeat Strong California Pair in Challenge Match at Newport.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 17.—Frederick B. Alexander and Harold H. Hackett successfully defended their holding of the National championship lawn tennis doubles to-day on the turf courts of the Casino. In the great challenge match, which is the first of the National titles to be decided here in the thirtieth all-comers' tournament, the defending pair defeated the challengers, Thomas C. Bundy and Trowbridge W. Hendrick, the Pacific Coast champions of California, in three straight sets, 6—1, 8—6, 6—3.

Relatively the champions met a stronger pair and their victory is all the more creditable, for on general brilliancy of executive and on speed of shots Bundy and Hendrick excelled. But the champions through long association and experience used tricks of strategy at critical points that baffled their challengers. Alexander's feints for direction frequently fooled the Californians. Then Alexander and Hackett for steadiness surprised the pair from the Coast, as the total tally of outs and nets revealed. Alexander and Hackett made only 29 outs to 35 for the challengers, while the total of nets was 25 for the champions to 33 for their opponents. Not a wide margin, but sufficient to turn the tide of victory into defeat.

At the beginning of the second set the Californians struck their gait. Directing a fusillade of shots at Alexander and opening up gaps for drives along the sides and centre they went to the front at 3—love. Alexander was having trouble, as many of his returns were landing in the net and foot faults were frequent. He, however, relieved himself when he toed the service line for the sixth game. He won it at love by fast returns and direct smashing through Bundy's court. Sharply played rallies under high lobbs made the next game interesting, and as each side brought out splendid crossing drives with the points six times at deuce the crowd cheered their brilliant work. But the game and the next found the champions steady, although the Californians displayed splendid tactics, using high lobbs offensively and volleying and smashing at the net on the returns. With the games at 4—all Bundy again made his wonderful service good for a love game, as the champions could no nothing effectively with the erratic ball. In the ninth game they were twice within a point of the set, but both Hackett and Alexander called all of their skill into play and by adroitly changing pace and varying direction avoided the danger point so that the games tallied 5—all. Love games on service alternated at 6—all. Then at the critical moment the champions forced through Bundy's service, taking the final at love.

The third set was fast and well played. The Californians were finding the strategy and forcing of the champions too much for them. They won only the first, third, and sixth games.

The all-comers' singles progressed through the third round. Interest was divided here between the Californians and the showing of Beals C. Wright, the ex-champion. In his match Wright outplayed and outgeneraled Nathaniel W. Niles of Harvard, 6—4, 3—6, 6—3, 6—3.

RACE IN HEAVY SEAS.

The special regatta of the Riverside Yacht Club of Riverside, Conn., for championship classes was held yesterday in the Sound opposite Captain's Island over the course mapped out by the committee. Notwithstanding the strength of the wind, which blew at a rate of forty miles an hour practically the entire day, some of the boats which had to come from a distance were present, and the first race was started promptly at 1:10 P. M. This was the special yawl class, although there was only one boat prepared to start, the Memory, owned by R. H. Nexsen of Riverside. The course was sailed over by her alone in 2:50:11 for the 14½-mile course.

The next race was the class for New York Yacht Club 30-footers. This contest was by far the most exciting feature of the day. There were only two yachts to take part, the Nepsi, owned by Johnson De Forest, and the Rowdy, owned by H. S. Duell. The Rowdy crossed the starting line 5 minutes before time for the race to begin, thus gaining a big start over the Nepsi. Instead of recalling the Rowdy, the committee let the race go on, and, much to the pleasure and surprise of those present, the handicapped yacht covered the course of 14½ nautical miles in 2:54:42, and beat her opponent by nearly 2½ minutes. The Rowdy finished in 2:27:15.

What came near being a tragedy in the last race was the capsizing of the dory Snark, that took place soon after she had crossed the starting line. The accident was witnessed by those on board the committee boat, who soon rescued the crew of the upturned racer and took them ashore.

The heavy seas that were running all day in the Sound prevented the yachts from breaking any records.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The northwestern high pressure area noted Tuesday night now covers the region from the Rocky Mountains to the middle Mississippi Valley and into the lake districts, and showers occurred generally over this territory, with a considerable fall in temperature. High temperatures continued in the Ohio Valley, but in the Atlantic States the weather was cooler, with some light rains. Owing to the prevailing high pressure east of the Rocky Mountains, moderately cool weather will prevail over northern districts for several days. Slight depressions between the two high areas indicate that unsettled weather, with occasional showers, will continue Thursday east of the Mississippi River.

Winds along the New England Coast will be moderate northeast to east; Middle Atlantic Coast, light to moderate northeast to east; South Atlantic Coast, light to moderate and mostly southeast.

Steamships departing Thursday for European ports will have moderate northeast to east winds, with fair weather, to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND FRIDAY.

Eastern New York—Partly cloudy Thursday and Friday; cooler Friday in the interior; moderate east winds, becoming variable.

New Jersey—Partly cloudy Thursday and Friday; cooler Friday in west portion; light to moderate northeast winds, becoming variable.

New England—Partly cloudy Thursday and Friday; moderate east winds, becoming variable.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Partly cloudy and slightly warmer Thursday. Friday, partly cloudy and cooler; light to moderate northeast winds, becoming variable.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

The Market Dull and Inactive—Purchase in 43d and 44th Streets Made for Academy of Medicine—Colwell Lead Company Buys in the Bronx—Suburban Sales.

The realty market suffered its usual mid-week slump yesterday, and few sales of importance were reported either by brokers or investors.

The report that the purchase made by Dr. Reginald H. Sayre, in Forty-third and Forty-fourth Streets, near Fifth Avenue, was for the extension of the Academy of Medicine, was confirmed. No definite plans have been prepared for the improvement of the property, however, and it is not likely that definite action will be taken until the meeting of the Academy on Sept. 28.

The Colwell Lead Company purchased a plot in the Bronx at auction, and the Long Island Railroad Company bought a strip of land in Flushing for the purpose of illuminating a dangerous crossing.

Buyer of 54th Street Property.

James C. McGuire is reported to be the buyer of 118 to 124 East Fifty-fourth Street, sold recently by the estate of John D. Wing and E. Victor Loew. The Wing property was acquired direct and the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, acted as broker in the sale of the Loew property.

Realty Co. Buys on St. Nicholas Ave.

The Macrau Realty Company is the purchaser of the plot at 921 St. Nicholas Avenue, sold recently by Daniel H. Renton & Son for Julia Leffler. The plot, 50 by 100, on the south side of 144th Street, 156 feet west of Broadway, was given in exchange.

Deal In East Harlem.

Arthur D. V. Lyons has sold 235 East 126th Street, a three-story dwelling, with store, on lot 16.8 by 99.11.

Lead Co. Buys Bronx Site.

The Colwell Lead Company purchased yesterday a plot in the Bronx on which it will in the near future erect a building for its own use. The site involves a plot 72.7 by 75, on the east side of Jackson Avenue, 100 feet south of 161st Street. The property was sold in foreclosure proceedings by Joseph P. Day and brought $11,476. The Colwell Lead Company is at present located in leased quarters at Lafayette and Worth Streets.

N. Y. Central Buys Acreage.

The New York Central Railroad acquired yesterday the holdings of the Robert J. Hoguet estate, lying to the west of the railroad tracks and extending to the Hudson River, between 141st and 143d Streets.

The railroad is making extensive additions to its realty holdings along the river at this point, with a view to increasing its trackage and building docks.

L. I. Railroad Buys in Flushing.

With the intention of eliminating the dangerous crossing at Broadway and Twenty-second Street in Flushing the Long Island Railroad Company has purchased from the Rickert-Finlay Realty Company a strip of land extending 858 feet along the right of way of the road, just west of the station.

The railroad company will use the land for elevating the tracks at that crossing. In the work of electrification, because of differences with the city authorities over an agreement to share the cost, it had been intended to continue the crossing at grade. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment and the railroad company have, however, come to an agreement regarding the splitting of the cost of the change, and the elevation of the tracks will follow.

It is also reported that the railroad company has planned to elevate in the near future all its tracks at the crossings between Main Street and Broadway, Flushing.

Brooklyn Sales.

William G. Morrisey has sold for the Abels-Gold Realty Company to an investor two three-story brick stores and apartments on the north side of De Kalb Avenue, between Franklin Avenue and Skillman Street.

Meruff & May sold for a client to S. Kops, for investment, 495 Park Place, a four-story brick single apartment house.

Suburban Sales.

W. H. Dennis has sold at Woodmere to a client plot 121 and ten feet adjoining for the Far Rockaway Investing Company. The purchaser plans to build.

Hornor & Co. have sold for the estate of George Crocker twenty and one-quarter acres, with large house and other outbuildings at Tarrytown, situated on Broadway. The property was held at $80,000. The buyer purchased this property for investment. The same firm has also sold for the Dyckman estate a small tract of five and one-third acres at Hastings, situated on Broadway, at the junction of Old Post Road. The buyer purchased this property for investment.

Warehouse to Replace Trinity's Tenements.

Plans have been filed for building a six-story brick warehouse on the site of some of the old-fashioned tenements of the Corporation of Trinity Church, which were recently torn down. The location of this warehouse is on the north side of Clarkson Street, 117 feet east of Greenwich Street. The building will be six stories high, with a frontage of 49.11 feet and a depth of 100.5 feet, of brick with limestone trimmings, and is estimated to cost $55,000. Charles C. Haight is the architect.

Quarters for Budget Exhibit.

The budget exhibit will be held by the city in the Tefft-Weller Building, 326 Broadway, between Pearl and Worth Streets. A lease of the premises for the month of October, at $3,000, has been approved by the Sinking Fund Commission.

$1,000,000 in Leases.

The Charles F. Noyes Company has been appointed exclusive agent for the sixteen-story office building now in course of erection at the northeast corner of John and Dutch Streets. The building will be completed May 1 next, and while the steel work has not yet been commenced the Noyes Company announces that leases have been concluded for long term periods with the following well-known insurance interests: A large underwriting space on the ground floor, with the entire sixteenth floor, to the J. G. Hilliard Agency; space on the ground floor and the entire fifteenth floor to the Kelly & Fuller Agency; the entire second floor to John A. Eckert & Co.; underwriting space on the ground floor to the W. B. Ogden & Son Agency, and the entire tenth floor to a prominent foreign accident company. In addition to these important leases a number of smaller offices have been rented throughout the building. These leases aggregate over $1,000,000, and the character of the tenants taking space in the building clearly demonstrates that it will be one of the leading buildings for fire insurance interests in the new insurance centre.

Notes.

Spear & Co. have been appointed agents by the I. B. Kleinert Rubber Company for their building, 103 and 105 Greene Street.

The H. M. Weill Company negotiated the sale of 416 to 422 West Thirty-third Street, reported yesterday.

OFFICER KILLS DESPERADO.

Sheriff Also May Die as a Result of a Street Fight.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 17.—In a street fight between two alleged horse thieves and several Sheriff's officers here to-day George Chitwood, one of the thieves, was killed by a Deputy Sheriff, and Sheriff Jade Houpt was probably fatally wounded.

Sheriff Houpt and a posse had been endeavoring to arrest George Chitwood and his brother for the last week on a charge of horse stealing. The Chitwoods rode up to the Sheriff's office to-day and asked if they were wanted. When placed under arrest they dashed from the Court House, the officers in pursuit.

As the desperadoes reached the street the officers opened fire, the men returning it. One of the Chitwoods succeeded in mounting his horse, but the animal was shot under him. The horse, however, was forced to arise, and Chitwood rode through Ouachita Avenue, brandishing his revolver and ordering every one from the streets. He escaped to the mountains.

Deputy Houpt pursued George Chitwood. He jumped into a buggy and fought off the officer with a whip until shot in the abdomen and killed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Prosecution for alleged vivisection of dogs by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture and several other Government bureaus here is threatened by the Washington Humane Society.

The Secretary of the organization said to-day that evidence is being gathered, and that if the law which allows vivisection for experimental purposes in the District under the supervision of recognized medical colleges or scientific societies is construed also to embrace Government institutions, an effort will be made to have a law passed prohibiting vivisection in the District under any circumstances.

BUSINESS TROUBLES

EDWARD V. KRAUS.—Judge Hough has appointed A. J. Bimberg receiver in bankruptcy for Edward V. Kraus, furniture, 705 Third Avenue; bond, $1,000; assets estimated $1,500.

SAUNDERSON & CO.—Judge Hough has confirmed a composition with creditors of the Saunderson Company, wholesale pipes, valves, and oils, 435 West Broadway, at 30 cents on the dollar, payable 25 cents cash and 5 cents, note at three months; liabilities, $70,106; assets, $35,824.

FLAUMENBAUM & TANENBAUM.—Judge Hough has dismissed a petition in bankruptcy filed on Aug. 2 against Flaumenbaum & Tanenbaum, wholesale cotton goods, 336 Canal Street, on a settlement at 20 cents on the dollar, payable 10 cents cash and 10 cents in notes at two and three months; liabilities, $8,200.

IKONOGRAPH COMPANY OF AMERICA.—Judge Hough has appointed Ralph Julian Sachers receiver for the Ikonograph Company of America, moving-picture machines, 515 West Twenty-ninth Street, bond $3,000, and authorized him to continue business for thirty days as there are $8,000 of orders on hand. Sachers is Secretary of the company and his appointment was requested by twenty-five creditors, whose claims aggregate $11,000.

ABRAHAM GUSSOW.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Abraham Gussow, women's underwear, 139 Spring Street, by H. B. Claflin Company, Galland-Cohn-Hall Company, and M. P. Tuttle Company. A year ago his financial statement showed assets of $74,000 and liabilities of $36,000. Judge Hough appointed Arthur J. Cohen receiver on application of Charles L. Greenhall, who said that the liabilities now are $25,000 and assets about $5,500.

NEWFIELD & NEWFIELD.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Newfield & Newfield, Inc., importers of post cards at 369 Broadway, by R. Priester & Co., Solomon Jandorf, and Beger & Rockel. Judge Hough appointed William Henkel, Jr., receiver, bond $2,000, and authorized him to continue business for ten days. Liabilities, $25,000; assets, $5,000. The corporation recently offered to settle at 25 cents on the dollar, payable 10 cents cash and 15 cents in notes.

THE ALBERT HOTEL COMPANY, which has conducted the Hotel Albert, University Place and Eleventh Street, has had a meeting of creditors to arrange a settlement of its financial affairs. The company owes about $50,000 for rent and taxes, and about $16,000 for supplies. The assets consist of wines and liquors, provisions, and outstanding accounts aggregating about $6,000, which is to be divided among the creditors. The landlord waives claims to the stock and will go on with the business. Creditors have agreed not to take any bankruptcy proceedings. One reason for the embarrassment of the company is that business was restricted by alterations in the buildings, which cost $35,000. This upset the place and kept away trade. It is expected the creditors will receive about 35 to 40 per cent.

JOSEPH GERALD DE POLO, insurance broker, 16 Exchange Place, has filed a petition in bankruptcy; liabilities, $69,198; nominal assets, $1,500, being a fourth interest in land in Colombia, South America, held in the name of A. P. Eschevira. The debts were contracted between 1887 and 1894 and were mainly for indorsing drafts and notes for other parties. The creditors are the Western National Bank, American Exchange National Bank, Dr. Julio J. Henna, and International Silver Company. Mr. De Polo filed a petition in bankruptcy on Nov. 2, 1903, which was closed up without a discharge on Sept. 25, 1907. A question was raised in the old petition as to whether a foreigner could go through bankruptcy here by the American Exchange National Bank. De Polo took exception to this charge and declared he was a citizen because his father was naturalized in 1872, when he was 8 years old.

BOOKER WASHINGTON ADDRESSES NEGROES

URGES THEM TO SAVE MONEY

More Than 1,100 Representatives of 25 States Meet in Palm Garden—Welcomed by McAneny.

"To him that hath shall be given" was the text of a speech last night by Booker T. Washington, President of the National Negro Business League, to 1,100 delegates, from twenty-five States, who had gathered in the auditorium of Palm Garden, 150 East Fifty-eighth Street, to attend the eleventh annual session of the organization, which will last three days.

The text served to explain one of the objects of these meetings and it furnished President Washington with the basis for a sermon to his listeners. It served to explain these annual sessions of the league, for at them advertisement is made of what the race already hath. For, according to President Washington, the more you advertise what you have the more you are likely to get.

"I know a young negro," he said, "who came down to Alabama with a diploma from a medical college, a dollar or so, and some good clothes. On the strength of the clothes he bought a horse and buggy, and for four or five weeks he went tearing all through the town in it. He had no time to stop for anything, seemingly. He had plenty of patients, it appeared. 'To him that hath shall be given.' In a litlte while he really had patients."

President Washington then went on to tell what the 10,000,000 negroes in this country have got since they were made free. He said the negroes of this city have $2,000,000 in the bank.

"Any man, black or white, who can save any money in this city," said the speaker, "is a marvel to me."

Negroes Now Worth $600,000,000.

The negroes of Georgia, the speaker said, paid last year taxes on 1,536,766 acres of land, and added to their land holdings 47,045 acres. The negroes of Virginia paid taxes on 1,517,500 acres of land last year, and on property valued at more than $26,000,000. He estimated that the negroes of this country are adding from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 to their holdings every year, and believed that they are now worth in the aggregate not far from $600,000,000.

"To him that hath shall be given," the speaker put in at intervals, and each time the growingly enthusiastic audience applauded thunderously.

The negro has other things than material wealth, pointed out President Washington. There are ten million of them, all speaking the same language, and many of them living in the same section of the country. But they can live where they please, can own property, enter into any business they see fit. And many white people of the old countries do not enjoy these advantages, he pointed out.

The negro race is a new one, he said. Many of the old white races have gone to seed; the negro has the future ahead of him. Sister Susie met Sister Calline on the road, down in Alabama, one Sunday morning.

"Where you gwine, Sister Susie?" asked Sister Calline.

"Lawsee, Sister Calline," answered Sister Susie, "I'se done been where I'se gwine."

The negro race has not "done been," pointed out President Washington, with enthusiasm; it's on its way. He said he told Charles W. Eliot, who recently resigned as Harvard's President, not long ago what the negroes had done since their freedom.

"You are too modest," he quoted Mr. Eliot as saying. "You should make more of it. No race in the world has made such progress in the same time."

The negroes, too, had the right of organizing as many secret societies as they liked in this country, President Washington said, with a smile, a privilege they enjoy more than any race of people under the sun. He said he met an old negro woman not long ago in Georgia, who had been a widow a week, less one day.

"My ol' man done me mo' good in de las' six days," she said, "dan in all de twenty-fo' years we lived togedder."

She had got $600 from a sick benefit organization.

The speaker referred to the recent killings of negroes. He said that not one in ten of them was for alleged assaults upon women.

Asks Fair Enforcement of Law.

"I plead everywhere for equal and exact enforcement of the laws, not only in the interest of the colored race," he went on, "but in the interest of all races, for without law enforcement our civilization will disappear, and we shall as a Nation become an object of ridicule to the other nations."

He cautioned his hearers against taking stock in negroes who want to organize companies to get something for nothing or to do things too quickly. No negro can get something for nothing, he declared, and it is safest for them to begin in a small way.

"I am always proud," he declared, "that I started Tuskegee in a hencoop."

He complimented Walter Bell, the colored chicken king of Anacostia, D. C., who, he said, started with one egg and now supplies the whole of the District of Columbia with eggs and chickens.

Most of yesterday's sessions were occupied by delegates telling how they had got ahead in their trades, professions, or businesses.

Samuel Plato, an architect of Marion, Ind., told how he had built himself up until he was, he declared, the leading architect of that city. P. L. Allston of Boston told how he had risen from a bottle washer to be head of the laboratory of one of the largest chemical factories in the world.

Welcomed by the Borough President.

When the league convened yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock Borough President George McAneny, who was scheduled to welcome the delegates to the city, had not arrived, and the time was filled in by a quartet.

When he came in at 11 o'clock he was escorted by Dr. Washington and Charles W. Anderson, Collector of Internal Revenues. Mr. McAneny said it was a "rare personal privilege to greet" the delegates. He said that Mayor Gaynor, who had promised to be at the meeting if he were within a hundred miles of New York, had inquired about the meeting since the attempt on his life.

Answering in behalf of the league, Charles W. Anderson said that this was an "Edisonic-electro-telephonic" age, and that the man who did not have his shirt off, working, was going to find himself far behind the band wagon.

It was a great age, too, for the negro, he went on. He advised his hearers to get money, get as much of it as they could, and get it as quickly as they could, keeping within justice and equity all the time, however

On motion of Scipio Jones of Little Rock, Ark., resolutions were adopted expressing regret at the attack on Mayor Gaynor and extending the sympathy of the league to his family.

Dr. George A. Gates of Fiske University, a negro institution at Nashville, Tenn., pleaded with the negroes, whom he called "our people," since he had joined in the work for them, to develop a spirit of pride and independence. So long as the ten million negroes of this country relied on the white people, he said, so long as they patterned after them, so long, in short, as they lived the lives of parasites on the white race, just so long would they hold the degrading and degenerating position of parasites. The destruction of the race lay in that direction, he said.

The meeting was adjourned shortly after 2 o'clock. Some of the delegates paid a visit to the Chamber of Commerce, and several committees went into executive session.

It was announced at yesterday's meeting that Col. Roosevelt would deliver an address to the league to-morrow at noon. At to-day's session Oswall Garrison Villard, editor of The Evening Post, will speak.

SHE POPPED THE QUESTION.

Atlantic City Heiress Finds and Weds Her Fiance After Long Separation.

Special to The New York Times.

THOUSAND ISLAND PARK, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The marriage yesterday of Miss Lota Baldwin of Atlantic City and George Roqovoy, a Russian violinist, at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage here by the Rev. E. J. Lavis, ends a romance covering a period of seven years.

The bride is a granddaughter of Major Herbrich of Heidelberg, Germany, who died recently and left her sole heiress to a large estate. A few weeks ago she received $40,000 from the estate of her mother. She first met Roqovoy in Berlin in 1903, and the two became engaged. Both were then under 18. Miss Baldwin's parents objected to the match and brought her back to America. Three years later she returned to Europe and tried to find her lover, but was unsuccessful, and did not meet him again until Thursday evening last, when, while dining at the Frontenac Hotel, she recognized him in the orchestra.

Their acquaintance was renewed, and on Friday the marriage was agreed upon. Miss Baldwin admits that she had "popped the question." They hurried to the minister, but found that a license was necessary, and lost three days seeking one. Mr. Roqovoy said he would not break his contract with the hotel. When the season ends the couple will go abroad. Mrs. Roqovoy left to-night for New York.

During the last seven years Roqovoy has traveled all over Europe. He was the favorite musician at the Russian Court, and the Czar decorated him. Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and King Alfonso of Spain, it is said, presented him with jewels. Coming to America last year, Roqovoy was a member for a time of the White House orchestra. He has been playing at the Frontenac Hotel for two seasons.

DEFENDS BRIDGE SERVICE.

No Decrease of Cars in Rush Hours, Says the B. R. T.

In connection with a report of the Department of Bridges issued on Tuesday, showing a decrease in the number of elevated trains and surface cars operated across the Brooklyn Bridge during the month of July, as compared with the service for the same month in 1909, the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company yesterday issued the following statement:

"There has been no change in the schedule of elevated trains or surface cars over the Brooklyn Bridge during the rush hours in the last year. The same number were operated during the morning and evening rush hours in July, 1909, and July, 1910. Whatever decrease there may have been in the schedule for either elevated or surface lines was in the non-rush hours, and during those hours the company provided every passenger with a seat.

"A part of the decrease in the elevated service, as noted in the report of the Department of Bridges, was due to several delays on the bridge, which prevented the regular and full operation of elevated trains until the tracks were cleared.

"The large increase in the number of surface cars and elevated trains across the Williamsburg Bridge in the last twelve months, as recorded in the report, shows that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit is meeting expanding traffic demands on that structure."

TO ARREST ARMENIAN PRIEST.

Father Martouguessian to be Tried Again After Sing Sing Term Expires.

Acting District Attorney Moss said yesterday that on Aug. 27, when Father Levont Martouguessian, the Armenian priest, is released from Sing Sing prison he will be rearrested on an indictment embodying a similar charge.

There are now three untried indictments against Martouguessian, one for blackmail and two for attempted robbery and extortion. He was sentenced to two years and a half on Feb. 27, 1908, for trying to extort $100,000 from a rug merchant named Karaghuesian.

Last March Assistant District Attorney Nott moved the discharge of Martouguessian on the three other indictments under the impression that the ex-priest had reformed. Prominent Armenians protested against the action, insisting that the man be tried on the additional indictments. Their representations were so strong that Mr. Nott withdrew his motion, and Judge Mulqueen issued a bench warrant, which will be served on Martouguessian's release.

The indictments concern the attempted collection of funds nominally for the cause of the Armenian terrorist society known as the "Hunchakists."

WANTS BLUE LAW ENFORCED.

Writes Gov. Fort Asking How He Can Go About Stopping Sunday Trains.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 17.—William Fitzgibbon, a Hunterdon County Justice of the Peace, has written Gov. Fort asking him how to proceed to force the Central Railroad of New Jersey from running its trains on Sunday against the sanctity of the Sabbath under the old blue laws.

He says he gave the conductors of the road copies of the complaint commanding them to desist running trains on the Sabbath, and that the men threw his complaint on the ground.

The Governor is away on a vacation, so the vexed question remains unanswered.

WOMAN WHIPS A NEGRO.

Lashes Him with a Blacksnake Whip When He Attacks Her.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Laura Elliott, the twenty-three-year-old wife of William Elliott of Elm Street, is lying ill at her home after whipping Benjamin Carter, a Bucks County (Penn.) negro, with a black snake whip for attacking her. He is under arrest.

The negro attacked Mrs. Elliott in her yard. She grabbed the whip and gave him a severe beating. He managed to fell her with a blow, but her screams brought assistance, and he ran away, to be arrested later.

YALE ROMANCE GETS INTO DIVORCE COURT

Mrs. Matson B. Hill, Who Was a Poor Factory Girl, Asks Alimony in Husband's Suit.

WEDDING KEPT A SECRET?

Hill, Son of a Chicago Stock Operator, Charges Wife with Misconduct, Which She Denies.

A Yale romance has struck the reefs, it became known yesterday, when Supreme Justice Paige heard argument on an application by counsel for Mrs. Matson B. Hill of New Haven, formerly of this city, for an order compelling her husband to pay her alimony and counsel fees pending his suit for divorce.

In the wife's affidavit Hill is represented as the son of Matson Hill, a wealthy real estate and stock operator of Chicago. He is a graduate of Yale, class of '06, and fell in love with his wife while a student at the university. She was then a poor girl, at work in the plant of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company. They were married in this city on July 6, 1906, a month after his graduation, and, according to her deposition, he kept the wedding a secret, and forced her to do so under threats to beat her and even to shoot her, until a few weeks ago when he began action for a divorce from her on alleged statutory grounds.

The suit for divorce brought by him was the act which sent the love affair to the rocks. Through his lawyer, Robert G. Perry, 60 Wall Street, also a Yale man, Hill names John Gammon, said to be a prominent business man of New Haven.

In her reply, in which she is represented by Slade & Slade, 200 Broadway, she denies all charges made by her husband and asserts that from the start she has been cruelly treated by Hill, and that this charge is framed up because he wishes to get rid of her to marry a wealthy girl of Pittsburg, whose name she does not state. But it is in her affidavit supporting her application for alimony and counsel fees that she tells the story of her matrimonial troubles. She said that before they married he represented himself as having a yearly income of about $5,200. Between $3,000 and $4,000, she says, came to him from investments in stocks, the balance, according to his statement, being made up in allowances from his father of from $50 to $75 a week. He told her, she deposes, that he owned $4,000 or $5,000 worth of stock in the Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago, and had large deposits in the Corn Exchange and other banks of Chicago.

They were married in this city, she says, on the date named by him, but at no time would he allow her to tell any one of the marriage. They lived for a while at 39 East Twenty-second Street, this city, and then at Jamaica, L. I. Finally, she says, he sent her back to her parents' home in New Haven to get her out of the jurisdiction of the New York courts. She declares that he has repeatedly told her he had money and could get a divorce and that as she had none she would be unable to oppose him successfully.

Hill is said to be living in Chicago now, and is in business with his father. The girl herself, her lawyers say, first acquainted Mr. Hill, senior, with the fact of the marriage. Justice Paige took the application for $50 a week alimony and $500 counsel fee under advisement.

FREE LUNCH VINDICATED.

Jury Says Payment of Penny at Bar Lifts Legal Ban in Ohio.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 17.—A jury of twelve good men and true came to the rescue of the Ohio free lunch brigade in police court here to-day. They held Patrick H. Gallagher, charged with breaking the Schaefer anti-free lunch law, enacted at the last session of the Legislature, not guilty.

Gallagher was arrested last May by policemen who found a lunch counter laden with appetizing eatables in full operation at the rear of his barroom. In court to-day Gallagher proved that in order to partake of the pickled pigs feet, roast beef, cheese, crackers, and pickles displayed on the counter customers were compelled to deposit a penny at the bar in return for which they were provided with ten tickets, each good for a lunch. The decision of the jury was that such lunches are not free.

Local saloon keepers are jubilant, saying that the verdict provides a way to get around the decision lately rendered by a local Judge that the Schaefer law is constitutional. A police Judge in Cincinnati has held the law unconstitutional.

ACCUSED HIMSELF OF CRIME.

Asked Policeman to Arrest Him for Passing a Worthless Check.

Saying that he had had nothing to eat in twenty-four hours, a well-dressed man with a pronounced English accent, walked up to Policeman Charles Fetscher in front of 241 Broadway last night and asked to be arrested. He was Walter W. Harries, a native of England, and a card which he handed the policeman showed that he was an "expert commercial tutor" and "university coach." The crime of which he accused himself was passing a check for $20 on the Underwood Typewriter Company—$15 of which was to apply on the purchase of a machine and the balance he received in cash.

After taking Harries to the office of the typewriter company the policeman arrested him, and he was locked up in the Greenwich Street Station. Harries stated that he had arrived in this country in April, and that up to two weeks ago he had worked as an instructor in Moon's school at 587 West 181st Street. Two weeks ago he had lost his position, and being without funds to pay room rent or buy food he had tricked the typewriter company. The passing of the check had weighed upon his conscience, and he had been unable to sleep for several nights.

MORE BROWNE JURY FIXING.

Fifty Men in Sixth Panel in Lorimer Bribery Case Admit Being Approached

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Despite disclosure of wholesale attempts to investigate veniremen in the case of Lee O'Neil Browne by agents acting for persons not named in court State Attorney Wayman declared to-night that the trial of Browne on the charge of bribery in connection with the election of Senator Lorimer would proceed in Chicago. Only yesterday Judge Kersten dismissed a panel of seventy-two jurors, declaring that nearly all of the men in the panel had been "approached" by persons interested in the verdict.

The sixth panel was called to-day. None passed the examination, and another panel was subpoenaed to report to-morrow.

When Judge Kersten asked those veniremen who had been spoken to about the case to come forward the request was not clearly understood, and only five men responded. His next request was more successful.

"Let those whose families have been visited by any one with reference to this case come to the bench."

Fifty of the panel of sixty-nine arose. J. Tutener, a member of the panel, said that his wife had been asked if he belonged to any reform or secret society. Walter E. Kline, another member, said his father had been asked similar questions by two investigators. Walter O. Klein said one man came to his home. Charles H. Peters declared that his mother had been called up by telephone, and that later two investigators had interviewed her.

The stories told in court by all of those who came forward were of the same tenor. As fast as they made their admissions they were dismissed from the venire.

Karl Byrnes, one of the eight jurors sworn in, was excused because of the death of his mother. Byrnes was allowed to visit her deathbed last night, and neither side objected to his withdrawal.

Judge Kersten called counsel for Browne into his chamber for consultation and announced in court that further investigation of the alleged attempts to influence veniremen was in the hands of the State Attorney. Mr. Wayman declared that he was trying to procure the names of the investigators and of their employers.

ALBANY GOES OVER 100,000.

Compelled to Hunt Up Negligent Citizens to Make 6,102 Gain.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The population of Albany, N. Y., is 100,253, an increase of 6,102, or 6.5 per cent., as compared with 94,151 in 1900.

The population of Indianapolis, Ind., is 223,650, an increase of 54,486, or 38.1 per cent., as compared with 169,164 in 1900.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 17.—Albany is happy because it has got over the 100,000 population mark, with 253 citizens to spare. When Census Supervisor William F. Kavanagh's enumerators finished their work the population footed up 98,637. He thereupon had the newspapers ask all persons who thought that they had not been enumerated to forward their names. This was done by 4,000 persons. The Washington office found that over a third of these were duplicates, but there were enough skipped persons to make up the 100,000.

Letter carriers and Councilmen will receive additional pay under the new record.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—With a new directory giving the names of 803,108 Chicagoans, its publishers have announced their belief that Chicago had 2,500,000 population. The publishers compared the 803,108 names they found in Chicago in 1910 with the total number of names they found in the city in 1900, and comparing the latter to the Census Bureau's finding of that year reached an average. From this they reached a conclusion that Chicago's population was at least 2,329,013, and, allowing for errors, was probably 2,500,000.

The Smiths no longer enjoy the distinction of being the most numerous in the directory. The Johnsons have 8,205 listed, to say nothing of 518 Johnstons. The Smiths are easily second, with 5,333 entries to their credit.

INDORSE LEWIS IN NEWARK.

Essex County Republicans Decide to Support His Gubernatorial Candidacy.

The Essex County Republican Committee met at Newark last night and indorsed the candidacy of Vivian M. Lewis for Governor. It decided to leave the selection of candidates for Assembly to the districts.

This action was construed as a means of getting rid of a controversy between Duane E. Minard, who is anxious to succeed himself in the Legislature, and his constituents in East Orange.

A resolution indorsing Lewis was introduced by Assemblyman Thomas Goldingay. It pledged the hearty support of the committee to the candidate. For Mayor of Newark the committee voted to support Edward E. Gnichtel, a former Fire Commissioner.

BOY KILLED BY A CAVE-IN.

Newark Lad Buried in a Sand Pit While Chasing Other Boys.

Ten-year-old Jerome B. Gartland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Gartland of 19 Avenue C, Newark, N. J., was killed yesterday under a cave-in of sand in a vacant lot in the rear of his parents' home. His body was dug out by an older brother.

Jerome left his home early in the afternoon to chase some boys who were creating a disturbance at the sand pit, and that was the last seen of him alive. From the appearance of the cave-in, it is believed the lad was at the top of the sand pit when the cave-in occurred, and was carried to his death as in an avalanche.

County Physician McKenzie, who visited the scene, declared he would call the attention of the county prosecutor to the absence of protection about the sand pit.

Judge Landis Accepts Explanation That He Did Not Destroy Records.

CHICAGO, Aug 17.—Alfred Urion, attorney for Armour & Co., having explained that he had nothing to do with the destruction of stenographic notebooks wanted by the Federal Grand Jury, was discharged from blame by Judge Landis to-day.

Arguments as to the alleged culpability of three other employes of Armour & Co. in the burning of the books will be heard later.

RISKS LIFE TO SAVE HIS AUTO.

Owner Cranks It and Backs It Away from in Front of an Express Train.

At the risk of his life, P. F. W. Lindner, a wealthy Summer resident of Lynbrook, L. I., yesterday saved his touring car from being smashed by a Long Island express train at Richmond Hill, Queens Borough.

Lindner passed through Richmond Hill on his way to Lynbrook while the streets were wet from the morning's rain. As he approached the railroad crossing at Jamaica and Lefferts Avenues the gates suddenly were lowered in front of him.

Lindner applied the brakes, but the heavy automobile skidded along the wet pavement, crashed through the gates, and stopped on the track. The express was only a few hundred feet away.

Springing out of his machine, Lindner cranked it. Then, with the express half a block away, he climbed back into his seat and backed his car off the track as the express whizzed by.

BUCKET SHOP MANAGER FREE

Court Suspends Sentence Because Altemus Aided the Government.

Edward Altemus, bucket shop manager, who, since the Federal officials started to prosecute the buckets, has imparted important information concerning the wealthy backers of the business, was called yesterday before Judge Carey in the County Court at Jersey City. The sentence of two years and $2,000 fine imposed several weeks ago was reconsidered and sentence was suspended.

Altemus was arrested for conducting the Standard Grain and Stock Company in Jersey City and tried before the Government officials began their raids. After sentence was imposed he appealed, and this was pending, but considering the service he had rendered the Government the court decided to reduce the penalty.
